Watergate witness makes public apology

Segretti bares 'dirty tricks'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Political saboteur Donald H. Segretti today listed for the Senate Watergate committee the tricks he pulled on Democrats last year and publicly apologized for his activities. They were "wrong and have no place in the American political system," Segretti said.

The California lawyer said he was recruited for his trickery by former White House aides Dwight L. Chapin and Gordon Strachan and paid a salary of $16,000 yearly and about $40,000 in expenses by Herbert W. Kalmbach, President Nixon's onetime personal lawyer.

Segretti testified that his activities during the 1972 Florida primary including distribution of a phony letter on campaign stationery of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie that accused two other Democratic presidential candidates of sexual misconduct.

He pleaded guilty in federal court Monday to three misdemeanor counts in connection with the political sabotage he undertook in the Florida primary.

Segretti said the letter on the stationery of the Maine senator was his own idea, not prompted by any other person. "It was not my desire to have anyone believe the letter, but, instead, it was intended to create confusion among the various candidates," Segretti said.

He said he wished "to apologize publicly for this stupid act."

Segretti said he recruited assistants around the country to picket various Democratic candidates, "recruit persons to ask hard questions at news conferences and to obtain the travel schedules of the various Democratic candidates."

He asked that the committee not compel him to name publicly all of the people he recruited. "Most of these persons are completely innocent of any wrongdoing," Segretti said.

Declaring that his activities "have been blown out of all proportion by the news media," Segretti said his pranks included:

—Sending a letter on Muskie stationary "alleging unauthorized use of government typewriters by his staff."

—Placing of stink bombs at a Muskie picnic and at Muskie headquarters in Florida.

—Placing classified ads asking Muskie if he would "accept a Jewish running mate," a reference to the senator's statement that a black vice presidential candidate should not be nominated by Democrats in 1972.

—Distribution of fliers inviting the public to a nonexistent open house at Muskie's Miami headquarters.

—Distribution of fliers in Milwaukee on April Fool's Day advertising "a free all-you-can-eat lunch with drinks at Hubert Humphrey's headquarters." The Minnesota senator was another candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Two of the men Segretti identified as helping him are Robert M. Benz and Douglas Kelly, who are scheduled to testify before the committee Thursday. Benz was a Florida Young Republican leader and was an unindicted co-conspirator in the federal government's case against Segretti.

At one point, Segretti said, he and Kelly arranged for a small plane to fly over the Democratic National Convention Center in Miami Beach with a trailer saying, "Peace, Pot, Promiscuity, Vote McGovern."

That Segretti said, was his last political activity of the 1972 campaign.

The opening of Segretti's testimony was delayed for a minute or so when a woman in the audience caused a disturbance. She was quiickly escorted out of the Senate hearing room by Capitol policemen.

Agnew fund-raiser talks to jury

BALTIMORE (AP) — One of Spiro T. Agnew's fund-raisers, a reluctant witness forced to testify under immunity, today goes back before the federal grand jury investigating the vice president.

William J. Muth, a former Democratic Baltimore city councilman now doing publicity for an engineering firm, declined to answer questions last Thursday when the 22-member jury started hearing evidence against Agnew.

"This whole damned thing is un-American," Muth told a newsman. He confirmed he was being recalled, had been ordered to bring in his personal records for 1960-72, and told that he must testify or face a jail term for contempt.

The jury is probing alleged political corruption in Maryland. The Agnew phase of the investigation centers on charges of bribery, extortion, conspiracy and tax violations while he was Baltimore County executive and governor during the 1960s.

Agnew has branded as "damned lies" allegations that he received kickbacks, sometimes in the guise of campaign contributions, from contractors doing business with the state.

The New York Times reported that lawyers for Agnew would meet in secret today with U.S. District Judge Walter E. Hoffman in an effort to set up an inquiry into leaks of information about the investigation.

The Times said Agnew's lawyers reportedly were prepared to seek Hoffman's permission to question witnesses under oath about leaks to the news media.

Muth reportedly is to be questioned about a $1,000-a-plate Agnew fund-raising dinner last fall which Muth helped to organize and publicize.

How many other witnesses there will be and their identity was unknown.

The panel, speeding up its work while Agnew's lawyers await an Oct. 12 court hearing on their move to halt the investigation, also is scheduled to meet Thursday.

The jury, probing alleged political corruption in Maryland, on Aug. 23 indicted Baltimore County Executive N. Dale Anderson, Agnew's Democratic successor in that office.

Meanwhile, Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., said he would press for House action on Agnew's request for a congressional investigation. Speaker Carl Albert rejected the request, at least for the present.

Findley said Tuesday that if the House Judiciary Committee fails to act within seven legislative days on his resolution for an inquiry he will seek to have the resolution referred to the full House.

More slayings in Virgin Islands

CHRISTIANSTED, V.I. (AP) — A black man from the British Caribbean island of Montserrat has been charged with the murder of two white American school teachers on the troubled island of St. Croix.

The young women and an islander who was shot in the back Monday night brought to 17 the total number of white persons slain on the Caribbean resort island in the past 13 months. Most of the murders are still unsolved.

The security guard was strengthened around the St. Croix beach hotel where U.S. lieutenant governors were opening their annual convention today.

James Kirnon, 20, was arrested for the killing of the two school teachers and charged in federal court with first degree murder. He was remanded to jail in lieu of $50,000 bail.

Police said the women were Betsy Reedy, 26, of Bethel, Conn., and Cheryl Barr, 22, a native of Boston from North Miami, Fla. They had been living on St. Croix about a year.

The two women were reported to have gone on a beach party Sunday. Their bodies were found Monday night 30 feet from their car on a beach about two miles from the hotel where the lieutenant governors are meeting.

The third victim, Henry Berry of St. Croix, was shot in front of a Christiansted bar.

Lt. Gov. Martin J. Schreiber of Wisconsin, chairman of the lieutenant governors' convention, said the murders "have cast a dark cloud over the conference." Local politicians had hoped the convention would offset some of the harmful publicity the island had received because of a recent wave of murders.

The plague of killings began when five black men invaded the Fountain Valley Country Club on Sept. 6, 1972, robbed it and sprayed the terrace restaurant with machine-gun fire, killing seven whites and a black employe of the club. Five islanders were sentenced to life imprisonment for the killings.

Senate OKs $1.2 billion foreign aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed the smallest foreign economic aid authorization bill in 27 years.

The $1.2-billion bill now goes to a conference with the House, which approved $1.6 billion for economic aid as part of a $2.8- billion military-economic aid package. The Senate last June passed a separate $770 million military aid bill.

Final passage of the economic aid bill, with emphasis shifted to meeting human needs in the world's poorest nations, came on a 54 to 42 roll call vote Tuesday night.

Voting for the bill were 28 Democrats and 26 Republicans; 26 Democrats and 16 Republicans voted against.

The Senate twice turned back efforts to make cuts in the interest of holding down on government spending without crippling domestic programs.

A $25-million cut in administrative funds, as proposed by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., was accepted by voice vote.

The bill would authorize $592 million for each of the fiscal years 1974 and 1975 to be divided among projects in food production, rural development, nutrition, population planning and health, education and human resource development.

It would authorize $376 million for economic assistance to South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, and $127.8 million for contributions to international organizations.

The Senate adopted amendments by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., specifying that priority in Indochina aid be given to relief for war orphans and other civilian casualties, and earmarking $10 million for relief work of the international Red Cross in Cambodia.

Adopted by voice vote was an amendment by Kennedy deploring repression of human rights and freedom by the military junta in Chile.

Fuel allocation decision rapped as 'not enough'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's decision to control the distribution of home heating oil has prompted questions about whether the action has come early enough and goes far enough to prevent shortages this winter.

Three Democratic congressmen answer no to both questions, but an administration consumer spokeswoman says yes.

The White House announced Tuesday immediate mandatory allocations on propane gas and said it would impose the controls on distillate oils within a few weeks.

The distillate oils include diesel fuel, jet fuel, kerosene and the home heating oil especially needed in the cold winters of New England and the upper Midwest.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., quickly sent a letter to the President charging that the administration's delay in applying mandatory allocation to home heating oil "has precipitated a crisis for the Northeast."

"What that means is that my constituents are going to go cold this winter," Kennedy wrote.

But Virginia H. Knauer, the President's special assistant for consumer affairs, disputed Kennedy's claim.

"The President's action is designed to ensure that those with the greatest energy needs are served first. This will not be a winter where American families are left out in the cold," she said.

Another Massachusetts Democrat, Rep. Torbert Macdonald, said the administration plan "offers a bandaid where major surgery is required."

Macdonald, chairman of a House power subcommittee, urged passage of legislation, already approved by the Senate, which would require the President to impose mandatory allocations on a broad range of petroleum products including gasoline.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Interior Committee, also urged a complete mandatory allocation program. He said the White House action was only "a piecemeal approach."

John A. Love, director of the President's Energy Policy Office, had held out against mandatory allocations throughout the summer, urging the oil industry to make a voluntary program work.

The Interior Department has estimated the nation may be short of at least 100,000 barrels per day of home heating oil this winter and bad weather or other adverse conditions could make that shortage worse.

Milk price hike felt by Ohioans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Farmers have boosted prices to milk wholesalers, and the price hike is showing up in dairy cases all over Ohio.

The increase by the Central Ohio Cooperative Milk Producers Association took effect Monday. The hundredweight price went up 60 cents to $9.21, an increase of about 5.2 cents per gallon.

Donald Zehr, an economist with the association, said the day of cheap milk may be gone forever.

He said farmers need higher prices for raw milk to cover steadily rising costs of equipment, services and feed.

A similar price hike was announced by Milk, Inc., a dairy farmers' group near Cleveland. The hike was passed along by wholesalers and retailers in northern Ohio as well.

Monday's prices for raw milk per hundredweight compared with $7.35 in February, Zehr said.

Cleveland-area stores reported half gallons of milk were selling in dairy cases for from 55 to 63 cents. Last year, the price was 45 cents.

Bowman Dairy of Columbus says the farmers' price hike was passed along as federal law permits. But a spokesman said the firm has had to absorb rising costs of packaging, labor and transportation.

Columbus Big Bear stores raised milk prices six cents on the shelves.

Big Bear's dairy buyer, William Receb, said passing along rising raw material costs doesn't alleviate the pinch other rising costs have put on profits.

He said the chain is petitioning the Cost of Living Council for relief.

Zehr said rising retail food costs are based on high demand, especially from foreign markets. But he says artificially low prices here also are to blame.

"We still pay only 16 to 18 per cent of our take-home pay for food. That's low compared to the rest of the world."

Zehr said consumers will have to pay enough to cover farmers' costs of production or watch production decline.

"The ultimate price (otherwise) will be fewer products to choose from in the dairy case," he said.

Bomb threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Watergate hearings were abruptly adjourned for two hours today to permit police to search the hearing room for a bomb.

Capitol police received a bomb scare call telling them that a bomb had been placed in the Caucus Room of one of the House office buildings. That room was searched, and no bomb was found.

The police, concerned that there might have been some misunderstanding, told Watergate committee chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., that they would like to search his room as well, the Caucus Room of the Old Senate Office Building.

Ervin conferred with other members of the committee while political saboteur Donald H. Segretti was testifying. As a live quorum call was announced on the Senate floor, Ervin announced an unexpected two-hour recess which he told reporters was "very much against my will."

The packed hearing room was cleared and a search was launched.

500 evacuated as poisonous gas leaks out

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP) — New Norway and Gwynne, two neighboring Alberta towns with a total population of about 500 people, were evacuated Tuesday because of poisonous hydrogen sulphide leaking from a ruptured natural gas pipeline, the Mounted Police reported.

The rupture occurred at a gas well near New Norway, but the cause was not known. Persons living on farms for 10 miles around the well also left their homes.

Police officers donned gas masks and respirators to enter the two towns and ensure that everyone had left. There was no indication when the residents could return.

Nixon backs Petersen

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon declared today he has never asked Vice President Spiro T. Agnew to resign and voiced strong support for an Agnew target, Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry Petersen.

Nixon replied "certainly not" when asked at a news conference if he had done any contingency planning on finding a possible Agnew successor.

Asked if he agreed with the vice president's assessment that he is a victim of Petersen's effort to recoup prestige lost in the Watergate prosecutions, Nixon said that Atty. Gen. Elliot Richardson has told him neither Petersen nor any of his aides had been the source of news leaks about the Agnew investigation.

"If I did not approve Mr. Petersen's handling of the investigation, he would be removed at this time," Nixon said.

Nixon, appearing relaxed and making occasional small jokes, again urged that all Americans assume the vice president is innocent unless proved otherwise.

Rural phase of Red Feather campaign opens this week

Larry Milstead, chairman of the rural drive in the 1974 Community Chest campaign, announced today that phase of the drive is being launched this week.

The business-industry drive opened Sept. 17 and the city residential effort will begin next week, according to Chest President Lee Lynch.

Lynch said the business-industry group campaign takes the longest to complete, thus the reason for the early start.

The 1974 goal has been set at $27,000 and President Lynch has expressed optimism at reaching that figure, but has stated the campaign is still too young to make any solid predictions.

The Chest's Board of Directors will meet at 8 a.m. Tuesday, Oct. 9, in the Chamber of Commerce office to review the campaign to date.

Ohio solons study 2 sets of campaign spending reforms

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two sets of campaign financing reforms go before a bipartisan legislative committee today in hopes an agreement can be readied for a special session of the legislature.

Gov. John J. Gilligan unveiled his long-awaited proposals Tuesday, and they were similar to those of a six-member subcommittee which concluded its deliberations last week.

Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, is chairman of the 14-member Legislative Service Commission committee named at Gilligan's request to try to come up with an agreed bill. It consists of seven Republicans and seven Democrats.

Aronoff named the subcommittee of three Democrats and three Republicans Sept. 28 after Gilligan set the special session for the week of Oct. 22 and listed campaign financing and election reform as top priorities.

The extraordinary session may consider only those things set forth in the governor's official proclamation for the special session. It is expected in a few days.

Gilligan's recommendations, speculated over since he announced the special session three weeks ago, place what he called "long needed controls" on campaign contributions and expenditures. He said Tuesday their enactment would be a "major step forward in the fight to restore the confidence of the people of this state in their public officials and candidates for public office."

Sen. Paul R. Matia, R-28 Westlake, chairman of the subcommittee, is submitting basically the same "principles" as those contained in the Gilligan bill but the senator said the subcommittee preposes legislation "much more comprehensive" than the governor's.

Both sets of proposals are about the same in restricting the amount candidates may spend for office, the amounts individuals and organizations may give to parties and candidates, and requiring that expenditures be authorized by a single committee or treasurer. There are key differences, however.

Matia's subcommittee proposed that contributions coming from an individual, organization, or association, and going to a political candidate may not exceed $3,000 in any election.

The Gilligan proposal would do the same thing, but provide that organizational and associations would be exempt from the $3,000 limit if the funds represent contributions from members contributing no more than $10 each.

Gilligan said the exemption is designed "to encourage small contributors to become involved in the election process." Matia said he saw the exemption as a "huge loophole" that "obviously is in there to take care of the governor."

The subcommittee would allow

Mass slaying arrests made

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Two men wanted in the January mass execution of seven Hanafi Moslems in a Washington, D.C., home are jailed in Jacksonville in lieu of $500,000 bond each.

The FBI announced that it had arrested John Wesley Griffin, 28, and William Christian, 29, in a Jacksonville apartment on Tuesday.

Along with five other persons, Griffin and Christian have been indicted on charges of murdering the seven Moslems, five of them children, in a Washington home owned by professional basketball star Kareem AbdulJabbar.

The FBI said Christian and Griffin, both formerly of Philadelphia, apparently had been living in Jacksonville since August. It said the men, both black, were in possession of a pistol when arrested, but did not offer resistance. They were arraigned before a U.S. magistrate.

The northwest Washington home in which the slayings occurred on Jan. 18 was used as a headquarters for the Hanafi Moslem sect.

Police described the slayings as an execution and members of the Hanafi sect, which claims 1,000 members, charged they were the work of Black Muslims angered over Hanafi criticism of Muslim leader Elijah Muhammed.

The seven Hanafi victims, all of them black, were found in mid-afternoon, and police said at least four black men were seen running from the residence, which is in a fashionable neighborhood.

Two women, including the daughter of Dr. Reginal Hawkins, a North Carolina civil rights leader, also were shot but survived.

Wayne Hidy elected Farm Bureau chief

Officers for the coming year were elected for the Fayette County Farm Bureau Tuesday as only one of the highlights of the annual meeting of the Board of Directors.

Wayne Hidy was named president to succeed Richard Davidson; Richard Carson, vice president, and Mrs. Allan Myers, secretary.

Top priority was given to Issue No. 1 during the business session. Issue No. 1, which will come up for a vote at the Nov. 6 election, provides for a revision of the state tax structure to assess farm land on the basis of its present use and not its potential value. So vital to the farmers is this issue considered that the board voted a contribution of $1,000 to the campaign to promote its passage.

The board also voted to back the Fayette County Health Department's .2-mill levy and the Miami Trace District junior high school improvement and building programs.

In other action the board heard a report on the Southwest Regional educational meeting at Heuston Woods Lodge near Oxford by Mr. and Mrs. Rudy LeBeau and on the checkoff for a soybean promotion program by Norman Scheiring. No action was taken on the soybean checkoff proposal.

IT WAS announced that the women's committee will meet Nov. 13 for luncheon in the Terrace Lounge to consider plans for the coming year.

New members of the board elected this year by the township Farm Bureaus include Martin Smith, Concord Twp.; Hugh Wilson, Green Twp.; James Paisley, Jasper Twp.; Richard Owens, Jefferson Twp.; and Ronald McCoy, Wayne Twp.

Other members of the board whose terms did not expire this year are Mrs. Robert Garland, Mrs. Dwight Duff and Mrs. Allan Myers, all elected at-large; Ron Burke, youth representative; and John Bernard, Union Twp., Robert Taylor, Paint Twp. and Malcolm Bloomer, Marion Twp. President Hidy also represents Madison Township, Vice President Carson, Perry Township, and Mrs. Myers, Concord Township.

Six committee chairmen were named and approved: Mr. and Mrs. Rudy LeBeau, young couples; Richard Davidson, public affairs; Norman Scheiring, marketing; Mrs. Wayne Hidy, women's committee; Mrs. Marion Waddle, public information; and Walter Garman, organizational director.

Roosevelt denies story

WASHINGTON (AP) — Elliott Roosevelt, son of former President Franklin D. Roosevelt, was expected to deny to a Senate panel today any role in an alleged plot to assassinate the prime minister of The Bahamas.

Convicted stock swindler Louis P. Mastriana, 51, told the government operations permanent investigations subcommittee two weeks ago that Roosevelt and Haitian casino operator Michael McLaney once offered him $100,000 to kill Prime Minister Lynden O. Pindling.

Roosevelt has called the accusation "an utter and complete fabrication." He returned from his Lisbon, Portugal, ranch to appear before the subcommittee.

McLaney also strongly denies the accusation.

Mastriana testified the offer was made in 1968 because the prime minister had failed to grant McLaney a gambling license after McLaney contributed nearly $1 million to Pindling's political cmpaign.

A cold front, which stretched across the Dakotas early today is forecast to push eastward over Lake Michigan by Thursday morning, bringing increasing cloudiness to the Buckeye State.

Showers are likely Thursday night and Friday as the front moves into the state.

A few light showers were reported over southeastern Ohio last night as the western edge of the showers which dampened the state for the past two days moved slowly to the east.

Elsewhere over the state clear to partly cloudy skies were reported overnight. Fog formed in some spots as the mercury fell into the 50s.

Temperatures will remain mild through Thursday with highs in the 70s and low 80s. Lower temperatures are forecast for Friday and the weekend as cooler, drier air spreads southeastward from Canada.

Storms rip Mississippi Valley area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms whipped by 80-mile-per-hour winds and laced with hail hit the middle Mississippi Valley early today.

The storms were triggered by moisture-laden air fanning northward from the Gulf of Mexico where a band of showers and thundershowers Wednesday damped areas from Texas to the Atlantic coastal plain.

Hailstones reached a diameter of two inches near Kirksville, Mo., about midnight and almost an inch of rain fell in one hour.

A few light showers sprinkled the northern Plains and light thundershowers dotted areas from the lower Great Lakes region to the Eastern Seaboard.

Temperatures dipped below freezing in the northern Rockies in contrast to Wednesday's record heat in Texas. The mercury hit 96 at El Paso, a record high for the month of October and two degrees above the old mark. A record 94 parched Amarillo, Tex.

Some snow was expected at higher elevations in the central Rockies.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 27 at Missoula, Mont. to 80 at Key West, Fla.

OFFENSES reported to police Tuesday were widely varied.

Dwight Aills, 814 Leesburg Ave., reported that a bicycle was stolen from his residence Sunday night.

Super Shoe Mart, 120 N. Fayette St., reported receiving a bad check. Efforts to contact the writer have failed.

Rose Bennington, Bloomingburg, advised police that someone ran a shopping cart into her car at the Washington Square parking lot, causing moderate damage.

Dianne Howland, 527 Third St., reported that someone broke into her home and took a figurine.

Mrs. Edward Hunt, 508 Rawlings St., advised police that a mink cape was missing from her residence.

organizations and associations to exceed the $3,000 limitation only if members were allowed to earmark their donation for a party or candidate of their choice. Gilligan would provide that the $10 contributions could be spent for the party or candidate of an organization's policy choice, said Robert Tenenbaum, Gilligan's press secretary.

Besides that difference, there were at least two other areas which Matia said Gilligan neglected. These would outlaw political kickbacks from auto license registrars and package store liquor operators and guard against public employe "slush" funds.

The senator said, however, that despite the differences he feels there is room for negotiations and that "there is a good chance for some very drastic reforms."

Gilligan might be expected to get about what he asks from the Democratic-controlled House, but doubtless will have to make some concessions in the Republican-controlled Senate.

Here are the similarities of the Gilligan and Matia proposals:

—Both would require a single committee to make expenditures, except Gilligan would further restrict it to a designated treasurer who would be personally liable for irregularities. Matia would restrict the receipt of contributions to the same committee. Gilligan would allow regional committees to receive funds only.

—Each candidate would have to appoint a campaign treasurer, except the governor's bill would allow a candidate who plans to spend less than $500 to name himself treasurer.

—Contributions by a candidate, any individual, or any organization to a candidate would be limited to $3,000 at any election. There would be no limit to contributions to a party under Matia's proposal. Gilligan would limit party contributions to $3,000 a calendar year.

—Campaign committees would be limited as follows:

For governor, the subcommittee would set the limit at 10 cents per Ohio resident for both the primary and general election, or about $2.2 million in 1974. Gilligan would permit spending of 10 cents for a general election, but only five cents for primaries for a total of $1.6 million.

For other state-wide offices, the subcommittee recommends 1½ cents per resident, or about $150,000 in each election with a $300,000 total. The governor recommends two cents a voter in each election for a $400,000 total.

Both the subcommittee and Gilligan arrived at comparable limits on candidates for district and local offices. An average candidate for state representative, for instance, would be allowed to spend a total of no more than about $16,000 in both elections. The subcommittee provided more detailed recommendations, with separate figures for candidates for the judiciary.

Candidates for the Ohio Supreme Court, who would come under those from statewide office in Gilligan's bill, could spend a total of $50,000 under the subcommittee proposal.

Otherwise, both provide for pre-election filing of expenses and contributions to disclose sources received late in the campaign.

Gilligan would require statements to be filed 40 days before, 10 days before, and 60 days after any election, with the same office at which a candidate filed his petitions.

The Matia group would require filing as of the close of business on the 15th day preceding an election, and 45 days after.

Stock list up again

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to climb today as investors took cheer in lower interest rates and some signs the 1974 economy might not be as sluggish as expected.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which reached its highest point in more than five months Tuesday, was up 3.46 to 968.26 at noon.

Advances held a 2 to 1 edge over declines in heavy trading on the New York Stock Exchange. The Big Board's composite index of 1,500 common stocks was ahead .02 to 58.77.

On the American Stock Exchange the market-value index had risen .59 to 107.21.

Goodyear Tire, the Big Board's most-active issue, fell ¾ to 23⅛ after disclosing that 1973 earnings would be lower than last year's. IBM, which is appealing a multimillion-dollar antitrust judgement against it, slid 5⅞ to 249⅝ after a 69,900-share block traded at 249½.

Poaching fish in dishwasher easy, Farmer's Almanac says

LEWISTON, Maine (AP) — Know how to poach a fish in your dishwasher?

Dot the fish with butter and sprinkle with parsley; wrap in heavy aluminum foil. Place the fish in the dishwasher and let it run through the whole cycle. The fish should be perfectly poached at the end of that time.

At least that's what it says in the 157th edition of the Farmer's Almanac, which is just off the presses.

"You have to make sure the washer maintains heat of 160- to-180 degrees," said almanac editor Ray Geiger. "The process works beautifully. I've tried it." The 1974 edition of the almanac contains other unusual tidbits of information, such as how to tell time on Mars and how to avoid being struck by lightning.

The Farmer's Almanac is sold to commercial concerns, which pass it on free to customers as advertising material.

Geiger, in his 40th year as editor, describes his almanac as "an antidote to pornography," and says his greatest contribution has been to put "a good, wholesome magazine" in millions of homes.

The conservatism of the almanac "is probably a little too much for the way most people live now, but it definitely has its place," said the 63-year-old Geiger. He said in his four decades of editing the almanac's circulation has climbed from 86,000 to 5 million.

Weatherwise, the latest edition of the 48-page booklet predicts a snowier, colder winter than last year. Besides the weather, recipes, jokes, household hints and farming data line the almanac's pages.

Another feature is a brief comment on the origin of kissing. The almanac says it derived from a craving for salt and the cave man found that he could get salt by licking his neighbor's cheek.

"He quickly found it more interesting if the neighbor was female," Geiger said. "Then everybody forgot about salt."

Gasoline dealer stages own protest against price boost

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP) — Bob Smith figured enough was enough. The bill handed him by the Atlantic Richfield Co. gasoline truck driver was $130.65 higher than the month before.

So while the huge rig was sending its 8,800 gallons of gas into Smith's underground tanks, the owner of Smith's Arco decided to demonstrate his displeasure.

He had three gas station employes move a junk car in behind the rig, take off the car's wheels and put it up on jack stands. Then Smith, a bearded, feisty fellow, drove his pickup truck in front of the rig, took out the spark plugs and drained the oil.

Smith, smiling all the while, told the truck driver, Lou Henry, that he had work to do on his pickup.

Henry telephoned his superiors Monday afternoon to tell them that Smith—the same guy who turned his gas station into a lemonade stand last month to protest high gas prices—was at it again.

Arco executives began showing up at Smith's place, but Bob kept on tinkering with his truck. Finally, Jacob F. Straub Jr., manager for distribution of Arco's Pacific Southwest area, drove down to Costa Mesa, a city 60 miles south of Los Angeles.

Smith offered Straub some fried chicken, but he didn't move his truck.

"Shut it (the truck) down," shouted Straub to Henry, who by this time was sitting in Smith's office, eating fried chicken and reading girlie magazines. "Lock it up," Straub said, pointing to the truck. "Let's go home for dinner."

After an hour of arguing without the police taking action—"he hasn't broken any law," said one officer—the five-hour long episode ended when Smith suddenly found the right spark plugs, poured oil back into his truck and told Straub he'd had enough.

"I think I got my point across," Smith said Tuesday.

"As far as I'm concerned, the so-called gas shortage is a farce by the major oil companies. There's plenty of gas to go around. Well, I was getting tired of paying higher and higher prices."

Drinking in the Army

The chief of the Army's alcohol and drug policy division has offered some shocking figures on drinking among officers and enlisted men. His figures also serve to remind us that, as in American society generally, alcohol abuse far outruns narcotics abuse as a problem to be dealt with.

The Army's drinking problem is even worse, proportionately, than that of society at large. Brig Gen. Leslie R. Forney Jr. has told a House Armed Services subcommittee that 20 per cent of the officers in a representative sampling of Army personnel were considered heavy, or "binge," drinkers. Another 16 per cent of the officers, he said, were put down as problem drinkers.

With regard to enlisted men the situation is almost unbelievably bad, according to the Army's alcohol and drug policy chief. Thirty-one per cent of those surveyed were placed in the heavy or binge drinker class; 39 per cent were classified as problem drinkers. That rounds out to 70 per cent.

Even when allowances are made for the fact that this was a random sampling, not a carefully weighed scientific study, the results come as a shock. The evidence of heavy drinking makes drug abuse appear to be a comparatively minor problem in the Army. This is not to say that the drug problem can be shrugged off; not a bit of it. But it seems clear that even more emphasis than at present should be given to curbing excessive use of alcohol. An institution in which such a high percentage of personnel drink too much has a serious problem.

Boorstin's underground history

For more than 15 years, Prof. Daniel J. Boorstin — who was most recently director of the National Museum of History and Technology of the Smithsonian Institution, and professor of history at the University of Chicago for 25 previous years — has been at work on his special vision of the development of American civilization.

The first two volumes: "The Americans — the Colonial Experience;" and "The Americans — the National Experience" (Random House) took Boorstin's story up to the 20th Century.

Now the final volume; "The Americans — the Democratic Experience;" is out, and predictable the center of controversy. It has been denounced as an annotated catalogue of the Museum of Science and Industry, and Boorstin has been criticized as an eccentric who simply doesn't know what history is all about.

AT FIRST READING, there is a certain persuasiveness about the critiques. What can one make of a volume about the "Democratic Experience" that never remotely touches on politics? If one confined his historical analysis of our social history to a reading of Boorstin, Thomas Alva Edison would loom over Franklin D. Rossevelt as a principal figure in the transformation of American society.

If there is any reference to ideological conflicts in this volume, I have missed it — and I am a very close reader. Does Boorstin really then believe that the "packaging revolution" in foodstuffs was more significant than the Fair Labor Standards Act?,

Simple-minded reviewers seemed to think so, but their problem is that they have never grasped Boorstin's overview, which is most cogently presented in his volume on "The Colonial Experience."

There is a fundamental theoretical posture: Boorstin is one of the most talented anti-intellectual intellectuals since St. Augustine. He considers ideology to be clap-trap, and is convinced that the strength of American society has precisely developed from the average American's total lack of interest in high theory.

Americans, he persistently emphasizes, are "Go Getters," people ready at the drop of a hat to chuck historical luggage overboard and start from square one.

Here a classic example was John Wesley Hyatt, who invented celluloid. "Since he was not a chemist (Boorstin writes), he did not realize that he might easily have blown himself up by heating guncotton under pressure, and he had not been discouraged by the earlier failures of English plastics chemists, because he did not even know of them."

PUT IN its proper conceptual context, what Boorstin has written is an underground history of American civilization. Never a man to hedge his bets, he has, with, one suspects, a certain perverse joy, ruthlessly put down the political process.

This at times leads him to fall out of the other side of the bed and sound like a technological determinist (like Karl Marx, who observed a demonstration of electricity in 1851 and wrote his friend Engels, "Electricity will give us socialism.").

But the fundamental thrust of his argument is clear: Americans achieved what they did by pragmatic techniques, not by cosmological insights.

Although I obviously disagree strongly with a number of Boorstin's premises, I have always found his work fascinating and some of his incidental insights — which are casually thrown off — positively stunning.

This series is not easy reading, but I strongly recommend it as an antidote to the works of others (including me) who tend to treat the development of American civilization as a process conducted almost exclusively in the political arena.

Besides, who knows? In the year 3000 Edison may in retrospect seem to have been a far greater figure than FDR.

Watergate and the pitiable Cubans

In spite of the fact that there was no solid justification, either moral or pragmatic, for the Watergate tapping expedition, E. Howard Hunt Jr. came out of the Ervin committee hearings with some shred of dignity. He thought he was going to find evidence of foreign, meaning Castroite Cuban, tampering with the U.S. electoral process, which establishes the patriotic character of his motivation.

The thinking behind this was, of course, more or less brainless: why would Democratic Committee boss Larry O'Brien, a real pro, leave identifiable Castroite checks in a Watergate cash box or permit any long-distance telephone conversations with Havana to be carried on over his wire?

The Hunt assumption of stupidity on the part of O'Brien's pros in the period before the McGovern takeover was itself stupid.

Nevertheless Hunt remains a pitiable figure: he thought he was doing something for the good of his country.

SINCE a romanticism based on ignorance is no excuse for lawbreaking, Hunt presumably deserves some sort of sentence. But what about Bernard L. Barker and the other Miami, Fla., residents with the anti-Castro Cuban connections who had been recruited by Hunt for the Watergate break-in? They are even more pitiable than Hunt, who allowed them to believe they were doing a legally sanctioned job for the U.S. Hunt himself apparently believed that the operation was "plugged in" to the FBI through G. Gordon Liddy, a former FBI agent.

The reason for Barker's participation in the Watergate fiasco comes clear in Hunt's new book, "Give Us This Day," which is hot off the press at Arlington House Publishers in New Rochelle, N.Y. Hunt was sent to the Miami area to maintain a CIA connection with the anti-Castro political community while the Bay of Pigs expedition was shaping up at a coffee finca, or plantation, in the mountains of Guatemala.

In a remarkable article in National Review, Miles Copeland, a former CIA man, says that Hunt was never a real CIA agent. According to Copeland, Hunt was just a "desk man whose operational experience consisted of kibitzing, from an administrative standpoint, some of the operations into Cuba." Hunt doesn't tell it this way himself, but this is neither here nor there insofar as Bernard Barker is concerned.

Barker was Hunt's assistant in handling the anti-Castro Cubans in Miami. An Air Force veteran of World War II, he had survived a German prison camp and had returned to Havana after 1945 with his Cuban wife. The CIA persuaded him to join the Havana police force in order to keep track of Cuban antisubversive activities. He thereby lost his U.S. citizenship, but he did yeoman work for the cause of freedom by exfiltrating refugees from the Castro tyranny.

NATURALLY BARKER was gun-ho about the Eisenhower decision to help the anti-Castro exiles capture a beachhead and raise Cuba against the Communists. He loyally served Hunt and the CIA in Miami. "Many days," so Hunts writes, "he was with me around the clock, and overall his help was invaluable."

Being the loyal man he was, loyal to the anti-Castro cause, loyal to U.S. interests as he saw them, and loyal to Hunt as a friend, Barker was easily recruited for Watergate. He conveyed his enthusiasm to the Miami Cubans who agreed to help. They all thought the U.S., by assuming the duty of exposing Castroite interference in the 1972 election, was about to pay an overdue installment on the debt owed the veterans of the Bay of Pigs expedition for exposing them on the beach by cancellation of a supporting air strike.

Hunt's story of his personal involvement in the Bay of Pigs expedition is fascinating. Whether it is an over-romanticized version is a question that won't be rosolved until ex-CIA man Richard Bissell writes his memoirs. But it does establish one thing: if Barker and the Cubans are socked with cruel and unusual punishment for their role in Watergate it will set the seal on Uncle Sam's unlovely reputation for doing in his friends.

Female driver old enough

MONROE, Ind. (AP) — A young-looking female driver escaped a traffic ticket near here recently without saying too much, State Police Trooper Ronald Goff reports.

Goff said he stopped a car on Interstate 65 that appeared to be driven by a small girl.

He said he approached the car and asked to see her driver's license, explaining that she was stopped because she didn't look old enough to drive a car.

The woman unzipped the front of her outfit, Goff noted, threw back her shoulders and demanded, "Does that look like I'm old enough?"

The evidence was solidly in her favor, Goff said.

Hal Boyle . . . Remarks for auto salesmen

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a used car salesman gets tired of hearing:

"Just tell me one thing, Jake. If I buy it, will you guarantee it'll get me as far as the first stop light?"

"I know you told me you got it from a little old lady who only drove it to church on Sundays, Jake, but how many telephone poles did she hit on the way?"

"I've looked over all the cars on this lot. Did you fix them up for sale — or for burial?"

"Do you give green stamps?"

"It doesn't have to be anything special. I'm giving it to my brother-in-law as a present in return for his promise to leave town."

"I'm just a little old lady who wants a car only so I can drive to and from the place where I cash my welfare check. Do you have anything fire-red in a sports model?"

"Will there be any extra charge if I ask for hub caps on it?"

"I don't like to complain, Jake. But when your mechanic put together that last car you sold me, he must have run a little short of bailing wire."

"Are you sure this car is in perfect running condition? If it is, then why did a back tire fall off when I kicked one of the front tires?"

"After a test drive of this car, Jake, I'm sure it won't do. When I drove by a junkyard, it stopped automatically — as if it had been there before."

"If you bought this car from a little old lady, Jake, she must have been a little bit lit every time she got behind the wheel."

"Yeah, Jake has been known to return money to a dissatisfied customer, but only up to a point — gunpoint."

"I haven't seen a rumble seat in 30 years, even in a used car, Jake. Why don't you try to sell this model to a museum?"

"Jake says he stands behind every car he sells — but that's because he doesn't trust their brakes."

"I notice this wire wheels, Jake. Is that something new?"

"I'm 17 and just got my driver's license. My Dad says if I want a car, I'll have to buy it myself. Do you have anything I could get for $10 down and $2.50 a month the rest of my life?"

"I can't pay you $2,500 for that used limousine, but will you rent it to me for this afternoon? I want to drive it to a funeral and impress my wife's relatives."

"Yes, it's true that Jake got that car from a little old lady who only drove it to church But the little old lady is Jake's mother, and Jake's own son used to borrow it from her and go joyriding in it every night of the week."

"Jake buys a new car every year for his own use and trades the old one in to another dealer who pays him more for it than Jake would give himself."

"No, I never said you weren't a reliable dealer, Jake. All I said was that I never heard of anybody in the White House ever buying a used car from you by mail."

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Reader wants to know why people smoke

DEAR ABBY: My wife said she saw a grown woman walking down the street with a pacifier in her mouth! I said she must have been trying to quit smoking, otherwise she'd feel too silly to go out in public that way.

My wife and I were both heavy smokers, but we recently gave it up because we wanted to experience the joy of breathing through clean lungs again and rediscover our senses of taste and smell.

I said I could understand that woman's walking around with a pacifier in her mouth. She was replacing one bad habit with one that was less damaging.

Abby, why do you think people smoke? Is it a nervous habit? Is it an infantile compulsion to have something in their mouths to comfort them? Or is it simply an unconscious death wish?

QUIT IN CLARKSBURG

DEAR QUIT: Most young people begin to smoke because they think it makes them look "grown up" or smart, or to emulate someone they admire. Some smoke to keep another smoker company. They continue to smoke because they "enjoy" the feeling of relaxation it gives them (at first) and many say it keeps their weight down. Then they become addicted. (Nicotine is habit-forming, and don't let anyone tell you it isn't.) The "unconscious-death-wish theory" is also valid. Anyone who persists in doing that which he knows could be his undoing is unconsciously hastening his end.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are both retired We've been married for three years. It's his second marriage, and mine, too. He is good to me in every way. We enjoy having company, but my friends are not used to swearing, and neither am I.

If someone says: "Isn't it a lovely day?" he says: "You're g-d right it is!"

He greets people with, "Well, I'm a s.o.b., if it isn't George!"

Abby, I deplore that kind of language, and I've told him about it, but to no avail. I don't want to nag him because it wouldn't do any good, and would only make him irritable. I am so embarrassed before my friends.

He reads your column. Maybe you can say something to make him more careful. If it weren't for this one fault, he would be perfect. And I do adore him.

ASHAMED

DEAR ASHAMED: My advice to you is gently to tell this otherwise perfect man to watch his language. Nobody's perfect, and much as I dislike cursing, there are worse faults.

DEAR ABBY: After 23 years, my wife and I agreed to a friendly divorce.

I have long owned a choice corner lot which is convenient to my work. It happens to be right next door to a long-time friend of my ex-wife.

I am planning to build a home there, but I have run into a slight problem. Rumors are circulating through my soon to be a new neighborhood about the "wild parties" I'll be having, etc., so I have made some minor changes in my house, eliminating ALL windows on the side of the house facing the neighbors.

Do you think I'm making a mistake?

PERPLEXED IN OHIO

DEAR PERPLEXED: Possibly. Eliminating the windows might create the impression that you've something to hide. Also, on the practical side, consider what it might do to the resale value.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC's latest contributions to television law and order, "The Magician" and "Police Story," got underway last night. The first was a bad fantasy in need of a magic wand the size of a baseball bat.

But "Police Story," created by Sgt. Joseph Wambaugh of the Los Angeles Police Department, was an entirely different matter. It was that rarest of all television birds—a good, solid cop show.

I don't know if it's because Wambaugh is story consultant on the series, but the show omitted two things that are standard gear on most police shows—frequent gunfire and 90-mile-an-hour chase scenes.

If this keeps up, other television writers may accuse Wambaugh of pandering to crass realism.

The opening "Police Story" rolled out a crisp, few-punches-pulled yarn about a black pimp named Snake McKay and his profitable stable of prostitutes in Los Angeles.

James Farentino starred—the series has no regular cast—as an undercover cop assigned to get the goods on Snake, played to oily, double-crossing, jive-talking perfection by Fred Williamson.

In the show, Farentino poses as a pimp who needs six beauties from McKay's stable for a deal in Hawaii and Japan. And he meets Snake's top aide and house madam, portrayed by Elizabeth Ashley.

He gives her a big, con-artist rush, only to find himself attracted to her and she to him. Which makes it a bit sticky, since his off-duty hours are spent with a divorcee (Janet Margolin) who wants marriage.

This also could have proved a bit sticky in the dialogue department, but the scenes worked reasonably well—each a nicely etched, bittersweet vignette about the emotional conflicts of being a cop.

It was a well-acted, fast-moving show and seems off to a fine start. The exact opposite is true of "The Magician," which preceded "Police Story" and wasted the talents of Bill Bixby, cast as a prestidigator who hates injustice.

He should have thrown a rabbit at the author of last night's mess, which concerned a crusading columnist's attempt to expose the gambling operation of a crime syndicate in California.

The show also introduced three regulars. They were (a) the crusading columnist; (b) the columnist's crippled son, who is confined to a wheel chair; and (c) the pilot of the magician's Boeing 707 jetliner, which transports the magician around and about.

The names of these regulars are being withheld to protect the innocent, which is them.

Couple take vows

MR. AND MRS. H. MARK JORDAN

Miss Mariann Schwaigert and H. Mark Jordan were united in marriage in St. Andrew's Episcopal Church. Miss Schwaigert is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Schwaigert of near Washington C.H., and Mr. and Mrs. Bart Jordan of Mt. Gilead are the parents of the groom.

Preceding the wedding ceremony, Mrs. John P. Case, organist, and Mrs. Roger Craven of Mt. Gilead, vocalist and sister of the groom, presented a half-hour of nuptial music.

Dr. Leroy Davis performed the double ring candlelight ceremony and Holy Communion service Sept. 8 before the altar which was centered with a sun-burst arrangement of rose, orchid and lavender gladiolas, asters, daisies, statice and carnations. The altar was graced by a pair of seven-branched candelabra, trimmed with emerald fern and centered with white satin bows. The aisles were flanked with candelabra trimmed with white satin bows and leather leaf fern.

Geven in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a white formal length gown of Mandel lace with white satin woven ribbon over white delustered bridal satin. The bodice was accented by a bias bound low neckline and a sheer lace ruffle. The skirt fell from a fitted midriff ending in a sheer lace ruffle. The long set-in sleeves were gathered to deep buttoned cuffs enhanced by tiny pearl buttons. Her veil was a delicately flocked chapel-length Mexican lace mantilla, a gift from Mrs. Heber Roe and Mrs. Gordon Brown, aunt and cousin of the bride, both of San Antonio, Tex. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearsl. She carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias and butterfly white roses with English ivy showers on her prayerbook.

The Misses Peggy and Polly Wood were the maids of honor. Mrs. Mike Flynn was the bride's matron of honor; Miss Beth Pieratt, cousin of the bride of Burbank, Calif., was the bridesmaid. The attendants wore gowns fashioned like that of the bride except in colors of pink, blue, light green and lavender respectively. Their jewelry was a silver and pearl wedding bell pendant, a gift from the bride. Each carried a wicker garden basket of yellow and blue and pink Marguerite daisies, pink miniature carnations, purple statice and babies' breath tied with rainbow satin showers. They also wore matching headpieces.

Paul Jordan, brother of the groom from Huntington, W. Va., served as best man. The groomsmen were Dan Jordan, of Downers Grovce, Ill., brother of the groom, Brant Jordan, of Mt. Gilead, cousin of the groom, and David Forsthoffer of Columbus. Randy Knox was an usher.

During the Recessional, the bride and groom presented each of their mothers with a white rose.

The bride's mother chose a formal length long sleeved gown of turquoise crepe accented by a white lace collar continuing into a lace inset panel down the front of the gown and lace trimmed cuffs, with crystal accessories. She wore a corsage of white gardenias. The groom's mother wore a formal length long sleeved gown of pink chiffon trimmed with rhinestones and silver accessories. She wore a purple-throated white cattleya orchid.

Mrs. Walter S. Fults, a close friend of the bride's family, was attired in a formal length gown of dark turquoise crepe with matching accessories. Mrs. Andrew Loudner, aunt of the bride, wore a lime-green knit dress and jacket ensemble. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

A reception was held in Parish Hall following the ceremony. The bride's table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake decorated in colors worn by the attendants. A colonial nosegay of mixed garden flowers topped the bridal cake encircled with green leather fern and flanked by crystal bud vases with bridal pink roses and babies' breath, and crystal double candelabra with white tapers. A crystal punch bowl completed the setting.

Hostesses for the reception were Mrs. James Wilson, aunt of the bride, and the Misses Carol and Karen Schwaigert, twin cousins of the bride, all of Columbus; Mrs. Paul M. Pieratt, aunt of the bride, Burbank, Calif.; Miss Mindy Mace of Bloomingburg; Miss Donna Athey and Miss Teresa Persinger of Milledgeville; and Miss Janelle Donohue. Miss Diane Morrow of New Holland, presided at the guest book.

Mr. and Mrs. Bart Jordan, parents of the groom, entertained the bridal party at a rehearsal dinner at the Terrace Lounge the evening preceding the wedding.

The new Mrs. Jordan, a graduate of Miami Trace High School, attended Ohio State and Kent State Universities. She is employed at Lazarus in Columbus, and will continue her studies at OSU.

Her husband, a graduate of Mt. Gilead High School, and a student at OSU is employed by United Parcel Service.

They are residing in Columbus.

DAR, D of 1812 hold joint luncheon at Wardells

The Daughters of the American Revolution were joined by the Daughters of 1812 for a noon luncheon at Wardell's Party Home, near Circleville, Monday.

Following the luncheon, Mrs. Dean Powell, chapter regent, called the business to order. Prayer and devotions were given by the acting chaplain, Mrs. Mable Briggs. Mrs. Marcus Prosch led the Pledge of Allegiance and the reading of the Star Spangled Banner. Mrs. Charles Ellis read the President's General Message and Mrs. Willard Bitzer the State Regent's Message.

Mrs. John Sagar, National Defense chairman, introduced Mrs. Merritt S. Huber, State Vice Regent as guest speaker. Her topic was "Our Beloved United States - Defend Our Great Nation."

Mrs. Huber stated that all should follow the American's Creed in defending this country, and to think what is good about America. One should have a positive attitude instead of a negative one, and with the same Constitution adopted in 1787, one has a great deal of which to be proud. Examples set by adults each day plays a part in the shaping of attitudes of others in the community. Speeding, littering and carelessness in dress, disregard for others rights, unkindness to elderly people, all contribute to the lower standards of citizenship. In a community where people care about each other, there is found a high regard for the duties to their country, she said.

Mrs. Huber told of various activities planned in parts of the United States in 1976 for the 200th anniversary of this nation. This will be a time for regeneration or pride in individual codes, a soaring of American spirit and celebration, she said.

Guests present besides Mrs. Huber of Bellsville, were Mrs. H.H. Haworth of Wilmington, state librarian; Mrs. William K. Kramer, of Chillicothe, state parliamentarian; Mrs. Marie Mace, Mrs. Richard Orr, Mrs. Ray Smiley, Dayton; Mrs. Daisy Gillespie of New Holland; Mrs. L.M. Hayes, Mrs. Helen Kellenberger, Mrs. John Case, Miss Jean McCoy, Mrs. William Limes and Mrs. Bales of Circleville.

Hostesses for the day were Mrs. Harold Slagle, Mrs. Worley Melvin, Mrs. J. Earl McLean, Mrs. Marcis Prosch, Mrs. Vinton Smith, Mrs. J. Earl Giddings, Mrs. Henry Engle, Mrs. Deane Powell, Mrs. Loren Hynes, Mrs. Byron Hinton and Mrs. Glenn McCoy.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Willard Bitzer, Nov. 5. Members are asked to bring clothing for the mountain schools, and dues are payable.

Shultz policy a real mess, Galbraith says

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Based on his performance in dealing with inflation, said Prof. Kenneth Galbraith, a just reward for Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz would be a quick return to the University of Chicago as an assistant professor.

"Let him begin all over again," said Galbraith, the irreverent Harvard economist, of Shultz, the former Chicago economist and business school dean who now heads economic policy for the Nixon administration.

"Anyone who makes a mess of economic policy should be relieved and marked down as a failure," said Galbraith, a Democrat. He also nominated for retirement the chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, Herbert Stein.

The professor, who more than coincidentally is promoting his 17th book, "Economics & the Public Purpose," branded present economic policy as "the most inept since Herbert Hoover," and Shultz's impact as "zero."

"I think economists should be held responsible for their actions," he said, reminding a small group at an author's reception that when prices rose in World War II the public held the Office of Price Administration responsible.

Galbraith said current economic policy, which leans heavily on interest rates as a means of suppressing inflationary spending, involves a fraud.

"We do have controls," he conceded, "but they're administered by people who don't believe in them. It's like putting a prostitute in charge of the vice squad."

Taxation was considered politically unpopular, he said, partly because "increased taxes have to hit the higher spending brackets." And fiscal restraint as a means of controlling inflation, he said, is usually compromised by other considerations, such as defense.

"So this means they're conducting economic policy only on interest rates, running the economy on no controls other than those available to Herbert Hoover and saying that we have controls. This is where the fraud comes in."

Higher interest rates, he said, are discriminatory because the poor are borrowers and the rich lenders, and are uncertain in their impact.

A fundamental defect in the Shultz and Stein approach, he said, is that they base policy on their own optimistic forecasts.

In directing policy, he maintained, you cannot act on the basis of what you hope or expect but instead you should deal with realities, changing policy when the realities change.

Although he never had the opportunity to administer economic policy, even though he has served in several government positions and was influential in the Kennedy administration, Galbraith said he knows precisely what he would do if he were in charge now.

His basic program would consist of a tax increase on upper incomes, a stiff monetary policy and controls, with some form of aid to the jobless in the weakest areas of the economy.

Chief California muckraker arrested for 257th time

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — When self-proclaimed "muckraker-in-chief" Robert H. Simpson heard a repeal of the so-called Simpson law had been vetoed, he hurried to the Capitol and to his 257th arrest for picketing.

"I'm happy, happy, happy that he vetoed the bill," the 93-year-old Simpson said as he was led to a state police car Monday.

"Now I'll make them arrest me every damn day—twice a day, three times a day."

The "Simpson law" bans picketing inside the Capitol, and Simpson has been arrested consistently for violations of the law.

But he has been convicted only once and that's being appealed. He never has served time in jail.

California Gov. Ronald Reagan vetoed a bill which would have repealed the law, which was passed four years ago after a series of demonstrations in which crowds filled corridors and offices. Law enforcement officers say the law is needed because some picketers carry signposts that can be used as weapons.

Simpson uses only short strips of lath and cardboard.

"I will destroy Reagan," said the placards around his neck and tied to his chrome wheelchair and walking aid.

British-born Simpson, whose first picketing arrest was in front of the House of Commons in 1902, almost never mentions the origin of his present campaign. That was to protest a six-month internment in a mental hospital before he was found sane.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

THURSDAY, OCT. 4

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Favorable influences stimulate your astuteness and your ability to "hold things together" — even groups of people. Be sure you are motivated by good intent.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Do not make changes arbitrarily, but do make them where they will bring improvement. You may have to make some detours, but the goals are still straight ahead.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Curb tendencies toward indecisiveness, lack of resolution. Even if situations are difficult, face them, pitch in — and solve!

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Especially favored now: lawyers, chemists, teachers, students. For all: a good time for a bit of daring— but with restraint.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Your best assets are your dynamic personality and your gift of salesmanship. Both should make this a fine day for you — IF you use them smartly.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Heed good suggestions, weigh all offerings; know when to accept and when to reject. Avoid extremes of any sort.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Be your inherently discriminating self now. It will be important to distinguish carefully between facts and theories; also between facts and rumors.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Day starts out brightly, and you can keep it that way, if you will. Just be careful not to let irresponsible persons lead you into unproductive activites.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

You could be tempted to turn from a profitable to an obstacle-ridden course. Avoid, by considering the whole picture — especially where the future is concerned.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Talk controversial issues over in a business-like, objective fashion, not permitting personalities to enter the fray. Pay no attention to those who have proved unreliable in the past.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Calmness and deliberation will keep you from making foolish moves, unwise decisions. Varied opinions on the same subject indicate a need for more study, investigation of facts.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Don't neglect responsibilities in favor of pastimes. Your innate good judgment should make this admonition almost unnecessary, but there are tendencies toward recklessness now.

YOU BORN TODAY are highly versatile, mentally active and exceptionally creative in all that you undertake. You are reserved, dignified and unusually intuitive. In fact, this intuition often becomes accurate foresight and tells you when to take important steps and this, combined with your forthright manner and objective thinking, can lead to tremendous success and contentment. Fields in which you could achieve notably: the law, statesmanship, music, literature, education, the theater. No matter what career you choose, however, you always give an artistic touch to the commonplace.

Neither sultan nor crazy; just putting on an act

KIRIKHAN, Southern Turkey (AP) — Judges in a courtroom in this provincial Turkish town looked at each other with some amazement when a man they had just convicted of assault leapt from the dock shouting, "I'm the Sultan, you have no right to convict me."

The last Sultan of Turkey was deposed 50 years ago.

The judges added a new conviction for contempt, saying Sevket Koldas had "tried to create the impression he was insane, thereby attempting to deceive the court."

Modern farm costs $710,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Want to have a fully mechanized farm big enough to use all your talents and time? Be prepared to spend up to $710,000, says the Agriculture Department.

That is how much USDA says it would take to buy and equip an 800-acre corn-soybean farm in Indiana, including $480,000 for the land and $130,000 for other capital.

The figures are included in a new report called "The One Man Farm" published by the Economic Research Service. Various types of operations called "technically optimum" in size are described.

Some other examples include:

—Montana, wheat and barley farm, 1,960 acres, land value $245,000 and other capital $57,000;

—Kansas, wheat and grain sorghum, 1,950 acres, $200,000 in land and $55,000 in other capital;

—Louisiana, rice and soybeans, 360 acres, land value $108,000 and other capital $50,000;

—Mississippi delta area, cotton and soybeans, 600 acres, $255,000 in land value and other capital $80,000;

—California, irrigated cotton, 400 acres, land value $320,000 and other capital $64,000; and

—California, vegetables, 200 acres, land value $400,000 and other capital $85,000.

The report was aimed only at crop-producing farms and did not attempt to analyze livestock operations. For example, the report said, a 300-cow beef herd might requires 150 acres of irrigated pasture. If unirrigated pasture were used, the land requirements would be 900 to 1,500 acres in arcas of high normal rainfall; 4,500 to 6,000 acres in dryland farming regions; and 27,000 to 36,000 acres in Southwest desert areas.

The author of the report was Warren R. Bailey, deputy director of the Commodity Economis Division of ERS. He explained the study this way:

"The optimum one-man farm represents the maximum acreage of a specified combination of crops that the man and his machines can produce — plant, cultivate and harvest — annually."

Red China ends U. N. truce with blast at U. S., Russia

UNITED NATONS, N.Y. (AP) — China has ended an undeclared big power truce at the United Nations with charges that U.S.-Soviet detente is a coverup for a "desperate struggle for nuclear superiority and world domination."

Rivalry between Moscow and Washington "now extends all over the world ... Their scramble is becoming increasingly fierce ... There is no tranquility in the world today ... only a travesty of peaceful coexistence," Chinese Deputy Foreign Minister Chiao Kuanhua told the General Assembly Tuesday.

The No. 2 man in the Soviet delegation, Vasily Safronchuk, took the floor to accuse Chiao of "turning facts upside down." By criticizing East-West relaxation, Safronchuk said the Chinese representative had tried "to divert the United Nations from a businesslike discussion of concrete problems and to hinder its work" without presenting any program of his own.

If Moscow is so anxious to relax world tension, Chiao said, "why don't you show your good faith by withdrawing your armed forces from Czechoslovakia or Mongolia" or by returning the four islands taken from Japan at the end of World War II.

Shifting his attack to the United States, Chiao said the Vietnamese people had achieved "a great victory against U.S. aggression," and this "once again proved that imperialism and all reactionaries are paper tigers."

Murder probe grows wider

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An AWOL soldier, already charged with murder by Virginia authorities, faces an additional murder charge in Pennsylvania, Lawrence County officials say.

Asst. Dst. Atty. Paul Johnson said Tuesday that a murder charge would be filed against Jack Paul Reali, 25, a Vietnam veteran. Police here say has told them of his involvement in six killings in Virginia and Ohio.

Johnson said Reali would be charged with the death of Michael Oley, 45, of Struthers, Ohio, whose nude body was found in a quarry near Hillsville, Lawrence County.

Police said they also suspect Reali in the slaying of another Struthers man, John Conner, 64, who was found clad only in a sweatshirt in Mahoning Township last March.

An investigation to determine in which state Conner was killed is continuing, New Castle state police said.

Reali, who sometimes spells his name Reale, was arrested in suburban Natrona Heights Sept. 23 after he tried to commandeer an auto. He has been AWOL from Monroe, Va., since last Tuesday, officials said.

Allegheny County detectives said Reali told them of his involvement in six murders while they were questioning him last weekend.

The information led Hampton, Va., authorities to charge Reali Monday with the strangulation death of George Nicholson, 70.

Investigation is continuing into Reali's information concerning three other deaths in Virginia, police said. He is lodged in Allegheny County Jail and is awaiting extradition to Virginia.

Lions Club bulb sale adds $1,000 to welfare fund

The Washington C.H. Lions Club cleared approximately $1,000 on its house-to-house light bulb sale Sept. 18, Wiley Witherspoon, the sale chairman, reported at a meeting Tuesday night.

The Lions sell light bulbs and brooms in alternate years as one of their major money-making projects; others are the annual variety show and the sale of race programs at the Fair.

Proceeds from the light bulb sale, like those from the other projects, go to support the club's sight-saving and community betterment programs.

At the business session, conducted by President David Looker following dinner in the Country Club, 35 members were presented pins for perfect attendance at meetings during the past year.

After adjournment, a National Football League film, showing some of the spectacular pass catches in professional football games, was shown. The program was arranged by Ralph Cook, committee chairman.

EPA program moving ahead

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The head of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency says the government anti-pollution program is "moving ahead vigorously with a funding program of unprecedented scope...consistent with the overall budget."

EPA Administrator Russell E. Train defended the administration's water pollution control policies in a speech Tuesday before a session of the Water Pollution Control Federation.

He said although "we are not spending at levels authorized by Congress, we have accelerated spending at a rapid rate."

Federal spending for water treatment facilities is "15 times higher this year than four years ago," he said.

Congress has authorized expenditure of $11 billion in fiscal 1973 and 1974 under the Water Pollution Control Act. However, President Nixon has allocated only $5 billion for that period.

Train defended the goal of zero discharge by 1985, saying "Congress has reached the conclusion that the country should move toward the no-discharge goal I support that."

He said there are many things that can be done to reduce or eliminate waste water discharges other than burning or disposing of material on land. His suggestions included recycling, making changes in industrial processes and building self-contained water systems.

Train said Great Lakes states continue to be high priority for federal funding and will get 20 to 25 per cent of funds available for sewage treatment facilities. He said the area will get $275 million in fiscal 1973 and $600 million in 1974.

Back propane allocation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio Department of Agriculture Director Gene Abercrombie said the Nixon administration's "mandatory allocation" of propane gas is "probably very fair."

"The only problem that I can see is if we should have a winter like we had last winter where we had only so many harvesting days and we had a peak usage of propane gas, this could give us a real problem," Abercrombie said.

"I would feel easier if it had been done right after we experienced the horrendous experience we had last January and couldn't get enough gas into the state to dry our crops when we only had about a ten-day harvesting season," he said.

The program is designed to work primarily on the wholesale level, requiring fuel distribution to past customers in proportion to what they received last year.

AID FOR HANDICAPPED — A two-wheeled conveyance for the partially handicapped is demonstrated by its inventor in Amsterdam, The Netherlands.

PUCO rejects Ohio Bell case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio refused today to reconsider the $98 million rate hike granted the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. Aug. 7.

The PUCO rejected requests to reopen the case from several parties, including Cleveland Councilman Dennis J. Kucinich.

Ohio Bell had sought increases in rates totaling $160 million.

The commission, in its refusal to reopen the case, said a cross-section of public interest had been represented at previous hearings, the rate of return allowed Ohio Bell was "eminently reasonable" and the rates granted are "in accord with present law."

American pioneer spaceship could face Jupiter perils

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leading space scientist has reported that a nail-biting, scientific cliff-hanger is in the offing for next month—involving the possible destruction of an American spacecraft now gunning towards Jupiter.

The word came from Dr. James Van Allen, University of Iowa physicist and the chief discoverer of the radiation belts that surround the earth.

Van Allen told a Navy-sponsored scientific conference Tuesday that America's Pioneer-10 unmanned spacecraft, heading for a "fly-by" of Jupiter on Dec. 4, could be destroyed by radiation belts presumed to surround the faraway planet—if the belts are as fearsome as he and some other scientists believe they might be.

On the other hand, he said, some other scientists hold this belief:

The presumed Jovian radiation belts—believed formed by the entrapment of electrified particles from the sun by Jupiter's magnetic field—might be, in effect, softened up by the influence of some of Jupiter's multiple moons as they orbit the planet.

And, according to this theory, Pioneer-10 would safely ride through the belts.

Declaring that the spacecraft, launched 18 months ago, should begin to strike the belts late in November, Van Allen said:

"Potentially, it (the belt area) is an enormously damaging region, and there's no assurance that the spacecraft will survive it.

"Thus, there will be a very high period of excitement ... beginning in late November."

Van Allen addressed a symposium marking the 50th anniversary of the Naval Research Laboratory.

USDA seeks hamburger for schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is shopping for hamburger so school cafeterias can beef up their menus, but officials admit they might have to settle for chicken soup again if prices are too high.

No ground beef has been purchased by the federal government for school lunch programs since Jan. 6, 1972. Except for some pork purchased last winter, USDA has concentrated mainly on chicken and turkey.

But, with the recent decline in live cattle prices, the Food and Nutrition Service says it is time to look at hamburger again.

The government notified suppliers last week that offers on ground beef will be accepted for consideration through Oct. 12. William G. Boling, associate director of child nutrition programs, said that if prices are too high the offers will be rejected.

A number of factors, including the beef supply, market outlook and the effect of purchases on consumer prices are used in deciding whether to accept the offers, officials said.

Last December, and on several occasions afterward, the department solicited bids for school lunch beef and then rejected them all because the prices were too high.

Knights Templar conclave slated

Three officers of Garfield Commandery here are planning to attend all three sessions of the 131st annual conclave of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar of Ohio, in Berea Thursday, Friday and Saturday. They are Ronald Sears, emminent commander, Charles Duff, senior warden, and Albert Briggs, junior warden.

One of the highlights of the conclave will be a parade of approximately 100 units at 4 p.m. Saturday. It will be climaxed by a colorful mass formation of knights in full uniform, plumed chapeaux and swords.

New officers will be elected Friday afternoon and installed following the dinner and presentation of awards Saturday evening.

Competition by approximately 25 drill teams, with a total of about 450 knights participating, is scheduled for Saturday morning in the Cuyahoga County Junior Fair and Flower and Garden buildings on the fairground.

The Knights Templar organization is a uniformed Christian branch of the Masonic Order stemming back to the Crusades.

Seed costs on increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Livestock producers who turned to fall pastures to help offset rising costs of feed concentrates have found seed supplies also tight and expensive, according to the Agriculture Department.

Prices paid for seed used in planting fall crops for winter cover and pasture were up 47 per cent from a year earlier as of Sept. 15, says the department. Compared with the base year of 1967, the prices for all seed averaged 97 per cent higher.

The Sept. 15 average price of uncertified alfalfa seed was $105 per 100 pounds, up from $54.80 on the same date last year. Certified alfalfa was $119 per hundredweight, up from $64.50.

Other seeds such as clover, timothy, orchardgrass, vetch and fescue also have soared in price.

Seed for the big field crops have risen too. Wheat for fall planting averaged $7.20 per bushel Sept. 15, compared with $2.97 a year earlier. Oats were $3.90 compared with $2.27; Barley $4.60 compared with $2.88; and rye $4.90 compared with $1.78 a year ago.

Ohio Perspective

Appalachian panel's future cloudy

By DEAN SCHOTT
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 13-state Appalachian Regional Commission —giver of more than $100 million to 28 rural Ohio counties— meets in Columbus this December to answer an important question:

Should the 10-year-old organization continue?

"Two issues are presently in the forefront," said Troy Grigsby of the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development. "The present authority expires at the end of fiscal 1975, June 30, 1975.

"And, there are questions whether the commission should continue and if it should continue in the present form."

Gov. John J. Gilligan, cochairman of the commission, will be host. Don Whitehead is full-time federal chairman. No dates for the meeting have been set.

Twenty-eight counties from Clermont in the southwest to Carroll in the northeast compose the Ohio Appalachian Region, an area with more than one million residents.

Between 1966, when the commission began to roll, and 1972, more than $94 million federal money poured into Ohio's Appalachia. Highways got $44 million, health $20 million, vocational education $11, water and sewer systems $4, conservation including strip mine reclamation $3, access roads $3, education $2.8 million and child development $1 million, with lesser amounts going to libraries, airports and housing.

During the present fiscal year, the commission has funneled about $8 million in nonhighway funds to the area. The region also has a six-year $15 million appropriation for highways.

The twelve other states in the commission are New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia, Kentucky, Maryland, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi.

Grigsby said there is a distinct possibility the commission will go out of existence in 1975. The commission was to have been disbanded this year, but President Nixon compromised an earlier stand and gave the panel a two-year extension.

Nixon had hoped that special revenue sharing programs, like the Better Communities Act, would replace numerous regional commissions. His special revenue sharing proposals are presently bogged down in Congress.

Grigsby said, "The commission facilitates the expression of views and provides a forum where the states can work with one another. It's not a perfect system, but it shouldn't be junked."

He said he agrees with President Nixon federal programs shouldn't be duplicated, but added, "You don't kill off everything and start from scratch."

In 1972, farmers and farmers' cooperatives borrowed almost $17 billion from the three lending units of the Farm Credit System.

WSHS senior cited for scholarship

Bob Walters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walters, 915 Millwood Ave., a senior at Washington Senior High School, has received a letter of commendation honoring him for a high performance in the 1972 Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude and National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, according to Principal Fred Jones.

The National Merit Scholarship Corporation has named 38,000 commended students throughout the nation and these students are among the upper two per cent of those who are expected to graduate from high school in 1974. Thus, the commended students rank high, but below the 15,000 semifinalists in September.

Edward C. Smith, president of NMSC, said, "The high standing of commended students in the merit program competition show that they have great promise of continued success in college. Although commended students advance no further in the Merit Scholarship program, their attainment in this nationwide program deserves recognition."

To increase their scholarship opportunities commended students' names are reported to the colleges they named as their first and second choices when they took the test in October.

Men face 6 murder charges

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Relatives arranged funerals for a Lexington minister, his two children, and three other men shot to death Tuesday, as two men suspected in the slayings were held in the State Penitentiary at Eddyville.

The two, Wilmer E. Scott, 35, of Chattanooga, Tenn., and William Sloan, 24, of Louisville, escaped from federal custody Monday at Lexington.

They are suspected of killing the six during their flight northward, before their arrest Tuesday at Fort Thomas, just across the Ohio River from Cincinnati, Ohio.

Immediately after escaping, the pair seized a Lexington woman, Mrs. Geraldine Ewalt, forcing her to drive to her home where they tied her up along with two of her children and fled in her car.

The Ewalt car was found at the home of the dead minister.

Early Tuesday, the minister's car was discovered about 40 miles north of Lexington at Fisher's Motel in Falmouth, where two construction workers and a night clerk had been shot to death.

When captured about 25 miles further north, at Fort Thomas, Scott and Sloan were driving the construction workers' car and wearing clothes belonging to the minister, police said.

Putnam County murder trial slated Nov. 12

OTTAWA, Ohio (AP) — Trial was set for Nov. 12 in Putnam County Common Pleas Court for Eddy Lee Bower who pleaded innocent by reason of insanity Tuesday to two counts of first-degree murder. Bower is accused of running down his wife and a companion in July with his car.

Brown predicts voter turnout

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Secretary of State Ted W. Brown predicted today 3,035,000 voters will turn out of Ohio's general election Nov. 6.

That's about 58 per cent of the persons eligible to vote, he said.

Brown said the unusually high turnout for an off-year election would be due to interest in the four constitutional amendment issues on the ballot.

C.O.E. class picks officers

Cooperative Office Education students at the Laurel Oaks Career Development Campus in Wilmington have completed a vigorous campaign for class officers of the Ohio Office Education Association.

Each member of the class nominated for office prepared a two-minute speech which was then analyzed for delivery and effectiveness. The students were photographed individually and their speeches recorded as part of a project to tell a story about the C.O.E. student activities throughout the year.

The Cooperative Office Education class is the co-op program in business and office education in which senior students are in school half the day and receive on the job training the remainder of the school day. Students this year are from Clinton Massie, East Clinton and Miami Trace High Schools.

Those elected to office were Jo Lynn McCoy, president; Tanya Kingery, vice president; Debbi Johnson, secretary; Phyllis Farmer, treasurer; Janice Howard, social chairman and Janet White, parliamentarian.

Computer expert guest speaker at Rotary Club

A Columbus computer expert explained the basic operation of the complex machines to member of the Washington C.H. Rotary Club at their noon luncheon Tuesday in the Country Club.

Donald Burton, an electronic data processing consultant with the National Cash Register Co. in Columbus, told Rotarians that the operation of a computer boils down to three basic functions. They are imput, which concerns obtaining the desired information to be analyzed; processing, which is the computer's work such as figuring payrolls, and output, which is having the information returned.

Burton said the computer field has grown rapidly in the last 15 years and is still continuing to grow. He noted that in 1958 there were only 2,000 in the United States, but now there are between 85,000 and 90,009.

The cost of the computers is one drawback, but Burton pointed out that most computers are used on a rental basis. He said it is possible to rent computers for $1,000 per month while some organizations, especially the federal government, rents computers for approximately $1 million a month.

Burton said it is important for businessmen to determine their need for computers. He listed three rules of thumb as a guide in determining that need. They were (1) figure exactly what kind of data is needed (2) decide what is being done now to obtain the information and (3) figure the present cost with the cost of renting a computer.

President Phil Grover, who conducted the business meeting, reminded Rotarians that Robert Haigler, district Rotary governor, will make his annual visit next Tuesday. Haigler, who will address the club at the luncheon, will be meeting with club officers at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday at the Country Club.

Tuesday's program was arranged by Jack Brennan.

Student guests were David Persinger, of MTHS, and David Bryan, of WSHS. Other guests were Jim Evans with Brennan and Steve Yambor with Ron Ratliff. Visiting Rotarians were Darrell French, of Wilmington, and Art Dick, of Mount Sterling.

Wild reptiles given home

CHICAGO (AP)—A small crocodile, two pit vipers, two hooded cobras and a python flew halfway around the world to be unclaimed at O'Hare International Airport.

American Airlines officials said William Page of Westerville, Ohio, was supposed to pick up the reptiles that arrived Tuesday from Malaysia.

Contacted by officials, Page said he had come to Chicago over the weekend to get the reptiles, couldn't find them and returned home.

He said he didn't want to make another trip and told the airline to give them to a zoo.

Grieves resigns position on B'burg Council

BLOOMINGBURG — A veteran member of Bloomingburg's Village Council turned in his resignation at Tuesday night's meeting.

Mayor Max Grim announced that Donald W. Grieves, a Council member since 1966, has resigned his position. Grieves will be moving to Columbus. He and Ray Deere were the senior members. No replacement was named.

Council heard a report from Harold McNally, an engineer with the M.M. Schirtzinger consulting engineering firm, of Chillicothe, concerning the village's sanitary sewer system and treatment plant project.

McNally informed Council members that he has prepared plans and drawings of the proposed project to be submitted to the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency for approval.

Council discussed possible financing for the sewer system and treatment plant project. The village has an application for a loan pending with the Farmers Home Administration, but the project must be approved by the OEPA. The Village of Bloomingburg's project is rated in 126th place out of a possible 235 applicants by the OEPA.

A renewal license for operation of a mobile home park in the village was approved by Council. The request for the license renewal was submitted by Mobile Systems, Inc., of Columbus, which operates Hunt's Trailer Park, 71 Biddle Blvd.

A regular meeting date was changed by Council members. The Council meeting next month is scheduled for Nov. 6, which is election day and the meeting was changed to 7:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 5.

Council also approved payment of routine bills, totaling $2,113.28.

Walter Lippmann critically ill

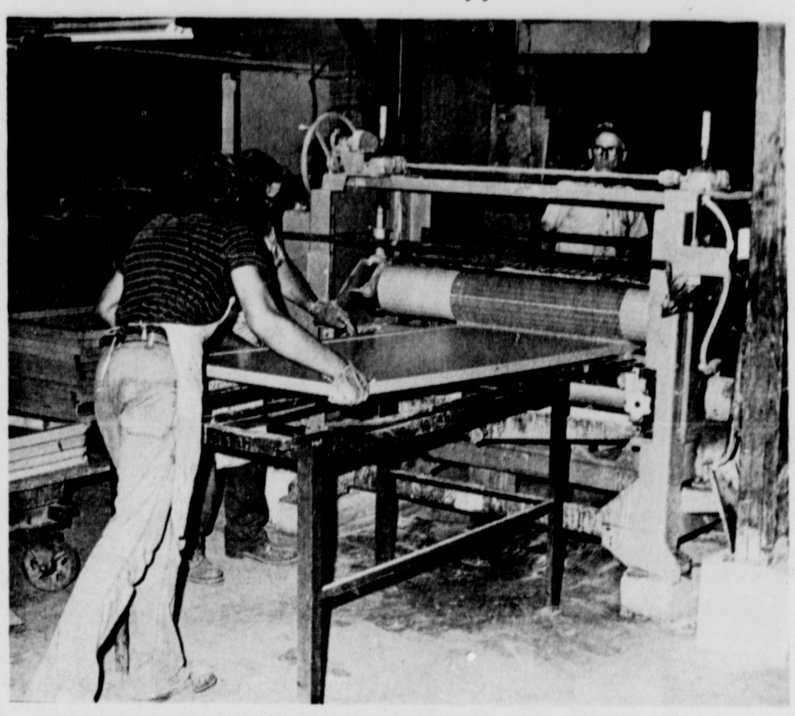
NEW YORK (AP) — Walter Lippmann, one of America's pre-eminent political journalists, was in critical condition at a hospital here today.

Officials said Lippmann was rushed to New York Hospital Tuesday after suffering a stroke at his Manhattan home. The retired journalist and author celebrated his 84th birthday last week.

From 1931 to 1967, he wrote a twice-weekly syndicated column, "Today and Tomorrw."

NEW FIRM — The Chappell Door Co., formerly of Jeffersonville, Ind., has been moved to Washington C.H. under the direction of President Bill Black. The plant is located at 738 Western Ave., at the rear of Helfrich's Market. Black has been a resident of this area for many years.



READY FOR VENEER — Cement is being applied to the faces of the door frame with its pressed wood core to make it ready for the veneer. After the wood or plastic-laminated veneer is in place, the cement will be given a chance to dry in a huge press.

Chappell Door Co. busy with orders

A new door-manufacturing firm which has moved into a building formerly housing Marting Manufacturing Co.'s Ranger Division, is now in full production.

Bill Black, president of Chappell Door Co., has located the firm at 738 Western Avenue, at the rear of the Helfrich Super Market.

After becoming president in October, 1972, Black decided to move the firm from its base in Jeffersonville, Ind., to the Washington C.H. area where he had long been a resident.

Chappell Door manufactures wooden and plastic-laminated doors for construction companies. A small firm, employing 13 persons, Chappell makes custom doors for new buildings and for remodeling projects.

A wooden door frame receives a corrugated cardboard filler for hollow doors, while pressed wood is used as the core for solid doors. After the center has been placed in the frame, the desired wood or plastic laminated sheet is cemented to the outside. The cemented doors are placed in a huge press while drying.

After the doors are dry, they are inspected, trimmed, and finish-sanded. On request the doors are stained or lacquered. The finished product is then packaged in cardboard for shipment.

The plant began limited operation here on Aug. 1, and employes have been producing doors during the regular work week while remodeling the building on weekends.

One man, Carlton McHolan, was brought from the Jeffersonville operation; the rest of the employes are local residents.

Derby fraud orders set by judge

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—The uncle of the youth disqualified as this year's Soap Box Derby champion met privately with Judge Horace Holmes for nearly an hour Tuesday before agreeing to a non-judicial adjustment in charges against him.

Robert Lange Sr. is charged with encouraging his nephew, James Gronen, 14, to cheat in the race by using an illegal device to give his soap box racer a faster start.

Lange admitted he made the decision that his nephew, who lives with him, should use the illegal device in the race, and Boulder Dist. Atty. Alex Hunter filed charges against him shortly afterwards.

Lange was charged with "encouraging a minor to violate a state law."

Health Board pushes levy issue

The Fayette County Board of Health Tuesday afternoon discussed new legislation regarding personnel and a number of other matters including the proposed additional health levy which will be appearing on the November ballot.

Dr. William E. Covert, health commissioner, said the new legislation discussed included payment of sick leave for pregnant employes and payment of one-fourth of all unused sick leave upon an employe's retirement.

The proposed .20-mill health levy which will confront Fayette County voters at the polls Nov. 6 was discussed and the board also reviewed sewage regulations with regards to possible revisions at a later date.

Mrs. John Richards, an employe in the Fayette County Health Department, invited board members to attend the Southwest District Ohio Public Health Association meeting Oct. 30 in Sharonvilie. Mrs. Richards is president of the association.

Dr. Covert invited board members to attend the Ohio Environmental Protection Association meeting Oct. 9 in Columbus. He said the OEPA's newest revisions pertaining to opening burning will be reviewed.

DR. COVERT said the Fayette County Health Levy Committee, a group of 15 persons formed to promote the proposed health issue, met Tuesday morning to map campaign plans.

Edward Vollette, chairman of the committee, said the levy will insure Fayette Countians of continued health protection. In addition to the many health protection services offered, the levy also will provide for the continuation of the sanitation program such as milk and restaurant inspections, nuisance control, sewage disposal, landfill inspections, safe water supplies and animal bites.

The health levy is for .20 of a mill which amounts to two cents for each $100 of valuation for a period of five years. No additional health tax levy has been presented to Fayette County voters since the original levy was approved in 1956.

Other members of the committee are the Rev. Gerald Wheat, Fred St. Clair, Mrs. Wayne Hidy, Mrs. Robert Goodson, Jim Dunn, Bob Bishop, Mrs. Robert Pero, Richard Patton, Mrs. Paul Cox, Marion Stockwell, Mrs. James Smith, Mrs. Raymond Hendricks, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hoppes and Jess Schlichter.

British leave cod waters

LONDON (AP) — Three British frigates and three unarmed naval tugs prepared to sail out of disputed fishing waters around Iceland today and avert for the moment Iceland's threat to break diplomatic relations with her North Atlantic Treaty Organization ally.

The frigates and the big tugs were not to return home, however. They were ordered to begin patrolling just outside the 50-mile limit unilaterally proclaimed by Iceland 13 months ago.

Prime Minister Edward Heath of Britain warned that the warships would move back inside the disputed zone if Icelandic gunboats renewed their harassment of British trawlers. The trawlers are defying Iceland's orders to stay clear of the fishing grounds.

Iceland said its four grey gunboats would go on hunting what it calls pirate trawlers fishing in the 50-mile zone.

Britain, like most nations, only recognizes a 12-mile territorial limit. Iceland maintains it must have exclusive fishing rights in all waters within 50 miles of its border to maintain its vital fishing industry.

MT opens SCOL title feud Friday

Winless Hillsboro on Panther chart

By DENNIS STAPLETON
Record-Herald Sports Editor

Now is the time for all good men..... and so on. But really, now is the time for the Miami Trace Panthers to combine all their efforts into winning football games as they enter their 13th season in the South Central Ohio League Friday night against winless Hillsboro.

With all the other teams in the SCOL starting league play last Friday, the Panthers, have had one extra non-league contest to strengthen the basic winning procedures.

ALTHOUGH the Panthers lost last Friday to Chillicothe, the extra contest proved that a team that makes basic mistakes cannot win over a team that executes well, even a team like Chillicothe which has experienced trouble all season with its offense.

What happened to Chillicothe was that the offense stopped making mental and physical errors while the Miami Trace offense and defense made plenty. Instead of a score of 8-7, with the Panthers in command, the halftime score could have well been 24-7 with the Panthers well in the lead. But, due to basic mistakes on two other ball possessions, Miami Trace let the Chillicothe defense take the ball away deep in Chillicothe's territory and then the Panther defense made the mistakes and allowed Chillicothe to score, and thus the final score of 28-8, Miami Trace the loser.

But this week, Miami Trace, travels to Hillsboro to meet a team that has also made numerous mistakes both on offense and defense.

Hillsboro, coached by Miami Trace graduate Michael Doyle, is 0-4 on the season with one of those losses coming in league competition against Wilmington last Friday.

Although the Indians have had disciplinary problems and have had to suspend a few players, Doyle has come up with some pretty good replacements. The problem is that they are young replacements and are subject to mistakes.

In last week's game with Wilmington, Hillsboro was guilty of 10 penalties for 110-yards. Fifteen of those yards, coming on a touchdown run of over 60 yards for clipping.

With the starting quarterback being suspended, 6-foot-2, 172-pound sophomore Bud Marsh has taken over the signal-calling. Marsh possesses a very strong arm but has a habit of throwing interceptions. In the Wilmington contest, March, threw 29 times with five of the passes ending the opponents hands.

In the backfield along with Marsh will be quick-stepping tailback John Hastings, Ken Captain, who scored an 80-yard touchdown against Unioto, plus Terry Burns or Steve Kelch.

The offensive line of the Indians is big and strong but also inexperienced. Anchored by two 230-pound tackles is Mike Fuller and Bob Cyrus, the line averages close to 210-pound. But the average age is only a junior. Rounding out the offensive line are guards Pat Kelly and Steve Johnson, split-end Jeff Lyle and Roger Jewett should be at tight-end.

THE DEFENSIVE unit for the Indians is a basic 5-2 with a monster man or rover back. Hillsboro possesses speed in the defensive backfield, but there is some question about its defensive line. In last Friday's contest with Wilmington, the defense gave up 274 yards on the ground but only 67 yards through the air.

Miami Trace isn't without its problems either.

Senior running back Doug Ford, the main spoke in the Panthers' running attack, will be out at least a week with a slight concussion, senior Doug Baker is also an unlikely starter due to muscle spasms in his back. Also out, as of Tuesday, were senior Jeff Long and junior Jim Glass due to the flu and sophomore Greg Cobb due to a death in the family.

The Panthers could have their hands full when they travel to Hillsboro for the 8 p.m. meeting, but then, so could Hillsboro. Miami Trace has proven it can win games against pretty tough opponents, Hillsboro hasn't. Miami Trace has proven it has a defense, Hillsboro hasn't. But, when you come right down to the answer, it lies in the mistakes. The team that makes fewer mistakes, should come out the victor.

Lion Cubs register third straight win

The Washington C.H. junior high football team is certainly playing like their big brothers, the Washington C.H. football team, currently ranked No. 1 in the state, as they ripped another foe Tuesday evening at Gardner Park.

The Lion Cubs made the Greenfield McLain Tigers their third victim in a row by a score of 24-0. Greenfield could manage only 13 plays for the whole contests, with 10 of those coming in the second half against the second team of the Lions, and no first downs being picked up for the entire contest.

Washington C.H. started off its scoring in the first quarter when Jeff Elliott scored on a 54-yard run. Elliott also scored the extras and the score was 8-0.

The Blue Lions were held scoreless again until the second quarter. This time Greg Tillett scored on a one-yard plunge and Tony West scored the extra point and the score was 16-0.

GREENFIELD failed to move the ball again and Washington C.H. took over possession once again.

This time Elliott scored on a 65-yard scamper. Elliott scored the extras and Washington C.H. led 24-0.

Both teams failed to score in the remainder of the game, with Washington C.H.'s second team finishing out the contest, and the final score remained 24-0.

Coach Rodger Mickle reported that the defense played a good game, although they were only in for 13 plays. Mickle also said that along with Elliott's usual fine game, Tillett played a good game at fullback, and that Gary Huysman, Doug Stewart, Dwayne Six and Bobby Shaw played fine defensive games.

The Lion Cubs, now 3-0 on the season, travel to Wilmington next Thursday. In all three of the games thus far the junior high has scored 92 points to their opponents' 16.

High Chapparral wins Lebanon feature race

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—High Chapparral, a 14-1 longshot, won the featured race at Lebanon Raceway Tuesday night.

The winner returned $29.80, $8.00 and $7.00 for the conditioned trot victory over the mile track. The winning time was 2:06 2-5. 1

Polly's Pride returned $6.20 and $3.40 for place. The show horse was Speed Darnley at $3.20.

Uncle Ed and Bold Melody, 8- 8, paid $187.80 in the daily double.

Cleveland Cavaliers defeat Rockets, 98-91

HOUSTON (AP) — The Cleveland Cavaliers defeated the Houston Rockets 98-91, aided by 16 points each from Austin Carr and Linny Wilkins Tuesday night to remain unbeaten in the National Basketball Association Mid-Central Pre-Season Classic.

Cleveland, 3-0 in the first annual pro basketball tournament, will meet Houston, 2-1, in the championship game Wednesday night in Kansas City.

MT's Players of Week

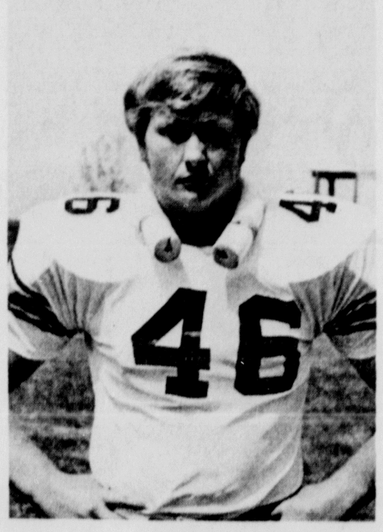
A junior and a senior have been chosen Miami Trace's Players of the Week for their performance in the Panthers' 28-8 loss to Chillicothe last Friday night.

Offensive tackle Jeff Long and defensive tackle Ron Warnock were singled out by the Miami Trace coaching staff for honors in the Record-Herald's fourth weekly poll.

LONG, a 200-pound senior, was selected the top offensive player of the week. The hard-nosed tackle received the highest film rating from the Panther coaching staff when the game films were studied, Long was selected for his fine blocking into the Chillicothe defensive line which opened plenty of holes for the Panthers' backfield, protected the quarterback and opened up the end for sweeps.

Warnock, a 180-pound junior defensive tackle, was named top defensive player of the week. Warnock, who last season was picked on the All - South Central Ohio League honorable mention team, played his finest game thus far this year after being sidelined with injuries earlier this season.

THE HARD-HITTING tackle, sacked opposing runners four times behind the line of scrimmage and assisted on eight other tackles.



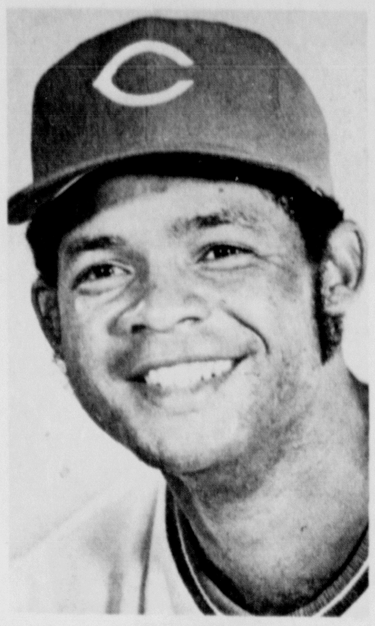
JEFF LONG

RON WARNOCK

Head coach Fred Zechman also reported that senior David Holbrook, starting the first time at defensive end, played an excellent game and came in second in total defensive points.

The team's "big lick" awards for the week went to quarterback Tom Riley, for a blow Riley delivered to a Chillicothe tackler, on the offense and to Greg Wieland on the defense, for a tackle Wieland administered to one of the Chillicothe runners.

The Panthers, with a record of 2-2, travel to Hillsboro Friday night for an 8 p.m. clash with the winless Indians, under new head coach Michael Doyle a graduate of Miami Trace, for the opening of their 13th season in the South Central Ohio League.



BOBBY TOLAN

Bobby Tolan set to file grievance

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Bobby Tolan, suspended outfielder for the Cincinnati Reds, will file a grievance soon, according to Marvin Miller of the Major League Baseball Players Association.

Miller said Tolan's grievance against his suspension will charge the Reds did not have just cause to suspend the outfielder.

Miller contends Tolan was being disciplined for growing a mustache. The Reds said they were suspending Tolan for his "divisive" attitude and refusal to take part in team practice and batting practice.

"Two facts should be known," said Miller. "One was that no one ever talked to him about the question of batting practice. The other is that directly preceding his suspension he had a meeting with Manager Sparky Anderson and during that meeting not one word was said except about "his mustache."

Miller said Tolan, who was paid during his suspension, will seek appropriate redress for injury to his career and reputation.

The Reds suspended Tolan last Thursday for the final three games of the regular season and announced Monday that he would not play in any post-season games.

USAC eyes changes

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — U.S. Auto Club officials are expected to announce before the end of the year some changes in regulations that figure to make auto racing safer, slower and less complicated for scorers.

Limitations on fuel in the cars have helped increase competitiveness, but also have caused headaches for scorers trying to keep track of the leader through a myriad of pit stops.

Dick King, director of competition and head of a summer USAC testing program, says changes next year will bring the number of pit stops in a 500-mile race down to about four or five.

A reduction in horsepower for next year already has been announced, along with a fire-resistant fuel system, but King now says horsepower may be reduced by as much as 25 per cent.

Anderson not misled by New York record

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Manager George "Sparky" Anderson waved off the New York Mets' record—worst among the four division winners in the majors—and talked of respect for this weekend's playoff opponent.

"I think people are being misled by the Mets," said Anderson.

"If that club had stayed healthy all year, they would have won at least 95 games," he said as the Reds, National League Western Division champs with baseball's best record—99-63—prepare for Saturday's opener with the Eastern Division winners.

"The Mets we're facing are healthy. They're not as destitute as they make out," Anderson said in reference to the wave of injuries which hounded the Mets all season.

He also had Mets' pitching ace Tom Seaver in mind. Seaver will reportedly not start the first game due to a shoulder problem.

New York overcame the series of setbaks with a late-season onrush to come from last place as late as Aug. 30 to win the division with an 82-79 record.

"There's no danger we'll be looking ahead," said Anderson, recalling the 1969 Mets' miracle when they charged out of obscurity to win the National League and, after dropping the World Series opener, claimed the world title with four straight victories over the Baltimore Orioles.

"We've got too much respect for them," said Anderson, who has said he'll open with 18-game winner Don Gullett Saturday. He'll oppose Jon Matlack, 15-16.

SPORTS

Washington C.H. (O.)

Anderson plans to match 19-game winner Jack Billingham against the Mets' Seaver on Sunday in the best-of-five series.

Pete Rose, the National League batting champ, sees the playoffs as a time for the Reds' pitchers to get some overdue credit.

"Everybody talks about the New York Mets' pitching of Seaver, Kossman and Matlack. Nobody says much about our staff yet we had a 19-game winner, an 18-game winner and two guys with 13.

"As far as I'm concerned, we've got as good a pitching staff as anyone," said the Reds' captain.

World grid league eyed by attorney

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gary L. Davidson, who helped start the American Basketball Association and the World Hockey Association, now has plans for an international professional football league with franchises stretching from London to Tokyo.

A source in Davidson's office said the Santa Ana attorney is organizing the worldwide pro football circuit and plans to have it working a year from now.

Initially, the league wants 12 franchises in the United States, with franchises already lined up for the Los Angeles area, Honolulu, New York, Boston, Chicago, Toronto "and maybe Europe" for the first season, said the source.

The league, as yet unnamed, also is looking to establish franchises in London, Tokyo, Germany and Mexico as well as Memphis, Tenn., Milwaukee, Phoenix, Ariz., Oklahoma City, Seattle, and North Carolina.

The new league will not try and fight the established league for players, said the source.

"The league will get its players from semipro leagues, colleges, NFL and Canadian league players who play out their options and players cut by the leagues," the source said.

See Reece Morrison back with Bengals

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals, suddenly short of running backs after being well-stocked a few weeks ago, may add recently cut Reece Morrison this week.

Coach Paul Brown said Tuesday that Morrison would work out with the team this week as it prepares for its Sunday meeting with upstate rival Cleveland.

Yogi Berra waits for new contract

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that he has a key to the city, the only thing Yogi Berra needs is a contract to manage a baseball team for next season.

The logical team would seem to be the New York Mets, the club Yogi has piloted to the National League East Division title. But they haven't asked him back yet.

That, of course, could be meaningless. The Mets traditionally make their managerial decisions after the season. On the other hand, it could be ominous. The last time Yogi managed a club that finished first, it was the New York Yankees in 1964. Instead of getting a new contract, he got fired. Will history repeat itself?

"I don't know yet," said Berra, allowing himself a mischievious grin. "I don't think so."

In mid-summer, when the Mets were in last place 12 games back and five teams away from the top, there was considerable sniping at the manager. Donald Grant, the club's chairman of the board, described Berra's position as secure at that time, but added a cryptic afterthought, saying that it depended on fan opinion. At that time, Yogi's rating with the customers wasn't very high.

There were times during the season that even Berra doubted the team's ability to win the title.

Injuries piled up, and for awhile, it seemed that Berra never would have a totally healthy club. When he finally did, it thundered through September at a sizzling 21-8 pace to win the title.

Ironically, the Mets' won-lost record of 82-79 is the worst they have posted in any year since they won the division, playoff and World Series in 1969.

There is one more irony. If the Mets don't invite Berra back, he could still wind up in Shea Stadium anyway. After all, the Yankees will be spending the next two seasons there and they're looking for a manager.

Top-ranked Buckeyes picked over Cougars

NEW YORK (AP) — Even though Woody Hayes says Ohio State's new No. 1 ranking "doesn't mean a damn thing" at this stage of the season, you can bet he intends to see to it that the Buckeyes remain on top.

The first target for the new leader in The Associated Press college football rankings is Washington State, a team which Coach Jim Sweeney rated in the same class as Southern California talent-wise before the season.

A couple of funny things have happened to the Cougars, though. They lost to Kansas and Arizona State before beating Idaho. And things figure to get worse. After Ohio State in Columbus comes Southern Cal in Los Angeles.

Even the luck of the Irish won't help Sweeney. Ohio State 42, Washington State 0.

Last week's count was 43 right, 19 wrong and four ties for a .694 percentage. The Upset Special—Oklahoma over then-No. 1 Southern Cal—produced a near-miss 7-7 tie. The score for the season is 152-526— .745.

Nebraska at Minnesota: Would you believe Minnesota holds a 29-14-2 lead in the series? But Coach Cal Stoll says he finds "absolutely no weaknesses in the Nebraska team. Well...maybe in the pregame warm-ups their cadence is off a count or two." Nebraska has won the last eight meetings. Make it nine. Nebraska 35-7.

Georgia at Alabama: After tying Pitt in its opener, Georgia is becoming the team Coach Vince Dooley thought it would be. The Bulldogs trounced North Carolina State last Saturday but this looks a little too steep. Alabama 28-14.

Southern California at Oregon State: USC, believe it or not, was pushed all over the field in that 7-7 tie with Oklahoma. Now, the Trojans get a chance to do the same to winless Oregon State. Southern Cal 35-0.

Oregon at Michigan: Bad week for the State of Oregon. Michigan 38-7.

Miami, Fla. at Oklahoma: Next week, Oklahoma plays Texas. Two weeks ago, Miami beat Texas. Ergo, Oklahoma won't look past Miami. Oklahoma 34-6.

Penn State at Air Force: Penn State may be the government's biggest problem since Watergate. Two weeks ago they crushed Navy, this week it's Air Force, next week Army. Penn State 28-3.

Michigan State at Notre Dame: Those 10-10 ties are a thing of the past. Notre Dame 37-7.

Kansas at Tennessee: This one's in Memphis, home of the blues. Kansas takes some home. Tennessee 28-17.

Florida at Louisiana State: Florida's SEC hopes were jolted by Mississippi State last Saturday. Now comes LSU, followed by Alabama. See you later, Gators. LSU 24-6.

Senate studies revamping of athletics

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate considers legislation today designed to reform U.S. amateur sports and eliminate the rivalry between the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Amateur Athletic Union in international competition.

The measure is expected to pass even though there has been a concentrated lobbying effort against it by officials of established sports groups. Many athletes, including some who have participated in the Olympics, favor the proposal.

After a vote by the full Senate, the measure would go to the House Education and Labor Committee, where a similar bill is pending.

The Senate Commerce Committee approved an omnibus bill on July 25 that would establish an independent board to charter and oversee all governing bodies for U.S. amateur sports, restructure existing bodies, develop community facilities and promote health and safety in athletics.

Entitled the Amateur Athletic Act of 1973, the Senate bill would:

—Put an end to the on-going power feud between the NCAA and the AAU by eliminating their authority to prevent athletes from participating in individual events.

—Provide minimum federal involvement in amateur sports to the extent needed to protect individual athletes from overbearing sports organizations.

—Commission a study for the purpose of revitalizing the U.S. Olympic Committee and its method of operation.

—Create a sports development program designed to enable more people to become actively involved in amateur sports.

Delaware continues atop grid ratings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The University of Delaware, gunning for an unprecedented third straight national college division football championship, continues to lead the Associated Press' weekly poll.

The Blue Hens, a 21-9 winner over Lehigh last week, received 27 first-place votes and a total of 885 points from a nationwide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters. Delaware has an 18-game winning streak dating back to the 1971 season.

The Blue Hens are 4-0 this season.

Grambling and South Dakota, both 4-0, held the second and third positions, each collecting seven first-place votes. The Tigers piled up 762 points after thumping Prairie View 37-12, and South Dakota got 635 points on the strength of a 19-7 triumph over Northern Iowa.

Eastern Michigan, 4-0, moved up one place to fourth after a 47-14 conquest of St. Norbert. Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo, 3-0, advanced from eighth to fifth after beating Cal-Riverside 26- 17.

Hawaii, 3-0, remained sixth after slipping past Texas Southern 24-21. Tennessee State, 3-0, fell from fourth to seventh despite taking the week off.

Rounding out the top 15 in order were Jacksonville State, 30, North Dakota State, 4-1, Western Kentucky, 3-0, Northeast Louisiana, 1-0-2, and North Dakota, 2-2-0.

Boise State, 3-0, was up two positions to eighth after routing Portland State 64-7. Louisiana Tech, 3-1, got by McNeese 10-7 and maintained the No. 9 spot. Carson-Newman, 3-0, was idle but moved up one place to 10th.

They are Mrs. Gwen Walters, vice president; Mrs. Betty Montgomery, secretary, and Mrs. Betty Grubbs, treasurer.

A gift of appreciation was presented to Mrs. Walters, last year's PTO president, and Mrs. Karen Hoppes asked support of the .2-mill levy for the Health Department at the Nov. 6 election.

140 participate in South Side prayer breakfast

A lighted candle symbolized "we are lights for Jesus" during the meditation at the weekly prayer breakfast Tuesday in the South Side Church of Christ. The meditation was led by the pastor, the Rev. Charles J. Richmond, for 140 students and teachers.

Karen Warner and Cindy VanMeter, WSHS juniors, led the group singing, and 12 MTHS cheerleaders sang "Kum Ba Yah." The devotional on "Let's Go Fishing" was presented by Carmen Frogale, of the WJHS faculty, and Maurice Pfeifer, WSHS head football coach, closed the session with a prayer.

The prayer breakfasts, made possible by donations by individuals, organizations, business firms and church groups, are open to all high school students, grades 9 through 12, in the community. The purpose, said the Rev. Mr. Richmond, is to "help young people in the development of their spiritual lives."

Van Wert auto plant accord set

VAN WERT, Ohio (AP)—Officials of United Auto Workers and Chrysler Corporation's Amplex plant have reached tentative agreement on a new contract, averting a strike set for 10 a.m. today.

Agreement came at 4:30 a.m. Tuesday, after more than 15 straight hours of bargaining.

Ron Mefferd said a major part of the new agreement will be termination of seven-day operation of the plant's ferride division.

Austria refuses Israeli request to open center

JERUSALEM (AP) — Premier Golda Meir says she believes the flow of Jews from the Soviet Union will continue despite her failure to get Austria to let the Schoenau transit camp continue to operate.

Mrs. Meir returned to Israel Tuesday night after a fruitless 90-minute meeting in Vienna with Austrian Chancellor Bruno Kreisky.

She told newsmen she was "very sad" about Kreisky's insistence on fulfilling his promise to Arab terrorists to close the facility 20 miles south of Vienna. The Jewish Agency has processed emigrants from the Soviet Union at the center before flying them to Israel.

Asked if she expected the closing of the camp to stem the movement of Soviet Jews through Austria, Mrs. Meir replied: "I hope not ... I believe not."

See 3 days of hearings at McArthur

McARTHUR, Ohio (AP) — Hearings for 88 school teachers fired by the Vinton County Board of Education because they refused to work were to begin today.

Kenneth Christopher, the system's superintendent, said hearings are expected to take three days. They were originally scheduled to begin Tuesday.

Teachers have been on strike against the district for two weeks in a contract dispute.

The school board fired the 88 teachers after invoking the state's Ferguson Act which prohibits strikes by public employes.

Christopher said the board agreed to the hearings to determine if the teachers had violated state law.

The Vinton Local Teachers Association, which supports the strike, complained the board isn't interested in a settlement.

Couldn't move home so he moved the hole

LONDON (AP) — Robert Auld, 35-year-old lawyer, couldn't move his home out of the line of the 12th hole of the public golf course at Moor Park, near London.

So the local council have agreed to close the hole until it is realigned so that golfers tee off in the opposite direction.

Since Auld, his wife and two young children moved into the house a year ago they've been in the front line. When two windows were shattered in five days, Auld threatened to seek an injunction in the courts.

Cripples pictured on pre-Columbian pottery fragments have been suspected by some to have been TB victims.

County board OKs sick leave policy

The Fayette County Board of Education Tuesday night adopted an "unused sick leave" resolution for employes upon retirement. The semi-monthly meeting was held at Chaffin Elementary School.

The adoption of the resolution topped a relatively light agenda for board members. The board also took care of personnel matters, entered into an agreement with the Village of Bloomingburg for water service and heard a brief report on the proposed junior high school bond issue at the meeting which lasted just over one hour.

The new policy pertains to payment of unused sick leave upon retirement in accordance with Amended Senate Bill No. 31, effective Aug. 1. In accordance with the new state legislation, the board will pay 25 per cent of an employe's unused sick leave upon retirement. The maximum payment will not exceed 25 per cent of 120 days of accumulated sick leave.

The board clerk will determine the daily rate of payment by dividing the actual number of days of service under the employe's contract into the annual salary. The motion was approved unanimously.

THE BOARD accepted a request for retirement submitted by Mrs. Nancy Melton, a third grade teacher at Wayne School in Good Hope. Mrs. Melton, who has spent 36 years in the teaching profession, was employed for the past 20 years in the Miami Trace School District. She taught at Madison Mills for seven years and the past 13 years at Good Hope.

In other employment matters, the board added six teachers to the substitute list. They were Mrs. Ronald Lett, tutoring; Mrs. Elaine Kunz, elementary teacher, and educational aides Mrs. Meredith Price, Mrs. Jane Campbell, Mrs. Debbie Hagerty and Mrs. Jirdena Waddle.

Board members accepted the resignation of Kenneth Summers, of Milledgeville, as a school bus driver, but placed Summers on the substitute list. Mrs. Betty Cooper was employed as a full-time bus driver in the Madison Mills area. The board also granted Superintendent Guy M. Foster authority to employ a high school librarian for the first semester.

Along the same lines, the board established a substitute pay scale for educational aides at $14 per day.

SUPERINTENDENT FOSTER reported that a three-page fact sheet designed to answer specific questions concerning the proposed junior high school bond issue which will appear on the November ballot has been completed.

Board president Kenneth Payton and Foster will meet with the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors Thursday, Oct. 11, to seek an endorsement from that group for the school bond issue.

The board entered into an agreement with officials of the Village of Bloomingburg for water service at Bloomingburg Elementary School. Superintendent Steve Yambor said an old contract, signed in 1957, provided water service for $750 per year and the village officials wanted a new contract at $1,000 per year. Board members agreed to have the village install a water meter at the school and be charged on a commercial rate. The meter installation will cost $125 and the commercial rate will be $1.35 per 1,000 gallons of water used.

IN OTHER matters:

The board approved an observational checklist to be used as an appraisal form by principals at the recommendation of elementary coordinator Mrs. June Slaughter. Three written appraisals are expected per year;

Made an adjustment in travel expenses for a woman who transports two handicapped children to Columbus daily. The rate was set at 20 cents per mile; Included Mrs. Leslie Jones, the district's speech and hearing therapist, under the single insurance coverage plan which the board provides for its employes.

Girl is bitten by rabid bat

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— A 15-year-old West Side girl began a series of rabies treatmert shots this week after health authorities confirmed she was bitten by a rabid bat that flew into her bedroom window last week.

Youngstown city health officials said the disease was confirmed by testing at the state Health Department in Columbus Tuesday. The city said it was Youngstown's first human case of rabies in 20 years.

The girl was reported in "stable condition," and the health officials said the outlook was favorable.

The city said the girl was sleeping when the bat flew into her bedroom last Wednesday. Other family members caught the bat in the room and killed it by stamping on it.

Man admits to holdup; brother free

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A 21-year-old Cleveland man who confessed to a rapid transit train robbery after his 17-yearold brother was convicted of the crime has been sentenced to 11-28 years.

Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court Judge David T. Matia sentenced Nathan Bozeman Tuesday after Bozeman pleaded guilty to five counts of armed robbery, two counts of firearm possession, assault with intent to rob and aggravated assault.

An 18-year-old youth is scheduled for a pretrial hearing on similar charges before Juvenile Court Judge John F. Corrigan.

Bozeman and the other youth confessed after Bozeman's brother, Ezra, and another 17- year-old were convicted of the robbery by a jury and sentenced to the reformatory. The two youths since have been released on bond, pending a new trial.

Matia said the older Bozeman apologized to court officials Tuesday for not coming forward sooner.

"It was really a remarkable performance by him," the judge said. "He was truly contrite."

Health outlays top $75 million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Public Welfare paid $75,765,851 in health care claims during the first quarter of fiscal year 1974, Welfare Director Charles W. Bates said today.

Bates said the money went out for 3,143,758 claims submitted by medical vendors for health care provided to recipients of the crippled children and aged, blind, disabled and dependent children program.

Hospitals have received the biggest chunk of the money for the three months, $31.4 million, Bates said.

Watergate witness makes public apology

Segretti bares 'dirty tricks'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Political saboteur Donald H. Segretti today listed for the Senate Watergate committee the tricks he pulled on Democrats last year and publicly apologized for his activities. They were "wrong and have no place in the American political system," Segretti said.

The California lawyer said he was recruited for his trickery by former White House aides Dwight L. Chapin and Gordon Strachan and paid a salary of $16,000 yearly and about $40,000 in expenses by Herbert W. Kalmbach, President Nixon's onetime personal lawyer.

Segretti testified that his activities during the 1972 Florida primary including distribution of a phony letter on campaign stationery of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie that accused two other Democratic presidential candidates of sexual misconduct.

He pleaded guilty in federal court Monday to three misdemeanor counts in connection with the political sabotage he undertook in the Florida primary.

Segretti said the letter on the stationery of the Maine senator was his own idea, not prompted by any other person. "It was not my desire to have anyone believe the letter, but, instead, it was intended to create confusion among the various candidates," Segretti said.

He said he wished "to apologize publicly for this stupid act."

Segretti said he recruited assistants around the country to picket various Democratic candidates, "recruit persons to ask hard questions at news conferences and to obtain the travel schedules of the various Democratic candidates."

He asked that the committee not compel him to name publicly all of the people he recruited. "Most of these persons are completely innocent of any wrongdoing," Segretti said.

Declaring that his activities "have been blown out of all proportion by the news media," Segretti said his pranks included:

—Sending a letter on Muskie stationary "alleging unauthorized use of government typewriters by his staff."

—Placing of stink bombs at a Muskie picnic and at Muskie headquarters in Florida.

—Placing classified ads asking Muskie if he would "accept a Jewish running mate," a reference to the senator's statement that a black vice presidential candidate should not be nominated by Democrats in 1972.

—Distribution of fliers inviting the public to a nonexistent open house at Muskie's Miami headquarters.

—Distribution of fliers in Milwaukee on April Fool's Day advertising "a free all-you-can-eat lunch with drinks at Hubert Humphrey's headquarters." The Minnesota senator was another candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Two of the men Segretti identified as helping him are Robert M. Benz and Douglas Kelly, who are scheduled to testify before the committee Thursday. Benz was a Florida Young Republican leader and was an unindicted co-conspirator in the federal government's case against Segretti.

At one point, Segretti said, he and Kelly arranged for a small plane to fly over the Democratic National Convention Center in Miami Beach with a trailer saying, "Peace, Pot, Promiscuity, Vote McGovern."

That Segretti said, was his last political activity of the 1972 campaign.

The opening of Segretti's testimony was delayed for a minute or so when a woman in the audience caused a disturbance. She was quiickly escorted out of the Senate hearing room by Capitol policemen.

Agnew fund-raiser talks to jury

BALTIMORE (AP) — One of Spiro T. Agnew's fund-raisers, a reluctant witness forced to testify under immunity, today goes back before the federal grand jury investigating the vice president.

William J. Muth, a former Democratic Baltimore city councilman now doing publicity for an engineering firm, declined to answer questions last Thursday when the 22-member jury started hearing evidence against Agnew.

"This whole damned thing is un-American," Muth told a newsman. He confirmed he was being recalled, had been ordered to bring in his personal records for 1960-72, and told that he must testify or face a jail term for contempt.

The jury is probing alleged political corruption in Maryland. The Agnew phase of the investigation centers on charges of bribery, extortion, conspiracy and tax violations while he was Baltimore County executive and governor during the 1960s.

Agnew has branded as "damned lies" allegations that he received kickbacks, sometimes in the guise of campaign contributions, from contractors doing business with the state.

The New York Times reported that lawyers for Agnew would meet in secret today with U.S. District Judge Walter E. Hoffman in an effort to set up an inquiry into leaks of information about the investigation.

The Times said Agnew's lawyers reportedly were prepared to seek Hoffman's permission to question witnesses under oath about leaks to the news media.

Muth reportedly is to be questioned about a $1,000-a-plate Agnew fund-raising dinner last fall which Muth helped to organize and publicize.

How many other witnesses there will be and their identity was unknown.

The panel, speeding up its work while Agnew's lawyers await an Oct. 12 court hearing on their move to halt the investigation, also is scheduled to meet Thursday.

The jury, probing alleged political corruption in Maryland, on Aug. 23 indicted Baltimore County Executive N. Dale Anderson, Agnew's Democratic successor in that office.

Meanwhile, Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., said he would press for House action on Agnew's request for a congressional investigation. Speaker Carl Albert rejected the request, at least for the present.

Findley said Tuesday that if the House Judiciary Committee fails to act within seven legislative days on his resolution for an inquiry he will seek to have the resolution referred to the full House.

More slayings in Virgin Islands

CHRISTIANSTED, V.I. (AP) — A black man from the British Caribbean island of Montserrat has been charged with the murder of two white American school teachers on the troubled island of St. Croix.

The young women and an islander who was shot in the back Monday night brought to 17 the total number of white persons slain on the Caribbean resort island in the past 13 months. Most of the murders are still unsolved.

The security guard was strengthened around the St. Croix beach hotel where U.S. lieutenant governors were opening their annual convention today.

James Kirnon, 20, was arrested for the killing of the two school teachers and charged in federal court with first degree murder. He was remanded to jail in lieu of $50,000 bail.

Police said the women were Betsy Reedy, 26, of Bethel, Conn., and Cheryl Barr, 22, a native of Boston from North Miami, Fla. They had been living on St. Croix about a year.

The two women were reported to have gone on a beach party Sunday. Their bodies were found Monday night 30 feet from their car on a beach about two miles from the hotel where the lieutenant governors are meeting.

The third victim, Henry Berry of St. Croix, was shot in front of a Christiansted bar.

Lt. Gov. Martin J. Schreiber of Wisconsin, chairman of the lieutenant governors' convention, said the murders "have cast a dark cloud over the conference." Local politicians had hoped the convention would offset some of the harmful publicity the island had received because of a recent wave of murders.

The plague of killings began when five black men invaded the Fountain Valley Country Club on Sept. 6, 1972, robbed it and sprayed the terrace restaurant with machine-gun fire, killing seven whites and a black employe of the club. Five islanders were sentenced to life imprisonment for the killings.

Senate OKs $1.2 billion foreign aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed the smallest foreign economic aid authorization bill in 27 years.

The $1.2-billion bill now goes to a conference with the House, which approved $1.6 billion for economic aid as part of a $2.8- billion military-economic aid package. The Senate last June passed a separate $770 million military aid bill.

Final passage of the economic aid bill, with emphasis shifted to meeting human needs in the world's poorest nations, came on a 54 to 42 roll call vote Tuesday night.

Voting for the bill were 28 Democrats and 26 Republicans; 26 Democrats and 16 Republicans voted against.

The Senate twice turned back efforts to make cuts in the interest of holding down on government spending without crippling domestic programs.

A $25-million cut in administrative funds, as proposed by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., was accepted by voice vote.

The bill would authorize $592 million for each of the fiscal years 1974 and 1975 to be divided among projects in food production, rural development, nutrition, population planning and health, education and human resource development.

It would authorize $376 million for economic assistance to South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, and $127.8 million for contributions to international organizations.

The Senate adopted amendments by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., specifying that priority in Indochina aid be given to relief for war orphans and other civilian casualties, and earmarking $10 million for relief work of the international Red Cross in Cambodia.

Adopted by voice vote was an amendment by Kennedy deploring repression of human rights and freedom by the military junta in Chile.

Fuel allocation decision rapped as 'not enough'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's decision to control the distribution of home heating oil has prompted questions about whether the action has come early enough and goes far enough to prevent shortages this winter.

Three Democratic congressmen answer no to both questions, but an administration consumer spokeswoman says yes.

The White House announced Tuesday immediate mandatory allocations on propane gas and said it would impose the controls on distillate oils within a few weeks.

The distillate oils include diesel fuel, jet fuel, kerosene and the home heating oil especially needed in the cold winters of New England and the upper Midwest.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., quickly sent a letter to the President charging that the administration's delay in applying mandatory allocation to home heating oil "has precipitated a crisis for the Northeast."

"What that means is that my constituents are going to go cold this winter," Kennedy wrote.

But Virginia H. Knauer, the President's special assistant for consumer affairs, disputed Kennedy's claim.

"The President's action is designed to ensure that those with the greatest energy needs are served first. This will not be a winter where American families are left out in the cold," she said.

Another Massachusetts Democrat, Rep. Torbert Macdonald, said the administration plan "offers a bandaid where major surgery is required."

Macdonald, chairman of a House power subcommittee, urged passage of legislation, already approved by the Senate, which would require the President to impose mandatory allocations on a broad range of petroleum products including gasoline.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Interior Committee, also urged a complete mandatory allocation program. He said the White House action was only "a piecemeal approach."

John A. Love, director of the President's Energy Policy Office, had held out against mandatory allocations throughout the summer, urging the oil industry to make a voluntary program work.

The Interior Department has estimated the nation may be short of at least 100,000 barrels per day of home heating oil this winter and bad weather or other adverse conditions could make that shortage worse.

Bomb threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Watergate hearings were abruptly adjourned for two hours today to permit police to search the hearing room for a bomb.

Capitol police received a bomb scare call telling them that a bomb had been placed in the Caucus Room of one of the House office buildings. That room was searched, and no bomb was found.

The police, concerned that there might have been some misunderstanding, told Watergate committee chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., that they would like to search his room as well, the Caucus Room of the Old Senate Office Building.

Ervin conferred with other members of the committee while political saboteur Donald H. Segretti was testifying. As a live quorum call was announced on the Senate floor, Ervin announced an unexpected two-hour recess which he told reporters was "very much against my will."

The packed hearing room was cleared and a search was launched.

Milk price hike felt by Ohioans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Farmers have boosted prices to milk wholesalers, and the price hike is showing up in dairy cases all over Ohio.

The increase by the Central Ohio Cooperative Milk Producers Association took effect Monday. The hundredweight price went up 60 cents to $9.21, an increase of about 5.2 cents per gallon.

Donald Zehr, an economist with the association, said the day of cheap milk may be gone forever.

He said farmers need higher prices for raw milk to cover steadily rising costs of equipment, services and feed.

A similar price hike was announced by Milk, Inc., a dairy farmers' group near Cleveland. The hike was passed along by wholesalers and retailers in northern Ohio as well.

Monday's prices for raw milk per hundredweight compared with $7.35 in February, Zehr said.

Cleveland-area stores reported half gallons of milk were selling in dairy cases for from 55 to 63 cents. Last year, the price was 45 cents.

Bowman Dairy of Columbus says the farmers' price hike was passed along as federal law permits. But a spokesman said the firm has had to absorb rising costs of packaging, labor and transportation.

Columbus Big Bear stores raised milk prices six cents on the shelves.

Big Bear's dairy buyer, William Receb, said passing along rising raw material costs doesn't alleviate the pinch other rising costs have put on profits.

He said the chain is petitioning the Cost of Living Council for relief.

Zehr said rising retail food costs are based on high demand, especially from foreign markets. But he says artificially low prices here also are to blame.

"We still pay only 16 to 18 per cent of our take-home pay for food. That's low compared to the rest of the world."

Zehr said consumers will have to pay enough to cover farmers' costs of production or watch production decline.

"The ultimate price (otherwise) will be fewer products to choose from in the dairy case," he said.

500 evacuated as poisonous gas leaks out

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP) — New Norway and Gwynne, two neighboring Alberta towns with a total population of about 500 people, were evacuated Tuesday because of poisonous hydrogen sulphide leaking from a ruptured natural gas pipeline, the Mounted Police reported.

The rupture occurred at a gas well near New Norway, but the cause was not known. Persons living on farms for 10 miles around the well also left their homes.

Police officers donned gas masks and respirators to enter the two towns and ensure that everyone had left. There was no indication when the residents could return.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Mayor Ralph J. Perk rolled up a 12,000-vote plurality in Tuesday's Cleveland mayoral primary, showing that he has held onto a lot of the support he mustered in his 1971 upset victory

Nixon backs Petersen

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon declared today he has never asked Vice President Spiro T. Agnew to resign and voiced strong support for an Agnew target, Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry Petersen.

Nixon replied "certainly not" when asked at a news conference if he had done any contingency planning on finding a possible Agnew successor.

Asked if he agreed with the vice president's assessment that he is a victim of Petersen's effort to recoup prestige lost in the Watergate prosecutions, Nixon said that Atty. Gen. Elliot Richardson has told him neither Petersen nor any of his aides had been the source of news leaks about the Agnew investigation.

"If I did not approve Mr. Petersen's handling of the investigation, he would be removed at this time," Nixon said.

Nixon, appearing relaxed and making occasional small jokes, again urged that all Americans assume the vice president is innocent unless proved otherwise.

Rural phase of Red Feather campaign opens this week

Larry Milstead, chairman of the rural drive in the 1974 Community Chest campaign, announced today that phase of the drive is being launched this week.

The business-industry drive opened Sept. 17 and the city residential effort will begin next week, according to Chest President Lee Lynch.

Lynch said the business-industry group campaign takes the longest to complete, thus the reason for the early start.

The 1974 goal has been set at $27,000 and President Lynch has expressed optimism at reaching that figure, but has stated the campaign is still too young to make any solid predictions.

The Chest's Board of Directors will meet at 8 a.m. Tuesday, Oct. 9, in the Chamber of Commerce office to review the campaign to date.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two sets of campaign financing reforms go before a bipartisan legislative committee today in hopes an agreement can be readied for a special session of the legislature.

Gov. John J. Gilligan unveiled his long-awaited proposals Tuesday, and they were similar to those of a six-member subcommittee which concluded its deliberations last week.

Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, is chairman of the 14-member Legislative Service Commission committee named at Gilligan's request to try to come up with an agreed bill. It consists of seven Republicans and seven Democrats.

Aronoff named the subcommittee of three Democrats and three Republicans Sept. 28 after Gilligan set the special session for the week of Oct. 22 and listed campaign financing and election reform as top priorities.

The extraordinary session may consider only those things set forth in the governor's official proclamation for the special session. It is expected in a few days.

Gilligan's recommendations, speculated over since he announced the special session three weeks ago, place what he called "long needed controls" on campaign contributions and expenditures. He said Tuesday their enactment would be a "major step forward in the fight to restore the confidence of the people of this state in their public officials and candidates for public office."

Sen. Paul R. Matia, R-28 Westlake, chairman of the subcommittee, is submitting basically the same "principles" as those contained in the Gilligan bill but the senator said the subcommittee preposes legislation "much more comprehensive" than the governor's.

Both sets of proposals are about the same in restricting the amount candidates may spend for office, the amounts individuals and organizations may give to parties and candidates, and requiring that expenditures be authorized by a single committee or treasurer. There are key differences, however.

Matia's subcommittee proposed that contributions coming from an individual, organization, or association, and going to a political candidate may not exceed $3,000 in any election.

The Gilligan proposal would do the same thing, but provide that organizational and associations would be exempt from the $3,000 limit if the funds represent contributions from members contributing no more than $10 each.

Gilligan said the exemption is designed "to encourage small contributors to become involved in the election process." Matia said he saw the exemption as a "huge loophole" that "obviously is in there to take care of the governor."

The subcommittee would allow

Mass slaying arrests made

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Two men wanted in the January mass execution of seven Hanafi Moslems in a Washington, D.C., home are jailed in Jacksonville in lieu of $500,000 bond each.

The FBI announced that it had arrested John Wesley Griffin, 28, and William Christian, 29, in a Jacksonville apartment on Tuesday.

Along with five other persons, Griffin and Christian have been indicted on charges of murdering the seven Moslems, five of them children, in a Washington home owned by professional basketball star Kareem AbdulJabbar.

The FBI said Christian and Griffin, both formerly of Philadelphia, apparently had been living in Jacksonville since August. It said the men, both black, were in possession of a pistol when arrested, but did not offer resistance. They were arraigned before a U.S. magistrate.

The northwest Washington home in which the slayings occurred on Jan. 18 was used as a headquarters for the Hanafi Moslem sect.

Police described the slayings as an execution and members of the Hanafi sect, which claims 1,000 members, charged they were the work of Black Muslims angered over Hanafi criticism of Muslim leader Elijah Muhammed.

The seven Hanafi victims, all of them black, were found in mid-afternoon, and police said at least four black men were seen running from the residence, which is in a fashionable neighborhood.

Two women, including the daughter of Dr. Reginal Hawkins, a North Carolina civil rights leader, also were shot but survived.

Wayne Hidy elected Farm Bureau chief

Officers for the coming year were elected for the Fayette County Farm Bureau Tuesday as only one of the highlights of the annual meeting of the Board of Directors.

Wayne Hidy was named president to succeed Richard Davidson; Richard Carson, vice president, and Mrs. Allan Myers, secretary.

Top priority was given to Issue No. 1 during the business session. Issue No. 1, which will come up for a vote at the Nov. 6 election, provides for a revision of the state tax structure to assess farm land on the basis of its present use and not its potential value. So vital to the farmers is this issue considered that the board voted a contribution of $1,000 to the campaign to promote its passage.

The board also voted to back the Fayette County Health Department's .2-mill levy and the Miami Trace District junior high school improvement and building programs.

In other action the board heard a report on the Southwest Regional educational meeting at Heuston Woods Lodge near Oxford by Mr. and Mrs. Rudy LeBeau and on the checkoff for a soybean promotion program by Norman Scheiring. No action was taken on the soybean checkoff proposal.

IT WAS announced that the women's committee will meet Nov. 13 for luncheon in the Terrace Lounge to consider plans for the coming year.

New members of the board elected this year by the township Farm Bureaus include Martin Smith, Concord Twp.; Hugh Wilson, Green Twp.; James Paisley, Jasper Twp.; Richard Owens, Jefferson Twp.; and Ronald McCoy, Wayne Twp.

Other members of the board whose terms did not expire this year are Mrs. Robert Garland, Mrs. Dwight Duff and Mrs. Allan Myers, all elected at-large; Ron Burke, youth representative; and John Bernard, Union Twp., Robert Taylor, Paint Twp. and Malcolm Bloomer, Marion Twp. President Hidy also represents Madison Township, Vice President Carson, Perry Township, and Mrs. Myers, Concord Township.

Six committee chairmen were named and approved: Mr. and Mrs. Rudy LeBeau, young couples; Richard Davidson, public affairs; Norman Scheiring, marketing; Mrs. Wayne Hidy, women's committee; Mrs. Marion Waddle, public information; and Walter Garman, organizational director.

Roosevelt denies story

WASHINGTON (AP) — Elliott Roosevelt, son of former President Franklin D. Roosevelt, was expected to deny to a Senate panel today any role in an alleged plot to assassinate the prime minister of The Bahamas.

Convicted stock swindler Louis P. Mastriana, 51, told the government operations permanent investigations subcommittee two weeks ago that Roosevelt and Haitian casino operator Michael McLaney once offered him $100,000 to kill Prime Minister Lynden O. Pindling.

Roosevelt has called the accusation "an utter and complete fabrication." He returned from his Lisbon, Portugal, ranch to appear before the subcommittee.

McLaney also strongly denies the accusation.

Mastriana testified the offer was made in 1968 because the prime minister had failed to grant McLaney a gambling license after McLaney contributed nearly $1 million to Pindling's political cmpaign.

A cold front, which stretched across the Dakotas early today is forecast to push eastward over Lake Michigan by Thursday morning, bringing increasing cloudiness to the Buckeye State.

Showers are likely Thursday night and Friday as the front moves into the state.

A few light showers were reported over southeastern Ohio last night as the western edge of the showers which dampened the state for the past two days moved slowly to the east.

Elsewhere over the state clear to partly cloudy skies were reported overnight. Fog formed in some spots as the mercury fell into the 50s.

Temperatures will remain mild through Thursday with highs in the 70s and low 80s. Lower temperatures are forecast for Friday and the weekend as cooler, drier air spreads southeastward from Canada.

Storms rip Mississippi Valley area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms whipped by 80-mile-per-hour winds and laced with hail hit the middle Mississippi Valley early today.

The storms were triggered by moisture-laden air fanning northward from the Gulf of Mexico where a band of showers and thundershowers Wednesday damped areas from Texas to the Atlantic coastal plain.

Hailstones reached a diameter of two inches near Kirksville, Mo., about midnight and almost an inch of rain fell in one hour.

A few light showers sprinkled the northern Plains and light thundershowers dotted areas from the lower Great Lakes region to the Eastern Seaboard.

Temperatures dipped below freezing in the northern Rockies in contrast to Wednesday's record heat in Texas. The mercury hit 96 at El Paso, a record high for the month of October and two degrees above the old mark. A record 94 parched Amarillo, Tex.

Some snow was expected at higher elevations in the central Rockies.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 27 at Missoula, Mont. to 80 at Key West, Fla.

Gasoline dealer stages own protest against price boost

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP) — Bob Smith figured enough was enough. The bill handed him by the Atlantic Richfield Co. gasoline truck driver was $130.65 higher than the month before.

So while the huge rig was sending its 8,800 gallons of gas into Smith's underground tanks, the owner of Smith's Arco decided to demonstrate his displeasure.

He had three gas station employes move a junk car in behind the rig, take off the car's wheels and put it up on jack stands. Then Smith, a bearded, feisty fellow, drove his pickup truck in front of the rig, took out the spark plugs and drained the oil.

Smith, smiling all the while, told the truck driver, Lou Henry, that he had work to do on his pickup.

Henry telephoned his superiors Monday afternoon to tell them that Smith—the same guy who turned his gas station into a lemonade stand last month to protest high gas prices—was at it again.

Arco executives began showing up at Smith's place, but Bob kept on tinkering with his truck. Finally, Jacob F. Straub Jr., manager for distribution of Arco's Pacific Southwest area, drove down to Costa Mesa, a city 60 miles south of Los Angeles.

Smith offered Straub some fried chicken, but he didn't move his truck.

"Shut it (the truck) down," shouted Straub to Henry, who by this time was sitting in Smith's office, eating fried chicken and reading girlie magazines. "Lock it up," Straub said, pointing to the truck. "Let's go home for dinner."

After an hour of arguing without the police taking action—"he hasn't broken any law," said one officer—the five-hour long episode ended when Smith suddenly found the right spark plugs, poured oil back into his truck and told Straub he'd had enough.

"I think I got my point across," Smith said Tuesday.

"As far as I'm concerned, the so-called gas shortage is a farce by the major oil companies. There's plenty of gas to go around. Well, I was getting tired of paying higher and higher prices."

Total of 15 charges filed against youth

The 17-year-old Washington C.H. boy, arrested by the police Monday after they found over $350 worth of stolen guns at his residence, has been charged with 10 counts of breaking and entering and five counts of larceny.

His case will be heard at 3 p.m. Thursday in Fayette County Juvenile Court.

In addition to the breaking and entering and larceny counts, two previous charges, speeding and sniffing spray paint, will be heard.

The charges against him are breaking and entering and larceny at Sollars Brothers July 6; a B&E at Sollars Brothers July 9; B&E and larceny at Sunshine Laundry July 14; B&E and larceny at the Montgomery Ward Tire Shop Aug. 18; B&E and larceny at Moore's Store Sept. 3; B&E and larceny at Baker Construction Co. Sept. 4; B&E at Landmark Elevator Sept. 9; B&E of coin-operated machine at Landmark Elevator Sept. 10; sniffing spray paint Sept.10; speeding Sept.18; and B&E of coin-operated machine and larceny at Montgomery Ward Tire Shop Sept. 20.

OFFENSES reported to police Tuesday were widely varied.

Dwight Aills, 814 Leesburg Ave., reported that a bicycle was stolen from his residence Sunday night.

Super Shoe Mart, 120 N. Fayette St., reported receiving a bad check. Efforts to contact the writer have failed.

Rose Bennington, Bloomingburg, advised police that someone ran a shopping cart into her car at the Washington Square parking lot, causing moderate damage.

Dianne Howland, 527 Third St., reported that someone broke into her home and took a figurine.

Mrs. Edward Hunt, 508 Rawlings St., advised police that a mink cape was missing from her residence.

organizations and associations to exceed the $3,000 limitation only if members were allowed to earmark their donation for a party or candidate of their choice. Gilligan would provide that the $10 contributions could be spent for the party or candidate of an organization's policy choice, said Robert Tenenbaum, Gilligan's press secretary.

Besides that difference, there were at least two other areas which Matia said Gilligan neglected. These would outlaw political kickbacks from auto license registrars and package store liquor operators and guard against public employe "slush" funds.

The senator said, however, that despite the differences he feels there is room for negotiations and that "there is a good chance for some very drastic reforms."

Gilligan might be expected to get about what he asks from the Democratic-controlled House, but doubtless will have to make some concessions in the Republican-controlled Senate.

Here are the similarities of the Gilligan and Matia proposals:

—Both would require a single committee to make expenditures, except Gilligan would further restrict it to a designated treasurer who would be personally liable for irregularities. Matia would restrict the receipt of contributions to the same committee. Gilligan would allow regional committees to receive funds only.

—Each candidate would have to appoint a campaign treasurer, except the governor's bill would allow a candidate who plans to spend less than $500 to name himself treasurer.

—Contributions by a candidate, any individual, or any organization to a candidate would be limited to $3,000 at any election. There would be no limit to contributions to a party under Matia's proposal. Gilligan would limit party contributions to $3,000 a calendar year.

—Campaign committees would be limited as follows:

For governor, the subcommittee would set the limit at 10 cents per Ohio resident for both the primary and general election, or about $2.2 million in 1974. Gilligan would permit spending of 10 cents for a general election, but only five cents for primaries for a total of $1.6 million.

For other state-wide offices, the subcommittee recommends 1½ cents per resident, or about $150,000 in each election with a $300,000 total. The governor recommends two cents a voter in each election for a $400,000 total.

Both the subcommittee and Gilligan arrived at comparable limits on candidates for district and local offices. An average candidate for state representative, for instance, would be allowed to spend a total of no more than about $16,000 in both elections. The subcommittee provided more detailed recommendations, with separate figures for candidates for the judiciary.

Candidates for the Ohio Supreme Court, who would come under those from statewide office in Gilligan's bill, could spend a total of $50,000 under the subcommittee proposal.

Otherwise, both provide for pre-election filing of expenses and contributions to disclose sources received late in the campaign.

Gilligan would require statements to be filed 40 days before, 10 days before, and 60 days after any election, with the same office at which a candidate filed his petitions.

The Matia group would require filing as of the close of business on the 15th day preceding an election, and 45 days after.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to climb today as investors took cheer in lower interest rates and some signs the 1974 economy might not be as sluggish as expected.

Advances held a 2 to 1 edge over declines in heavy trading on the New York Stock Exchange. The Big Board's composite index of 1,500 common stocks was ahead .02 to 58.77.

On the American Stock Exchange the market-value index had risen .59 to 107.21.

Goodyear Tire, the Big Board's most-active issue, fell ¾ to 23⅛ after disclosing that 1973 earnings would be lower than last year's. IBM, which is appealing a multimillion-dollar antitrust judgement against it, slid 5⅞ to 249⅝ after a 69,900-share block traded at 249½.

Poaching fish in dishwasher easy, Farmer's Almanac says

LEWISTON, Maine (AP) — Know how to poach a fish in your dishwasher?

Dot the fish with butter and sprinkle with parsley; wrap in heavy aluminum foil. Place the fish in the dishwasher and let it run through the whole cycle. The fish should be perfectly poached at the end of that time.

At least that's what it says in the 157th edition of the Farmer's Almanac, which is just off the presses.

"You have to make sure the washer maintains heat of 160- to-180 degrees," said almanac editor Ray Geiger. "The process works beautifully. I've tried it." The 1974 edition of the almanac contains other unusual tidbits of information, such as how to tell time on Mars and how to avoid being struck by lightning.

The Farmer's Almanac is sold to commercial concerns, which pass it on free to customers as advertising material.

Geiger, in his 40th year as editor, describes his almanac as "an antidote to pornography," and says his greatest contribution has been to put "a good, wholesome magazine" in millions of homes.

The conservatism of the almanac "is probably a little too much for the way most people live now, but it definitely has its place," said the 63-year-old Geiger. He said in his four decades of editing the almanac's circulation has climbed from 86,000 to 5 million.

Weatherwise, the latest edition of the 48-page booklet predicts a snowier, colder winter than last year. Besides the weather, recipes, jokes, household hints and farming data line the almanac's pages.

Another feature is a brief comment on the origin of kissing. The almanac says it derived from a craving for salt and the cave man found that he could get salt by licking his neighbor's cheek.

"He quickly found it more interesting if the neighbor was female," Geiger said. "Then everybody forgot about salt."

Drinking in the Army

The chief of the Army's alcohol and drug policy division has offered some shocking figures on drinking among officers and enlisted men. His figures also serve to remind us that, as in American society generally, alcohol abuse far outruns narcotics abuse as a problem to be dealt with.

The Army's drinking problem is even worse, proportionately, than that of society at large. Brig Gen. Leslie R. Forney Jr. has told a House Armed Services subcommittee that 20 per cent of the officers in a representative sampling of Army personnel were considered heavy, or "binge," drinkers. Another 16 per cent of the officers, he said, were put down as problem drinkers.

With regard to enlisted men the situation is almost unbelievably bad, according to the Army's alcohol and drug policy chief. Thirty-one per cent of those surveyed were placed in the heavy or binge drinker class; 39 per cent were classified as problem drinkers. That rounds out to 70 per cent.

Even when allowances are made for the fact that this was a random sampling, not a carefully weighed scientific study, the results come as a shock. The evidence of heavy drinking makes drug abuse appear to be a comparatively minor problem in the Army. This is not to say that the drug problem can be shrugged off; not a bit of it. But it seems clear that even more emphasis than at present should be given to curbing excessive use of alcohol. An institution in which such a high percentage of personnel drink too much has a serious problem.

Boorstin's underground history

For more than 15 years, Prof. Daniel J. Boorstin — who was most recently director of the National Museum of History and Technology of the Smithsonian Institution, and professor of history at the University of Chicago for 25 previous years — has been at work on his special vision of the development of American civilization.

The first two volumes: "The Americans — the Colonial Experience;" and "The Americans — the National Experience" (Random House) took Boorstin's story up to the 20th Century.

Now the final volume; "The Americans — the Democratic Experience;" is out, and predictable the center of controversy. It has been denounced as an annotated catalogue of the Museum of Science and Industry, and Boorstin has been criticized as an eccentric who simply doesn't know what history is all about.

AT FIRST READING, there is a certain persuasiveness about the critiques. What can one make of a volume about the "Democratic Experience" that never remotely touches on politics? If one confined his historical analysis of our social history to a reading of Boorstin, Thomas Alva Edison would loom over Franklin D. Rossevelt as a principal figure in the transformation of American society.

If there is any reference to ideological conflicts in this volume, I have missed it — and I am a very close reader. Does Boorstin really then believe that the "packaging revolution" in foodstuffs was more significant than the Fair Labor Standards Act?,

Simple-minded reviewers seemed to think so, but their problem is that they have never grasped Boorstin's overview, which is most cogently presented in his volume on "The Colonial Experience."

There is a fundamental theoretical posture: Boorstin is one of the most talented anti-intellectual intellectuals since St. Augustine. He considers ideology to be clap-trap, and is convinced that the strength of American society has precisely developed from the average American's total lack of interest in high theory.

Americans, he persistently emphasizes, are "Go Getters," people ready at the drop of a hat to chuck historical luggage overboard and start from square one.

Here a classic example was John Wesley Hyatt, who invented celluloid. "Since he was not a chemist (Boorstin writes), he did not realize that he might easily have blown himself up by heating guncotton under pressure, and he had not been discouraged by the earlier failures of English plastics chemists, because he did not even know of them."

PUT IN its proper conceptual context, what Boorstin has written is an underground history of American civilization. Never a man to hedge his bets, he has, with, one suspects, a certain perverse joy, ruthlessly put down the political process.

This at times leads him to fall out of the other side of the bed and sound like a technological determinist (like Karl Marx, who observed a demonstration of electricity in 1851 and wrote his friend Engels, "Electricity will give us socialism.").

But the fundamental thrust of his argument is clear: Americans achieved what they did by pragmatic techniques, not by cosmological insights.

Although I obviously disagree strongly with a number of Boorstin's premises, I have always found his work fascinating and some of his incidental insights — which are casually thrown off — positively stunning.

This series is not easy reading, but I strongly recommend it as an antidote to the works of others (including me) who tend to treat the development of American civilization as a process conducted almost exclusively in the political arena.

Besides, who knows? In the year 3000 Edison may in retrospect seem to have been a far greater figure than FDR.

Watergate and the pitiable Cubans

In spite of the fact that there was no solid justification, either moral or pragmatic, for the Watergate tapping expedition, E. Howard Hunt Jr. came out of the Ervin committee hearings with some shred of dignity. He thought he was going to find evidence of foreign, meaning Castroite Cuban, tampering with the U.S. electoral process, which establishes the patriotic character of his motivation.

The thinking behind this was, of course, more or less brainless: why would Democratic Committee boss Larry O'Brien, a real pro, leave identifiable Castroite checks in a Watergate cash box or permit any long-distance telephone conversations with Havana to be carried on over his wire?

The Hunt assumption of stupidity on the part of O'Brien's pros in the period before the McGovern takeover was itself stupid.

Nevertheless Hunt remains a pitiable figure: he thought he was doing something for the good of his country.

SINCE a romanticism based on ignorance is no excuse for lawbreaking, Hunt presumably deserves some sort of sentence. But what about Bernard L. Barker and the other Miami, Fla., residents with the anti-Castro Cuban connections who had been recruited by Hunt for the Watergate break-in? They are even more pitiable than Hunt, who allowed them to believe they were doing a legally sanctioned job for the U.S. Hunt himself apparently believed that the operation was "plugged in" to the FBI through G. Gordon Liddy, a former FBI agent.

The reason for Barker's participation in the Watergate fiasco comes clear in Hunt's new book, "Give Us This Day," which is hot off the press at Arlington House Publishers in New Rochelle, N.Y. Hunt was sent to the Miami area to maintain a CIA connection with the anti-Castro political community while the Bay of Pigs expedition was shaping up at a coffee finca, or plantation, in the mountains of Guatemala.

In a remarkable article in National Review, Miles Copeland, a former CIA man, says that Hunt was never a real CIA agent. According to Copeland, Hunt was just a "desk man whose operational experience consisted of kibitzing, from an administrative standpoint, some of the operations into Cuba." Hunt doesn't tell it this way himself, but this is neither here nor there insofar as Bernard Barker is concerned.

Barker was Hunt's assistant in handling the anti-Castro Cubans in Miami. An Air Force veteran of World War II, he had survived a German prison camp and had returned to Havana after 1945 with his Cuban wife. The CIA persuaded him to join the Havana police force in order to keep track of Cuban antisubversive activities. He thereby lost his U.S. citizenship, but he did yeoman work for the cause of freedom by exfiltrating refugees from the Castro tyranny.

NATURALLY BARKER was gun-ho about the Eisenhower decision to help the anti-Castro exiles capture a beachhead and raise Cuba against the Communists. He loyally served Hunt and the CIA in Miami. "Many days," so Hunts writes, "he was with me around the clock, and overall his help was invaluable."

Being the loyal man he was, loyal to the anti-Castro cause, loyal to U.S. interests as he saw them, and loyal to Hunt as a friend, Barker was easily recruited for Watergate. He conveyed his enthusiasm to the Miami Cubans who agreed to help. They all thought the U.S., by assuming the duty of exposing Castroite interference in the 1972 election, was about to pay an overdue installment on the debt owed the veterans of the Bay of Pigs expedition for exposing them on the beach by cancellation of a supporting air strike.

Hunt's story of his personal involvement in the Bay of Pigs expedition is fascinating. Whether it is an over-romanticized version is a question that won't be rosolved until ex-CIA man Richard Bissell writes his memoirs. But it does establish one thing: if Barker and the Cubans are socked with cruel and unusual punishment for their role in Watergate it will set the seal on Uncle Sam's unlovely reputation for doing in his friends.

Female driver old enough

MONROE, Ind. (AP) — A young-looking female driver escaped a traffic ticket near here recently without saying too much, State Police Trooper Ronald Goff reports.

Goff said he stopped a car on Interstate 65 that appeared to be driven by a small girl.

He said he approached the car and asked to see her driver's license, explaining that she was stopped because she didn't look old enough to drive a car.

The woman unzipped the front of her outfit, Goff noted, threw back her shoulders and demanded, "Does that look like I'm old enough?"

The evidence was solidly in her favor, Goff said.

Hal Boyle . . . Remarks for auto salesmen

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a used car salesman gets tired of hearing:

"Just tell me one thing, Jake. If I buy it, will you guarantee it'll get me as far as the first stop light?"

"I know you told me you got it from a little old lady who only drove it to church on Sundays, Jake, but how many telephone poles did she hit on the way?"

"I've looked over all the cars on this lot. Did you fix them up for sale — or for burial?"

"Do you give green stamps?"

"It doesn't have to be anything special. I'm giving it to my brother-in-law as a present in return for his promise to leave town."

"I'm just a little old lady who wants a car only so I can drive to and from the place where I cash my welfare check. Do you have anything fire-red in a sports model?"

"Will there be any extra charge if I ask for hub caps on it?"

"I don't like to complain, Jake. But when your mechanic put together that last car you sold me, he must have run a little short of bailing wire."

"Are you sure this car is in perfect running condition? If it is, then why did a back tire fall off when I kicked one of the front tires?"

"After a test drive of this car, Jake, I'm sure it won't do. When I drove by a junkyard, it stopped automatically — as if it had been there before."

"If you bought this car from a little old lady, Jake, she must have been a little bit lit every time she got behind the wheel."

"Yeah, Jake has been known to return money to a dissatisfied customer, but only up to a point — gunpoint."

"I haven't seen a rumble seat in 30 years, even in a used car, Jake. Why don't you try to sell this model to a museum?"

"Jake says he stands behind every car he sells — but that's because he doesn't trust their brakes."

"I notice this wire wheels, Jake. Is that something new?"

"I'm 17 and just got my driver's license. My Dad says if I want a car, I'll have to buy it myself. Do you have anything I could get for $10 down and $2.50 a month the rest of my life?"

"I can't pay you $2,500 for that used limousine, but will you rent it to me for this afternoon? I want to drive it to a funeral and impress my wife's relatives."

"Yes, it's true that Jake got that car from a little old lady who only drove it to church But the little old lady is Jake's mother, and Jake's own son used to borrow it from her and go joyriding in it every night of the week."

"Jake buys a new car every year for his own use and trades the old one in to another dealer who pays him more for it than Jake would give himself."

"No, I never said you weren't a reliable dealer, Jake. All I said was that I never heard of anybody in the White House ever buying a used car from you by mail."

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Reader wants to know why people smoke

DEAR ABBY: My wife said she saw a grown woman walking down the street with a pacifier in her mouth! I said she must have been trying to quit smoking, otherwise she'd feel too silly to go out in public that way.

My wife and I were both heavy smokers, but we recently gave it up because we wanted to experience the joy of breathing through clean lungs again and rediscover our senses of taste and smell.

I said I could understand that woman's walking around with a pacifier in her mouth. She was replacing one bad habit with one that was less damaging.

Abby, why do you think people smoke? Is it a nervous habit? Is it an infantile compulsion to have something in their mouths to comfort them? Or is it simply an unconscious death wish?

QUIT IN CLARKSBURG

DEAR QUIT: Most young people begin to smoke because they think it makes them look "grown up" or smart, or to emulate someone they admire. Some smoke to keep another smoker company. They continue to smoke because they "enjoy" the feeling of relaxation it gives them (at first) and many say it keeps their weight down. Then they become addicted. (Nicotine is habit-forming, and don't let anyone tell you it isn't.) The "unconscious-death-wish theory" is also valid. Anyone who persists in doing that which he knows could be his undoing is unconsciously hastening his end.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are both retired We've been married for three years. It's his second marriage, and mine, too. He is good to me in every way. We enjoy having company, but my friends are not used to swearing, and neither am I.

If someone says: "Isn't it a lovely day?" he says: "You're g-d right it is!"

He greets people with, "Well, I'm a s.o.b., if it isn't George!"

Abby, I deplore that kind of language, and I've told him about it, but to no avail. I don't want to nag him because it wouldn't do any good, and would only make him irritable. I am so embarrassed before my friends.

He reads your column. Maybe you can say something to make him more careful. If it weren't for this one fault, he would be perfect. And I do adore him.

ASHAMED

DEAR ASHAMED: My advice to you is gently to tell this otherwise perfect man to watch his language. Nobody's perfect, and much as I dislike cursing, there are worse faults.

DEAR ABBY: After 23 years, my wife and I agreed to a friendly divorce.

I have long owned a choice corner lot which is convenient to my work. It happens to be right next door to a long-time friend of my ex-wife.

I am planning to build a home there, but I have run into a slight problem. Rumors are circulating through my soon to be a new neighborhood about the "wild parties" I'll be having, etc., so I have made some minor changes in my house, eliminating ALL windows on the side of the house facing the neighbors.

Do you think I'm making a mistake?

PERPLEXED IN OHIO

DEAR PERPLEXED: Possibly. Eliminating the windows might create the impression that you've something to hide. Also, on the practical side, consider what it might do to the resale value.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC's latest contributions to television law and order, "The Magician" and "Police Story," got underway last night. The first was a bad fantasy in need of a magic wand the size of a baseball bat.

But "Police Story," created by Sgt. Joseph Wambaugh of the Los Angeles Police Department, was an entirely different matter. It was that rarest of all television birds—a good, solid cop show.

I don't know if it's because Wambaugh is story consultant on the series, but the show omitted two things that are standard gear on most police shows—frequent gunfire and 90-mile-an-hour chase scenes.

If this keeps up, other television writers may accuse Wambaugh of pandering to crass realism.

The opening "Police Story" rolled out a crisp, few-punches-pulled yarn about a black pimp named Snake McKay and his profitable stable of prostitutes in Los Angeles.

James Farentino starred—the series has no regular cast—as an undercover cop assigned to get the goods on Snake, played to oily, double-crossing, jive-talking perfection by Fred Williamson.

In the show, Farentino poses as a pimp who needs six beauties from McKay's stable for a deal in Hawaii and Japan. And he meets Snake's top aide and house madam, portrayed by Elizabeth Ashley.

He gives her a big, con-artist rush, only to find himself attracted to her and she to him. Which makes it a bit sticky, since his off-duty hours are spent with a divorcee (Janet Margolin) who wants marriage.

This also could have proved a bit sticky in the dialogue department, but the scenes worked reasonably well—each a nicely etched, bittersweet vignette about the emotional conflicts of being a cop.

It was a well-acted, fast-moving show and seems off to a fine start. The exact opposite is true of "The Magician," which preceded "Police Story" and wasted the talents of Bill Bixby, cast as a prestidigator who hates injustice.

He should have thrown a rabbit at the author of last night's mess, which concerned a crusading columnist's attempt to expose the gambling operation of a crime syndicate in California.

The show also introduced three regulars. They were (a) the crusading columnist; (b) the columnist's crippled son, who is confined to a wheel chair; and (c) the pilot of the magician's Boeing 707 jetliner, which transports the magician around and about.

The names of these regulars are being withheld to protect the innocent, which is them.

Couple take vows

MR. AND MRS. H. MARK JORDAN

Miss Mariann Schwaigert and H. Mark Jordan were united in marriage in St. Andrew's Episcopal Church. Miss Schwaigert is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Schwaigert of near Washington C.H., and Mr. and Mrs. Bart Jordan of Mt. Gilead are the parents of the groom.

Preceding the wedding ceremony, Mrs. John P. Case, organist, and Mrs. Roger Craven of Mt. Gilead, vocalist and sister of the groom, presented a half-hour of nuptial music.

Dr. Leroy Davis performed the double ring candlelight ceremony and Holy Communion service Sept. 8 before the altar which was centered with a sun-burst arrangement of rose, orchid and lavender gladiolas, asters, daisies, statice and carnations. The altar was graced by a pair of seven-branched candelabra, trimmed with emerald fern and centered with white satin bows. The aisles were flanked with candelabra trimmed with white satin bows and leather leaf fern.

Geven in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a white formal length gown of Mandel lace with white satin woven ribbon over white delustered bridal satin. The bodice was accented by a bias bound low neckline and a sheer lace ruffle. The skirt fell from a fitted midriff ending in a sheer lace ruffle. The long set-in sleeves were gathered to deep buttoned cuffs enhanced by tiny pearl buttons. Her veil was a delicately flocked chapel-length Mexican lace mantilla, a gift from Mrs. Heber Roe and Mrs. Gordon Brown, aunt and cousin of the bride, both of San Antonio, Tex. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearsl. She carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias and butterfly white roses with English ivy showers on her prayerbook.

The Misses Peggy and Polly Wood were the maids of honor. Mrs. Mike Flynn was the bride's matron of honor; Miss Beth Pieratt, cousin of the bride of Burbank, Calif., was the bridesmaid. The attendants wore gowns fashioned like that of the bride except in colors of pink, blue, light green and lavender respectively. Their jewelry was a silver and pearl wedding bell pendant, a gift from the bride. Each carried a wicker garden basket of yellow and blue and pink Marguerite daisies, pink miniature carnations, purple statice and babies' breath tied with rainbow satin showers. They also wore matching headpieces.

Paul Jordan, brother of the groom from Huntington, W. Va., served as best man. The groomsmen were Dan Jordan, of Downers Grovce, Ill., brother of the groom, Brant Jordan, of Mt. Gilead, cousin of the groom, and David Forsthoffer of Columbus. Randy Knox was an usher.

During the Recessional, the bride and groom presented each of their mothers with a white rose.

The bride's mother chose a formal length long sleeved gown of turquoise crepe accented by a white lace collar continuing into a lace inset panel down the front of the gown and lace trimmed cuffs, with crystal accessories. She wore a corsage of white gardenias. The groom's mother wore a formal length long sleeved gown of pink chiffon trimmed with rhinestones and silver accessories. She wore a purple-throated white cattleya orchid.

Mrs. Walter S. Fults, a close friend of the bride's family, was attired in a formal length gown of dark turquoise crepe with matching accessories. Mrs. Andrew Loudner, aunt of the bride, wore a lime-green knit dress and jacket ensemble. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

A reception was held in Parish Hall following the ceremony. The bride's table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake decorated in colors worn by the attendants. A colonial nosegay of mixed garden flowers topped the bridal cake encircled with green leather fern and flanked by crystal bud vases with bridal pink roses and babies' breath, and crystal double candelabra with white tapers. A crystal punch bowl completed the setting.

Hostesses for the reception were Mrs. James Wilson, aunt of the bride, and the Misses Carol and Karen Schwaigert, twin cousins of the bride, all of Columbus; Mrs. Paul M. Pieratt, aunt of the bride, Burbank, Calif.; Miss Mindy Mace of Bloomingburg; Miss Donna Athey and Miss Teresa Persinger of Milledgeville; and Miss Janelle Donohue. Miss Diane Morrow of New Holland, presided at the guest book.

Mr. and Mrs. Bart Jordan, parents of the groom, entertained the bridal party at a rehearsal dinner at the Terrace Lounge the evening preceding the wedding.

The new Mrs. Jordan, a graduate of Miami Trace High School, attended Ohio State and Kent State Universities. She is employed at Lazarus in Columbus, and will continue her studies at OSU.

Her husband, a graduate of Mt. Gilead High School, and a student at OSU is employed by United Parcel Service.

They are residing in Columbus.

DAR, D of 1812 hold joint luncheon at Wardells

The Daughters of the American Revolution were joined by the Daughters of 1812 for a noon luncheon at Wardell's Party Home, near Circleville, Monday.

Following the luncheon, Mrs. Dean Powell, chapter regent, called the business to order. Prayer and devotions were given by the acting chaplain, Mrs. Mable Briggs. Mrs. Marcus Prosch led the Pledge of Allegiance and the reading of the Star Spangled Banner. Mrs. Charles Ellis read the President's General Message and Mrs. Willard Bitzer the State Regent's Message.

Mrs. John Sagar, National Defense chairman, introduced Mrs. Merritt S. Huber, State Vice Regent as guest speaker. Her topic was "Our Beloved United States - Defend Our Great Nation."

Mrs. Huber stated that all should follow the American's Creed in defending this country, and to think what is good about America. One should have a positive attitude instead of a negative one, and with the same Constitution adopted in 1787, one has a great deal of which to be proud. Examples set by adults each day plays a part in the shaping of attitudes of others in the community. Speeding, littering and carelessness in dress, disregard for others rights, unkindness to elderly people, all contribute to the lower standards of citizenship. In a community where people care about each other, there is found a high regard for the duties to their country, she said.

Mrs. Huber told of various activities planned in parts of the United States in 1976 for the 200th anniversary of this nation. This will be a time for regeneration or pride in individual codes, a soaring of American spirit and celebration, she said.

Guests present besides Mrs. Huber of Bellsville, were Mrs. H.H. Haworth of Wilmington, state librarian; Mrs. William K. Kramer, of Chillicothe,, state parliamentarian; Mrs. Marie Mace, Mrs. Richard Orr, Mrs. Ray Smiley, Dayton; Mrs. Daisy Gillespie of New Holland; Mrs. L.M. Hayes, Mrs. Helen Kellenberger, Mrs. John Case, Miss Jean McCoy, Mrs. William Limes and Mrs. Bales of Circleville.

Hostesses for the day were Mrs. Harold Slagle, Mrs. Worley Melvin, Mrs. J. Earl McLean, Mrs. Marcis Prosch, Mrs. Vinton Smith, Mrs. J. Earl Giddings, Mrs. Henry Engle, Mrs. Deane Powell, Mrs. Loren Hynes, Mrs. Byron Hinton and Mrs. Glenn McCoy.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Willard Bitzer, Nov. 5. Members are asked to bring clothing for the mountain schools, and dues are payable.

Shultz policy a real mess, Galbraith says

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Based on his performance in dealing with inflation, said Prof. Kenneth Galbraith, a just reward for Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz would be a quick return to the University of Chicago as an assistant professor.

"Let him begin all over again," said Galbraith, the irreverent Harvard economist, of Shultz, the former Chicago economist and business school dean who now heads economic policy for the Nixon administration.

"Anyone who makes a mess of economic policy should be relieved and marked down as a failure," said Galbraith, a Democrat. He also nominated for retirement the chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, Herbert Stein.

The professor, who more than coincidentally is promoting his 17th book, "Economics & the Public Purpose," branded present economic policy as "the most inept since Herbert Hoover," and Shultz's impact as "zero."

"I think economists should be held responsible for their actions," he said, reminding a small group at an author's reception that when prices rose in World War II the public held the Office of Price Administration responsible.

Galbraith said current economic policy, which leans heavily on interest rates as a means of suppressing inflationary spending, involves a fraud.

"We do have controls," he conceded, "but they're administered by people who don't believe in them. It's like putting a prostitute in charge of the vice squad."

Taxation was considered politically unpopular, he said, partly because "increased taxes have to hit the higher spending brackets." And fiscal restraint as a means of controlling inflation, he said, is usually compromised by other considerations, such as defense.

"So this means they're conducting economic policy only on interest rates, running the economy on no controls other than those available to Herbert Hoover and saying that we have controls. This is where the fraud comes in."

Higher interest rates, he said, are discriminatory because the poor are borrowers and the rich lenders, and are uncertain in their impact.

A fundamental defect in the Shultz and Stein approach, he said, is that they base policy on their own optimistic forecasts.

In directing policy, he maintained, you cannot act on the basis of what you hope or expect but instead you should deal with realities, changing policy when the realities change.

Although he never had the opportunity to administer economic policy, even though he has served in several government positions and was influential in the Kennedy administration, Galbraith said he knows precisely what he would do if he were in charge now.

His basic program would consist of a tax increase on upper incomes, a stiff monetary policy and controls, with some form of aid to the jobless in the weakest areas of the economy.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

THURSDAY, OCT. 4

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Favorable influences stimulate your astuteness and your ability to "hold things together" — even groups of people. Be sure you are motivated by good intent.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Do not make changes arbitrarily, but do make them where they will bring improvement. You may have to make some detours, but the goals are still straight ahead.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Curb tendencies toward indecisiveness, lack of resolution. Even if situations are difficult, face them, pitch in — and solve!

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Especially favored now: lawyers, chemists, teachers, students. For all: a good time for a bit of daring— but with restraint.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Your best assets are your dynamic personality and your gift of salesmanship. Both should make this a fine day for you — IF you use them smartly.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Heed good suggestions, weigh all offerings; know when to accept and when to reject. Avoid extremes of any sort.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Be your inherently discriminating self now. It will be important to distinguish carefully between facts and theories; also between facts and rumors.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Day starts out brightly, and you can keep it that way, if you will. Just be careful not to let irresponsible persons lead you into unproductive activites.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

You could be tempted to turn from a profitable to an obstacle-ridden course. Avoid, by considering the whole picture — especially where the future is concerned.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Talk controversial issues over in a business-like, objective fashion, not permitting personalities to enter the fray. Pay no attention to those who have proved unreliable in the past.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Calmness and deliberation will keep you from making foolish moves, unwise decisions. Varied opinions on the same subject indicate a need for more study, investigation of facts.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Don't neglect responsibilities in favor of pastimes. Your innate good judgment should make this admonition almost unnecessary, but there are tendencies toward recklessness now.

YOU BORN TODAY are highly versatile, mentally active and exceptionally creative in all that you undertake. You are reserved, dignified and unusually intuitive. In fact, this intuition often becomes accurate foresight and tells you when to take important steps and this, combined with your forthright manner and objective thinking, can lead to tremendous success and contentment. Fields in which you could achieve notably: the law, statesmanship, music, literature, education, the theater. No matter what career you choose, however, you always give an artistic touch to the commonplace.

Neither sultan nor crazy; just putting on an act

KIRIKHAN, Southern Turkey (AP) — Judges in a courtroom in this provincial Turkish town looked at each other with some amazement when a man they had just convicted of assault leapt from the dock shouting, "I'm the Sultan, you have no right to convict me."

The last Sultan of Turkey was deposed 50 years ago.

The judges added a new conviction for contempt, saying Sevket Koldas had "tried to create the impression he was insane, thereby attempting to deceive the court."

Chief California muckraker arrested for 257th time

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — When self-proclaimed "muckraker-in-chief" Robert H. Simpson heard a repeal of the so-called Simpson law had been vetoed, he hurried to the Capitol and to his 257th arrest for picketing.

"I'm happy, happy, happy that he vetoed the bill," the 93-year-old Simpson said as he was led to a state police car Monday.

"Now I'll make them arrest me every damn day—twice a day, three times a day."

The "Simpson law" bans picketing inside the Capitol, and Simpson has been arrested consistently for violations of the law.

But he has been convicted only once and that's being appealed. He never has served time in jail.

California Gov. Ronald Reagan vetoed a bill which would have repealed the law, which was passed four years ago after a series of demonstrations in which crowds filled corridors and offices. Law enforcement officers say the law is needed because some picketers carry signposts that can be used as weapons.

Simpson uses only short strips of lath and cardboard.

"I will destroy Reagan," said the placards around his neck and tied to his chrome wheelchair and walking aid.

British-born Simpson, whose first picketing arrest was in front of the House of Commons in 1902, almost never mentions the origin of his present campaign. That was to protest a six-month internment in a mental hospital before he was found sane.

Modern farm costs $710,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Want to have a fully mechanized farm big enough to use all your talents and time? Be prepared to spend up to $710,000, says the Agriculture Department.

That is how much USDA says it would take to buy and equip an 800-acre corn-soybean farm in Indiana, including $480,000 for the land and $130,000 for other capital.

The figures are included in a new report called "The One Man Farm" published by the Economic Research Service. Various types of operations called "technically optimum" in size are described.

Some other examples include:

—Montana, wheat and barley farm, 1,960 acres, land value $245,000 and other capital $57,000;

—Kansas, wheat and grain sorghum, 1,950 acres, $200,000 in land and $55,000 in other capital;

—Louisiana, rice and soybeans, 360 acres, land value $108,000 and other capital $50,000;

—Mississippi delta area, cotton and soybeans, 600 acres, $255,000 in land value and other capital $80,000;

—California, irrigated cotton, 400 acres, land value $320,000 and other capital $64,000; and

—California, vegetables, 200 acres, land value $400,000 and other capital $85,000.

The report was aimed only at crop-producing farms and did not attempt to analyze livestock operations. For example, the report said, a 300-cow beef herd might requires 150 acres of irrigated pasture. If unirrigated pasture were used, the land requirements would be 900 to 1,500 acres in areas of high normal rainfall; 4,500 to 6,000 acres in dryland farming regions; and 27,000 to 36,000 acres in Southwest desert areas.

The author of the report was Warren R. Bailey, deputy director of the Commodity Economis Division of ERS. He explained the study this way:

"The optimum one-man farm represents the maximum acreage of a specified combination of crops that the man and his machines can produce — plant, cultivate and harvest — annually."

Red China ends U. N. truce with blast at U. S., Russia

UNITED NATONS, N.Y. (AP) — China has ended an undeclared big power truce at the United Nations with charges that U.S.-Soviet detente is a coverup for a "desperate struggle for nuclear superiority and world domination."

Rivalry between Moscow and Washington "now extends all over the world ... Their scramble is becoming increasingly fierce ... There is no tranquility in the world today ... only a travesty of peaceful coexistence," Chinese Deputy Foreign Minister Chiao Kuanhua told the General Assembly Tuesday.

The No. 2 man in the Soviet delegation, Vasily Safronchuk, took the floor to accuse Chiao of "turning facts upside down." By criticizing East-West relaxation, Safronchuk said the Chinese representative had tried "to divert the United Nations from a businesslike discussion of concrete problems and to hinder its work" without presenting any program of his own.

If Moscow is so anxious to relax world tension, Chiao said, "why don't you show your good faith by withdrawing your armed forces from Czechoslovakia or Mongolia" or by returning the four islands taken from Japan at the end of World War II.

Shifting his attack to the United States, Chiao said the Vietnamese people had achieved "a great victory against U.S. aggression," and this "once again proved that imperialism and all reactionaries are paper tigers."

Murder probe grows wider

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An AWOL soldier, already charged with murder by Virginia authorities, faces an additional murder charge in Pennsylvania, Lawrence County officials say.

Asst. Dst. Atty. Paul Johnson said Tuesday that a murder charge would be filed against Jack Paul Reali, 25, a Vietnam veteran. Police here say has told them of his involvement in six killings in Virginia and Ohio.

Johnson said Reali would be charged with the death of Michael Oley, 45, of Struthers, Ohio, whose nude body was found in a quarry near Hillsville, Lawrence County.

Police said they also suspect Reali in the slaying of another Struthers man, John Conner, 64, who was found clad only in a sweatshirt in Mahoning Township last March.

An investigation to determine in which state Conner was killed is continuing, New Castle state police said.

Reali, who sometimes spells his name Reale, was arrested in suburban Natrona Heights Sept. 23 after he tried to commandeer an auto. He has been AWOL from Monroe, Va., since last Tuesday, officials said.

Allegheny County detectives said Reali told them of his involvement in six murders while they were questioning him last weekend.

The information led Hampton, Va., authorities to charge Reali Monday with the strangulation death of George Nicholson, 70.

Investigation is continuing into Reali's information concerning three other deaths in Virginia, police said. He is lodged in Allegheny County Jail and is awaiting extradition to Virginia.

Lions Club bulb sale adds $1,000 to welfare fund

The Washington C.H. Lions Club cleared approximately $1,000 on its house-to-house light bulb sale Sept. 18, Wiley Witherspoon, the sale chairman, reported at a meeting Tuesday night.

The Lions sell light bulbs and brooms in alternate years as one of their major money-making projects; others are the annual variety show and the sale of race programs at the Fair.

Proceeds from the light bulb sale, like those from the other projects, go to support the club's sight-saving and community betterment programs.

At the business session, conducted by President David Looker following dinner in the Country Club, 35 members were presented pins for perfect attendance at meetings during the past year.

After adjournment, a National Football League film, showing some of the spectacular pass catches in professional football games, was shown. The program was arranged by Ralph Cook, committee chairman.

EPA program moving ahead

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The head of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency says the government anti-pollution program is "moving ahead vigorously with a funding program of unprecedented scope...consistent with the overall budget."

EPA Administrator Russell E. Train defended the administration's water pollution control policies in a speech Tuesday before a session of the Water Pollution Control Federation.

He said although "we are not spending at levels authorized by Congress, we have accelerated spending at a rapid rate."

Federal spending for water treatment facilities is "15 times higher this year than four years ago," he said.

Congress has authorized expenditure of $11 billion in fiscal 1973 and 1974 under the Water Pollution Control Act. However, President Nixon has allocated only $5 billion for that period.

Train defended the goal of zero discharge by 1985, saying "Congress has reached the conclusion that the country should move toward the no-discharge goal I support that."

He said there are many things that can be done to reduce or eliminate waste water discharges other than burning or disposing of material on land. His suggestions included recycling, making changes in industrial processes and building self-contained water systems.

Train said Great Lakes states continue to be high priority for federal funding and will get 20 to 25 per cent of funds available for sewage treatment facilities. He said the area will get $275 million in fiscal 1973 and $600 million in 1974.

Back propane allocation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio Department of Agriculture Director Gene Abercrombie said the Nixon administration's "mandatory allocation" of propane gas is "probably very fair."

"The only problem that I can see is if we should have a winter like we had last winter where we had only so many harvesting days and we had a peak usage of propane gas, this could give us a real problem," Abercrombie said.

"I would feel easier if it had been done right after we experienced the horrendous experience we had last January and couldn't get enough gas into the state to dry our crops when we only had about a ten-day harvesting season," he said.

The program is designed to work primarily on the wholesale level, requiring fuel distribution to past customers in proportion to what they received last year.

PUCO rejects Ohio Bell case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio refused today to reconsider the $98 million rate hike granted the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. Aug. 7.

The PUCO rejected requests to reopen the case from several parties, including Cleveland Councilman Dennis J. Kucinich.

Ohio Bell had sought increases in rates totaling $160 million.

The commission, in its refusal to reopen the case, said a cross-section of public interest had been represented at previous hearings, the rate of return allowed Ohio Bell was "eminently reasonable" and the rates granted are "in accord with present law."

Driver charged

William R. Reed, 27, of 415 Grove Ave., swerved from the left lane to the right to give a turning truck more room and sideswiped a car driven by Ruth Sexton, 76, of 943 Lincoln Dr.

The accident took place at 9:47 a.m. in the 100 block of North Street.

There was moderate damage to both cars, and Reed was cited for improper change of lanes.

American pioneer spaceship could face Jupiter perils

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leading space scientist has reported that a nail-biting, scientific cliff-hanger is in the offing for next month—involving the possible destruction of an American spacecraft now gunning towards Jupiter.

The word came from Dr. James Van Allen, University of Iowa physicist and the chief discoverer of the radiation belts that surround the earth.

Van Allen told a Navy-sponsored scientific conference Tuesday that America's Pioneer-10 unmanned spacecraft, heading for a "fly-by" of Jupiter on Dec. 4, could be destroyed by radiation belts presumed to surround the faraway planet—if the belts are as fearsome as he and some other scientists believe they might be.

On the other hand, he said, some other scientists hold this belief:

The presumed Jovian radiation belts—believed formed by the entrapment of electrified particles from the sun by Jupiter's magnetic field—might be, in effect, softened up by the influence of some of Jupiter's multiple moons as they orbit the planet.

And, according to this theory, Pioneer-10 would safely ride through the belts.

Declaring that the spacecraft, launched 18 months ago, should begin to strike the belts late in November, Van Allen said:

"Potentially, it (the belt area) is an enormously damaging region, and there's no assurance that the spacecraft will survive it.

"Thus, there will be a very high period of excitement ... beginning in late November."

Van Allen addressed a symposium marking the 50th anniversary of the Naval Research Laboratory.

USDA seeks hamburger for schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is shopping for hamburger so school cafeterias can beef up their menus, but officials admit they might have to settle for chicken soup again if prices are too high.

No ground beef has been purchased by the federal government for school lunch programs since Jan. 6, 1972. Except for some pork purchased last winter, USDA has concentrated mainly on chicken and turkey.

But, with the recent decline in live cattle prices, the Food and Nutrition Service says it is time to look at hamburger again.

The government notified suppliers last week that offers on ground beef will be accepted for consideration through Oct. 12. William G. Boling, associate director of child nutrition programs, said that if prices are too high the offers will be rejected.

A number of factors, including the beef supply, market outlook and the effect of purchases on consumer prices are used in deciding whether to accept the offers, officials said.

Last December, and on several occasions afterward, the department solicited bids for school lunch beef and then rejected them all because the prices were too high.

Knights Templar conclave slated

Three officers of Garfield Commandery here are planning to attend all three sessions of the 131st annual conclave of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar of Ohio, in Berea Thursday, Friday and Saturday. They are Ronald Sears, emminent commander, Charles Duff, senior warden, and Albert Briggs, junior warden.

One of the highlights of the conclave will be a parade of approximately 100 units at 4 p.m. Saturday. It will be climaxed by a colorful mass formation of knights in full uniform, plumed chapeaux and swords.

New officers will be elected Friday afternoon and installed following the dinner and presentation of awards Saturday evening.

Competition by approximately 25 drill teams, with a total of about 450 knights participating, is scheduled for Saturday morning in the Cuyahoga County Junior Fair and Flower and Garden buildings on the fairground.

The Knights Templar organization is a uniformed Christian branch of the Masonic Order stemming back to the Crusades.

Seed costs on increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Livestock producers who turned to fall pastures to help offset rising costs of feed concentrates have found seed supplies also tight and expensive, according to the Agriculture Department.

Prices paid for seed used in planting fall crops for winter cover and pasture were up 47 per cent from a year earlier as of Sept. 15, says the department. Compared with the base year of 1967, the prices for all seed averaged 97 per cent higher.

The Sept. 15 average price of uncertified alfalfa seed was $105 per 100 pounds, up from $54.80 on the same date last year. Certified alfalfa was $119 per hundredweight, up from $64.50.

Other seeds such as clover, timothy, orchardgrass, vetch and fescue also have soared in price.

Seed for the big field crops have risen too. Wheat for fall planting averaged $7.20 per bushel Sept. 15, compared with $2.97 a year earlier. Oats were $3.90 compared with $2.27; Barley $4.60 compared with $2.88; and rye $4.90 compared with $1.78 a year ago.

Ohio Perspective

Appalachian panel's future cloudy

By DEAN SCHOTT
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 13-state Appalachian Regional Commission —giver of more than $100 million to 28 rural Ohio counties— meets in Columbus this December to answer an important question:

Should the 10-year-old organization continue?

"Two issues are presently in the forefront," said Troy Grigsby of the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development. "The present authority expires at the end of fiscal 1975, June 30, 1975.

"And, there are questions whether the commission should continue and if it should continue in the present form."

Gov. John J. Gilligan, cochairman of the commission, will be host. Don Whitehead is full-time federal chairman. No dates for the meeting have been set.

Twenty-eight counties from Clermont in the southwest to Carroll in the northeast compose the Ohio Appalachian Region, an area with more than one million residents.

Between 1966, when the commission began to roll, and 1972, more than $94 million federal money poured into Ohio's Appalachia. Highways got $44 million, health $20 million, vocational education $11, water and sewer systems $4, conservation including strip mine reclamation $3, access roads $3, education $2.8 million and child development $1 million, with lesser amounts going to libraries, airports and housing.

During the present fiscal year, the commission has funneled about $8 million in nonhighway funds to the area. The region also has a six-year $15 million appropriation for highways.

The twelve other states in the commission are New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia, Kentucky, Maryland, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi.

Grigsby said there is a distinct possibility the commission will go out of existence in 1975. The commission was to have been disbanded this year, but President Nixon compromised an earlier stand and gave the panel a two-year extension.

Nixon had hoped that special revenue sharing programs, like the Better Communities Act, would replace numerous regional commissions. His special revenue sharing proposals are presently bogged down in Congress.

Grigsby said, "The commission facilitates the expression of views and provides a forum where the states can work with one another. It's not a perfect system, but it shouldn't be junked."

He said he agrees with President Nixon federal programs shouldn't be duplicated, but added, "You don't kill off everything and start from scratch."

WSHS senior cited for scholarship

Bob Walters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walters, 915 Millwood Ave., a senior at Washington Senior High School, has received a letter of commendation honoring him for a high performance in the 1972 Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude and National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, according to Principal Fred Jones.

The National Merit Scholarship Corporation has named 38,000 commended students throughout the nation and these students are among the upper two per cent of those who are expected to graduate from high school in 1974. Thus, the commended students rank high, but below the 15,000 semifinalists in September.

Edward C. Smith, president of NMSC, said, "The high standing of commended students in the merit program competition show that they have great promise of continued success in college. Although commended students advance no further in the Merit Scholarship program, their attainment in this nationwide program deserves recognition."

To increase their scholarship opportunities commended students' names are reported to the colleges they named as their first and second choices when they took the test in October.

Men face 6 murder charges

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Relatives arranged funerals for a Lexington minister, his two children, and three other men shot to death Tuesday, as two men suspected in the slayings were held in the State Penitentiary at Eddyville.

The two, Wilmer E. Scott, 35, of Chattanooga, Tenn., and William Sloan, 24, of Louisville, escaped from federal custody Monday at Lexington.

They are suspected of killing the six during their flight northward, before their arrest Tuesday at Fort Thomas, just across the Ohio River from Cincinnati, Ohio.

Immediately after escaping, the pair seized a Lexington woman, Mrs. Geraldine Ewalt, forcing her to drive to her home where they tied her up along with two of her children and fled in her car.

The Ewalt car was found at the home of the dead minister.

Early Tuesday, the minister's car was discovered about 40 miles north of Lexington at Fisher's Motel in Falmouth, where two construction workers and a night clerk had been shot to death.

When captured about 25 miles further north, at Fort Thomas, Scott and Sloan were driving the construction workers' car and wearing clothes belonging to the minister, police said.

Putnam County murder trial slated Nov. 12

OTTAWA, Ohio (AP) — Trial was set for Nov. 12 in Putnam County Common Pleas Court for Eddy Lee Bower who pleaded innocent by reason of insanity Tuesday to two counts of first-degree murder. Bower is accused of running down his wife and a companion in July with his car.

Brown predicts voter turnout

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Secretary of State Ted W. Brown predicted today 3,035,000 voters will turn out of Ohio's general election Nov. 6.

That's about 58 per cent of the persons eligible to vote, he said.

Brown said the unusually high turnout for an off-year election would be due to interest in the four constitutional amendment issues on the ballot.

C.O.E. class picks officers

Cooperative Office Education students at the Laurel Oaks Career Development Campus in Wilmington have completed a vigorous campaign for class officers of the Ohio Office Education Association.

Each member of the class nominated for office prepared a two-minute speech which was then analyzed for delivery and effectiveness. The students were photographed individually and their speeches recorded as part of a project to tell a story about the C.O.E. student activities throughout the year.

The Cooperative Office Education class is the co-op program in business and office education in which senior students are in school half the day and receive on the job training the remainder of the school day. Students this year are from Clinton Massie, East Clinton and Miami Trace High Schools.

Those elected to office were Jo Lynn McCoy, president; Tanya Kingery, vice president; Debbi Johnson, secretary; Phyllis Farmer, treasurer; Janice Howard, social chairman and Janet White, parliamentarian.

Computer expert guest speaker at Rotary Club

A Columbus computer expert explained the basic operation of the complex machines to member of the Washington C.H. Rotary Club at their noon luncheon Tuesday in the Country Club.

Donald Burton, an electronic data processing consultant with the National Cash Register Co. in Columbus, told Rotarians that the operation of a computer boils down to three basic functions. They are imput, which concerns obtaining the desired information to be analyzed; processing, which is the computer's work such as figuring payrolls, and output, which is having the information returned.

Burton said the computer field has grown rapidly in the last 15 years and is still continuing to grow. He noted that in 1958 there were only 2,000 in the United States, but now there are between 85,000 and 90,009.

The cost of the computers is one drawback, but Burton pointed out that most computers are used on a rental basis. He said it is possible to rent computers for $1,000 per month while some organizations, especially the federal government, rents computers for approximately $1 million a month.

Burton said it is important for businessmen to determine their need for computers. He listed three rules of thumb as a guide in determining that need. They were (1) figure exactly what kind of data is needed (2) decide what is being done now to obtain the information and (3) figure the present cost with the cost of renting a computer.

President Phil Grover, who conducted the business meeting, reminded Rotarians that Robert Haigler, district Rotary governor, will make his annual visit next Tuesday. Haigler, who will address the club at the luncheon, will be meeting with club officers at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday at the Country Club.

Tuesday's program was arranged by Jack Brennan.

Student guests were David Persinger, of MTHS, and David Bryan, of WSHS. Other guests were Jim Evans with Brennan and Steve Yambor with Ron Ratliff. Visiting Rotarians were Darrell French, of Wilmington, and Art Dick, of Mount Sterling.

Wild reptiles given home

CHICAGO (AP)—A small crocodile, two pit vipers, two hooded cobras and a python flew halfway around the world to be unclaimed at O'Hare International Airport.

American Airlines officials said William Page of Westerville, Ohio, was supposed to pick up the reptiles that arrived Tuesday from Malaysia.

Contacted by officials, Page said he had come to Chicago over the weekend to get the reptiles, couldn't find them and returned home.

He said he didn't want to make another trip and told the airline to give them to a zoo.

Grieves resigns position on B'burg Council

BLOOMINGBURG — A veteran member of Bloomingburg's Village Council turned in his resignation at Tuesday night's meeting.

Mayor Max Grim announced that Donald W. Grieves, a Council member since 1966, has resigned his position. Grieves will be moving to Columbus. He and Ray Deere were the senior members. No replacement was named.

Council heard a report from Harold McNally, an engineer with the M.M. Schirtzinger consulting engineering firm, of Chillicothe, concerning the village's sanitary sewer system and treatment plant project.

McNally informed Council members that he has prepared plans and drawings of the proposed project to be submitted to the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency for approval.

Council discussed possible financing for the sewer system and treatment plant project. The village has an application for a loan pending with the Farmers Home Administration, but the project must be approved by the OEPA. The Village of Bloomingburg's project is rated in 126th place out of a possible 235 applicants by the OEPA.

A renewal license for operation of a mobile home park in the village was approved by Council. The request for the license renewal was submitted by Mobile Systems, Inc., of Columbus, which operates Hunt's Trailer Park, 71 Biddle Blvd.

A regular meeting date was changed by Council members. The Council meeting next month is scheduled for Nov. 6, which is election day and the meeting was changed to 7:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 5.

Council also approved payment of routine bills, totaling $2,113.28.

Walter Lippmann critically ill

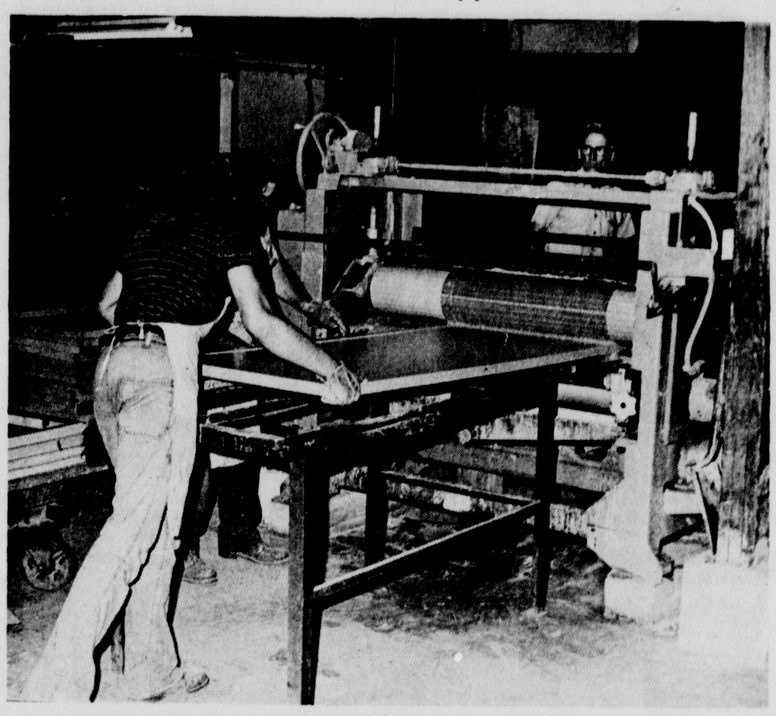
NEW YORK (AP) — Walter Lippmann, one of America's pre-eminent political journalists, was in critical condition at a hospital here today.

Officials said Lippmann was rushed to New York Hospital Tuesday after suffering a stroke at his Manhattan home. The retired journalist and author celebrated his 84th birthday last week.

From 1931 to 1967, he wrote a twice-weekly syndicated column, "Today and Tomorrw."

NEW FIRM — The Chappell Door Co., formerly of Jeffersonville, Ind., has been moved to Washington C.H. under the direction of President Bill Black. The plant is located at 738 Western Ave., at the rear of Helfrich's Market. Black has been a resident of this area for many years.



READY FOR VENEER — Cement is being applied to the faces of the door frame with its pressed wood core to make it ready for the veneer. After the wood or plastic-laminated veneer is in place, the cement will be given a chance to dry in a huge press.

Chappell Door Co. busy with orders

A new door-manufacturing firm which has moved into a building formerly housing Marting Manufacturing Co.'s Ranger Division, is now in full production.

Bill Black, president of Chappell Door Co., has located the firm at 738 Western Avenue, at the rear of the Helfrich Super Market.

After becoming president in October, 1972, Black decided to move the firm from its base in Jeffersonville, Ind., to the Washington C.H. area where he had long been a resident.

Chappell Door manufactures wooden and plastic-laminated doors for construction companies. A small firm, employing 13 persons, Chappell makes custom doors for new buildings and for remodeling projects.

A wooden door frame receives a corrugated cardboard filler for hollow doors, while pressed wood is used as the core for solid doors. After the center has been placed in the frame, the desired wood or plastic laminated sheet is cemented to the outside. The cemented doors are placed in a huge press while drying.

After the doors are dry, they are inspected, trimmed, and finish-sanded. On request the doors are stained or lacquered. The finished product is then packaged in cardboard for shipment.

The plant began limited operation here on Aug. 1, and employes have been producing doors during the regular work week while remodeling the building on weekends.

One man, Carlton McHolan, was brought from the Jeffersonville operation; the rest of the employes are local residents.

Derby fraud orders set by judge

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—The uncle of the youth disqualified as this year's Soap Box Derby champion met privately with Judge Horace Holmes for nearly an hour Tuesday before agreeing to a non-judicial adjustment in charges against him.

Robert Lange Sr. is charged with encouraging his nephew, James Gronen, 14, to cheat in the race by using an illegal device to give his soap box racer a faster start.

Lange admitted he made the decision that his nephew, who lives with him, should use the illegal device in the race, and Boulder Dist. Atty. Alex Hunter filed charges against him shortly afterwards.

Lange was charged with "encouraging a minor to violate a state law."

Health Board pushes levy issue

The Fayette County Board of Health Tuesday afternoon discussed new legislation regarding personnel and a number of other matters including the proposed additional health levy which will be appearing on the November ballot.

Dr. William E. Covert, health commissioner, said the new legislation discussed included payment of sick leave for pregnant employes and payment of one-fourth of all unused sick leave upon an employe's retirement.

The proposed .20-mill health levy which will confront Fayette County voters at the polls Nov. 6 was discussed and the board also reviewed sewage regulations with regards to possible revisions at a later date.

Mrs. John Richards, an employe in the Fayette County Health Department, invited board members to attend the Southwest District Ohio Public Health Association meeting Oct. 30 in Sharonvilie. Mrs. Richards is president of the association.

Dr. Covert invited board members to attend the Ohio Environmental Protection Association meeting Oct. 9 in Columbus. He said the OEPA's newest revisions pertaining to opening burning will be reviewed.

DR. COVERT said the Fayette County Health Levy Committee, a group of 15 persons formed to promote the proposed health issue, met Tuesday morning to map campaign plans.

Edward Vollette, chairman of the committee, said the levy will insure Fayette Countians of continued health protection. In addition to the many health protection services offered, the levy also will provide for the continuation of the sanitation program such as milk and restaurant inspections, nuisance control, sewage disposal, landfill inspections, safe water supplies and animal bites.

The health levy is for .20 of a mill which amounts to two cents for each $100 of valuation for a period of five years. No additional health tax levy has been presented to Fayette County voters since the original levy was approved in 1956.

Other members of the committee are the Rev. Gerald Wheat, Fred St. Clair, Mrs. Wayne Hidy, Mrs. Robert Goodson, Jim Dunn, Bob Bishop, Mrs. Robert Pero, Richard Patton, Mrs. Paul Cox, Marion Stockwell, Mrs. James Smith, Mrs. Raymond Hendricks, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hoppes and Jess Schlichter.

British leave cod waters

LONDON (AP) — Three British frigates and three unarmed naval tugs prepared to sail out of disputed fishing waters around Iceland today and avert for the moment Iceland's threat to break diplomatic relations with her North Atlantic Treaty Organization ally.

The frigates and the big tugs were not to return home, however. They were ordered to begin patrolling just outside the 50-mile limit unilaterally proclaimed by Iceland 13 months ago.

Prime Minister Edward Heath of Britain warned that the warships would move back inside the disputed zone if Icelandic gunboats renewed their harassment of British trawlers. The trawlers are defying Iceland's orders to stay clear of the fishing grounds.

Iceland said its four grey gunboats would go on hunting what it calls pirate trawlers fishing in the 50-mile zone.

Britain, like most nations, only recognizes a 12-mile territorial limit. Iceland maintains it must have exclusive fishing rights in all waters within 50 miles of its border to maintain its vital fishing industry.

Winless Hillsboro on Panther chart

By DENNIS STAPLETON
Record-Herald Sports Editor

Now is the time for all good men..... and so on. But really, now is the time for the Miami Trace Panthers to combine all their efforts into winning football games as they enter their 13th season in the South Central Ohio League Friday night against winless Hillsboro.

With all the other teams in the SCOL starting league play last Friday, the Panthers, have had one extra non-league contest to strengthen the basic winning procedures.

ALTHOUGH the Panthers lost last Friday to Chillicothe, the extra contest proved that a team that makes basic mistakes cannot win over a team that executes well, even a team like Chillicothe which has experienced trouble all season with its offense.

What happened to Chillicothe was that the offense stopped making mental and physical errors while the Miami Trace offense and defense made plenty. Instead of a score of 8-7, with the Panthers in command, the halftime score could have well been 24-7 with the Panthers well in the lead. But, due to basic mistakes on two other ball possessions, Miami Trace let the Chillicothe defense take the ball away deep in Chillicothe's territory and then the Panther defense made the mistakes and allowed Chillicothe to score, and thus the final score of 28-8, Miami Trace the loser.

But this week, Miami Trace, travels to Hillsboro to meet a team that has also made numerous mistakes both on offense and defense.

Hillsboro, coached by Miami Trace graduate Michael Doyle, is 0-4 on the season with one of those losses coming in league competition against Wilmington last Friday.

Although the Indians have had disciplinary problems and have had to suspend a few players, Doyle has come up with some pretty good replacements. The problem is that they are young replacements and are subject to mistakes.

In last week's game with Wilmington, Hillsboro was guilty of 10 penalties for 110-yards. Fifteen of those yards, coming on a touchdown run of over 60 yards for clipping.

With the starting quarterback being suspended, 6-foot-2, 172-pound sophomore Bud Marsh has taken over the signal-calling. Marsh possesses a very strong arm but has a habit of throwing interceptions. In the Wilmington contest, March, threw 29 times with five of the passes ending the opponents hands.

In the backfield along with Marsh will be quick-stepping tailback John Hastings, Ken Captain, who scored an 80-yard touchdown against Unioto, plus Terry Burns or Steve Kelch.

The offensive line of the Indians is big and strong but also inexperienced. Anchored by two 230-pound tackles is Mike Fuller and Bob Cyrus, the line averages close to 210-pound. But the average age is only a junior. Rounding out the offensive line are guards Pat Kelly and Steve Johnson, split-end Jeff Lyle and Roger Jewett should be at tight-end.

THE DEFENSIVE unit for the Indians is a basic 5-2 with a monster man or rover back. Hillsboro possesses speed in the defensive backfield, but there is some question about its defensive line. In last Friday's contest with Wilmington, the defense gave up 274 yards on the ground but only 67 yards through the air.

Miami Trace isn't without its problems either.

Senior running back Doug Ford, the main spoke in the Panthers' running attack, will be out at least a week with a slight concussion, senior Doug Baker is also an unlikely starter due to muscle spasms in his back. Also out, as of Tuesday, were senior Jeff Long and junior Jim Glass due to the flu and sophomore Greg Cobb due to a death in the family.

The Panthers could have their hands full when they travel to Hillsboro for the 8 p.m. meeting, but then, so could Hillsboro. Miami Trace has proven it can win games against pretty tough opponents, Hillsboro hasn't. Miami Trace has proven it has a defense, Hillsboro hasn't. But, when you come right down to the answer, it lies in the mistakes. The team that makes fewer mistakes, should come out the victor.

Lion Cubs register third straight win

The Washington C.H. junior high football team is certainly playing like their big brothers, the Washington C.H. football team, currently ranked No. 1 in the state, as they ripped another foe Tuesday evening at Gardner Park.

The Lion Cubs made the Greenfield McLain Tigers their third victim in a row by a score of 24-0. Greenfield could manage only 13 plays for the whole contests, with 10 of those coming in the second half against the second team of the Lions, and no first downs being picked up for the entire contest.

Washington C.H. started off its scoring in the first quarter when Jeff Elliott scored on a 54-yard run. Elliott also scored the extras and the score was 8-0.

The Blue Lions were held scoreless again until the second quarter. This time Greg Tillett scored on a one-yard plunge and Tony West scored the extra point and the score was 16-0.

GREENFIELD failed to move the ball again and Washington C.H. took over possession once again.

This time Elliott scored on a 65-yard scamper. Elliott scored the extras and Washington C.H. led 24-0.

Both teams failed to score in the remainder of the game, with Washington C.H.'s second team finishing out the contest, and the final score remained 24-0.

Coach Rodger Mickle reported that the defense played a good game, although they were only in for 13 plays. Mickle also said that along with Elliott's usual fine game, Tillett played a good game at fullback, and that Gary Huysman, Doug Stewart, Dwayne Six and Bobby Shaw played fine defensive games.

The Lion Cubs, now 3-0 on the season, travel to Wilmington next Thursday. In all three of the games thus far the junior high has scored 92 points to their opponents' 16.

BOBBY TOLAN

Bobby Tolan set to file grievance

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Bobby Tolan, suspended outfielder for the Cincinnati Reds, will file a grievance soon, according to Marvin Miller of the Major League Baseball Players Association.

Miller said Tolan's grievance against his suspension will charge the Reds did not have just cause to suspend the outfielder.

Miller contends Tolan was being disciplined for growing a mustache. The Reds said they were suspending Tolan for his "divisive" attitude and refusal to take part in team practice and batting practice.

"Two facts should be known," said Miller. "One was that no one ever talked to him about the question of batting practice. The other is that directly preceding his suspension he had a meeting with Manager Sparky Anderson and during that meeting not one word was said except about "his mustache."

Miller said Tolan, who was paid during his suspension, will seek appropriate redress for injury to his career and reputation.

The Reds suspended Tolan last Thursday for the final three games of the regular season and announced Monday that he would not play in any post-season games.

USAC eyes changes

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — U.S. Auto Club officials are expected to announce before the end of the year some changes in regulations that figure to make auto racing safer, slower and less complicated for scorers.

Limitations on fuel in the cars have helped increase competitiveness, but also have caused headaches for scorers trying to keep track of the leader through a myriad of pit stops.

Dick King, director of competition and head of a summer USAC testing program, says changes next year will bring the number of pit stops in a 500-mile race down to about four or five.

A reduction in horsepower for next year already has been announced, along with a fire-resistant fuel system, but King now says horsepower may be reduced by as much as 25 per cent.

Anderson not misled by New York record

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Manager George "Sparky" Anderson waved off the New York Mets' record—worst among the four division winners in the majors—and talked of respect for this weekend's playoff opponent.

"I think people are being misled by the Mets," said Anderson.

"If that club had stayed healthy all year, they would have won at least 95 games," he said as the Reds, National League Western Division champs with baseball's best record—99-63—prepare for Saturday's opener with the Eastern Division winners.

"The Mets we're facing are healthy. They're not as destitute as they make out," Anderson said in reference to the wave of injuries which hounded the Mets all season.

He also had Mets' pitching ace Tom Seaver in mind. Seaver will reportedly not start the first game due to a shoulder problem.

New York overcame the series of setbaks with a late-season onrush to come from last place as late as Aug. 30 to win the division with an 82-79 record.

"There's no danger we'll be looking ahead," said Anderson, recalling the 1969 Mets' miracle when they charged out of obscurity to win the National League and, after dropping the World Series opener, claimed the world title with four straight victories over the Baltimore Orioles.

"We've got too much respect for them," said Anderson, who has said he'll open with 18-game winner Don Gullett Saturday. He'll oppose Jon Matlack, 15-16.

Anderson plans to match 19-game winner Jack Billingham against the Mets' Seaver on Sunday in the best-of-five series.

Pete Rose, the National League batting champ, sees the playoffs as a time for the Reds' pitchers to get some overdue credit.

"Everybody talks about the New York Mets' pitching of Seaver, Kossman and Matlack. Nobody says much about our staff yet we had a 19-game winner, an 18-game winner and two guys with 13.

"As far as I'm concerned, we've got as good a pitching staff as anyone," said the Reds' captain.

World grid league eyed by attorney

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gary L. Davidson, who helped start the American Basketball Association and the World Hockey Association, now has plans for an international professional football league with franchises stretching from London to Tokyo.

A source in Davidson's office said the Santa Ana attorney is organizing the worldwide pro football circuit and plans to have it working a year from now.

Initially, the league wants 12 franchises in the United States, with franchises already lined up for the Los Angeles area, Honolulu, New York, Boston, Chicago, Toronto "and maybe Europe" for the first season, said the source.

The league, as yet unnamed, also is looking to establish franchises in London, Tokyo, Germany and Mexico as well as Memphis, Tenn., Milwaukee, Phoenix, Ariz., Oklahoma City, Seattle, and North Carolina.

The new league will not try and fight the established league for players, said the source.

"The league will get its players from semipro leagues, colleges, NFL and Canadian league players who play out their options and players cut by the leagues," the source said.

See Reece Morrison back with Bengals

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals, suddenly short of running backs after being well-stocked a few weeks ago, may add recently cut Reece Morrison this week.

Coach Paul Brown said Tuesday that Morrison would work out with the team this week as it prepares for its Sunday meeting with upstate rival Cleveland.

Yogi Berra waits for new contract

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that he has a key to the city, the only thing Yogi Berra needs is a contract to manage a baseball team for next season.

The logical team would seem to be the New York Mets, the club Yogi has piloted to the National League East Division title. But they haven't asked him back yet.

That, of course, could be meaningless. The Mets traditionally make their managerial decisions after the season. On the other hand, it could be ominous. The last time Yogi managed a club that finished first, it was the New York Yankees in 1964. Instead of getting a new contract, he got fired. Will history repeat itself?

"I don't know yet," said Berra, allowing himself a mischievious grin. "I don't think so."

In mid-summer, when the Mets were in last place 12 games back and five teams away from the top, there was considerable sniping at the manager. Donald Grant, the club's chairman of the board, described Berra's position as secure at that time, but added a cryptic afterthought, saying that it depended on fan opinion. At that time, Yogi's rating with the customers wasn't very high.

There were times during the season that even Berra doubted the team's ability to win the title.

Injuries piled up, and for awhile, it seemed that Berra never would have a totally healthy club. When he finally did, it thundered through September at a sizzling 21-8 pace to win the title.

Ironically, the Mets' won-lost record of 82-79 is the worst they have posted in any year since they won the division, playoff and World Series in 1969.

There is one more irony. If the Mets don't invite Berra back, he could still wind up in Shea Stadium anyway. After all, the Yankees will be spending the next two seasons there and they're looking for a manager.

Top-ranked Buckeyes picked over Cougars

NEW YORK (AP) — Even though Woody Hayes says Ohio State's new No. 1 ranking "doesn't mean a damn thing" at this stage of the season, you can bet he intends to see to it that the Buckeyes remain on top.

The first target for the new leader in The Associated Press college football rankings is Washington State, a team which Coach Jim Sweeney rated in the same class as Southern California talent-wise before the season.

A couple of funny things have happened to the Cougars, though. They lost to Kansas and Arizona State before beating Idaho. And things figure to get worse. After Ohio State in Columbus comes Southern Cal in Los Angeles.

Even the luck of the Irish won't help Sweeney. Ohio State 42, Washington State 0.

Last week's count was 43 right, 19 wrong and four ties for a .694 percentage. The Upset Special—Oklahoma over then-No. 1 Southern Cal—produced a near-miss 7-7 tie. The score for the season is 152-526— .745.

Nebraska at Minnesota: Would you believe Minnesota holds a 29-14-2 lead in the series? But Coach Cal Stoll says he finds "absolutely no weaknesses in the Nebraska team. Well...maybe in the pregame warm-ups their cadence is off a count or two." Nebraska has won the last eight meetings. Make it nine. Nebraska 35-7.

Georgia at Alabama: After tying Pitt in its opener, Georgia is becoming the team Coach Vince Dooley thought it would be. The Bulldogs trounced North Carolina State last Saturday but this looks a little too steep. Alabama 28-14.

Southern California at Oregon State: USC, believe it or not, was pushed all over the field in that 7-7 tie with Oklahoma. Now, the Trojans get a chance to do the same to winless Oregon State. Southern Cal 35-0.

Oregon at Michigan: Bad week for the State of Oregon. Michigan 38-7.

Miami, Fla. at Oklahoma: Next week, Oklahoma plays Texas. Two weeks ago, Miami beat Texas. Ergo, Oklahoma won't look past Miami. Oklahoma 34-6.

Penn State at Air Force: Penn State may be the government's biggest problem since Watergate. Two weeks ago they crushed Navy, this week it's Air Force, next week Army. Penn State 28-3.

Michigan State at Notre Dame: Those 10-10 ties are a thing of the past. Notre Dame 37-7.

Kansas at Tennessee: This one's in Memphis, home of the blues. Kansas takes some home. Tennessee 28-17.

Florida at Louisiana State: Florida's SEC hopes were jolted by Mississippi State last Saturday. Now comes LSU, followed by Alabama. See you later, Gators. LSU 24-6.

Senate studies revamping of athletics

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate considers legislation today designed to reform U.S. amateur sports and eliminate the rivalry between the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Amateur Athletic Union in international competition.

The measure is expected to pass even though there has been a concentrated lobbying effort against it by officials of established sports groups. Many athletes, including some who have participated in the Olympics, favor the proposal.

After a vote by the full Senate, the measure would go to the House Education and Labor Committee, where a similar bill is pending.

The Senate Commerce Committee approved an omnibus bill on July 25 that would establish an independent board to charter and oversee all governing bodies for U.S. amateur sports, restructure existing bodies, develop community facilities and promote health and safety in athletics.

Entitled the Amateur Athletic Act of 1973, the Senate bill would:

—Put an end to the on-going power feud between the NCAA and the AAU by eliminating their authority to prevent athletes from participating in individual events.

—Provide minimum federal involvement in amateur sports to the extent needed to protect individual athletes from overbearing sports organizations.

—Commission a study for the purpose of revitalizing the U.S. Olympic Committee and its method of operation.

—Create a sports development program designed to enable more people to become actively involved in amateur sports.

Delaware continues atop grid ratings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The University of Delaware, gunning for an unprecedented third straight national college division football championship, continues to lead the Associated Press' weekly poll.

The Blue Hens, a 21-9 winner over Lehigh last week, received 27 first-place votes and a total of 885 points from a nationwide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters. Delaware has an 18-game winning streak dating back to the 1971 season.

The Blue Hens are 4-0 this season.

Grambling and South Dakota, both 4-0, held the second and third positions, each collecting seven first-place votes. The Tigers piled up 762 points after thumping Prairie View 37-12, and South Dakota got 635 points on the strength of a 19-7 triumph over Northern Iowa.

Eastern Michigan, 4-0, moved up one place to fourth after a 47-14 conquest of St. Norbert. Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo, 3-0, advanced from eighth to fifth after beating Cal-Riverside 26- 17.

Hawaii, 3-0, remained sixth after slipping past Texas Southern 24-21. Tennessee State, 3-0, fell from fourth to seventh despite taking the week off.

Rounding out the top 15 in order were Jacksonville State, 30, North Dakota State, 4-1, Western Kentucky, 3-0, Northeast Louisiana, 1-0-2, and North Dakota, 2-2-0.

Boise State, 3-0, was up two positions to eighth after routing Portland State 64-7. Louisiana Tech, 3-1, got by McNeese 10-7 and maintained the No. 9 spot. Carson-Newman, 3-0, was idle but moved up one place to 10th.

Cincinnati Reds acquire Steve Kealey

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds finalized a trade Tuesday with the acquisition of relief pitcher Steve Kealey from the Chicago White Sox.

Kealey completed the trade which sent pitcher Jim McGlothlin from Cincinnati to the White Sox. He has been assigned to the Reds Indianapolis farm team.

MT's Players of Week

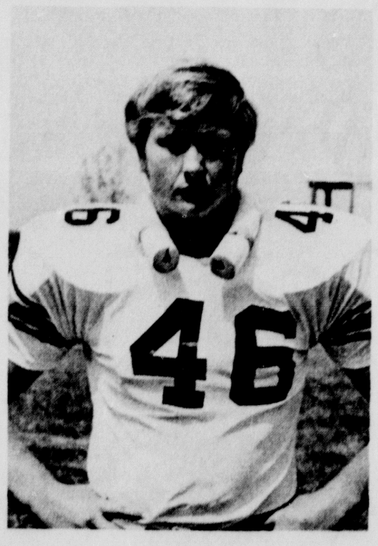
A junior and a senior have been chosen Miami Trace's Players of the Week for their performance in the Panthers' 28-8 loss to Chillicothe last Friday night.

Offensive tackle Jeff Long and defensive tackle Ron Warnock were singled out by the Miami Trace coaching staff for honors in the Record-Herald's fourth weekly poll.

LONG, a 200-pound senior, was selected the top offensive player of the week. The hard-nosed tackle received the highest film rating from the Panther coaching staff when the game films were studied, Long was selected for his fine blocking into the Chillicothe defensive line which opened plenty of holes for the Panthers' backfield, protected the quarterback and opened up the end for sweeps.

Warnock, a 180-pound junior defensive tackle, was named top defensive player of the week. Warnock, who last season was picked on the All - South Central Ohio League honorable mention team, played his finest game thus far this year after being sidelined with injuries earlier this season.

THE HARD-HITTING tackle, sacked opposing runners four times behind the line of scrimmage and assisted on eight other tackles.



JEFF LONG

RON WARNOCK

Head coach Fred Zechman also reported that senior David Holbrook, starting the first time at defensive end, played an excellent game and came in second in total defensive points.

The team's "big lick" awards for the week went to quarterback Tom Riley, for a blow Riley delivered to a Chillicothe tackler, on the offense and to Greg Wieland on the defense, for a tackle Wieland administered to one of the Chillicothe runners.

The Panthers, with a record of 2-2, travel to Hillsboro Friday night for an 8 p.m. clash with the winless Indians, under new head coach Michael Doyle a graduate of Miami Trace, for the opening of their 13th season in the South Central Ohio League.

Austria refuses Israeli request to open center

JERUSALEM (AP) — Premier Golda Meir says she believes the flow of Jews from the Soviet Union will continue despite her failure to get Austria to let the Schoenau transit camp continue to operate.

Mrs. Meir returned to Israel Tuesday night after a fruitless 90-minute meeting in Vienna with Austrian Chancellor Bruno Kreisky.

She told newsmen she was "very sad" about Kreisky's insistence on fulfilling his promise to Arab terrorists to close the facility 20 miles south of Vienna. The Jewish Agency has processed emigrants from the Soviet Union at the center before flying them to Israel.

Asked if she expected the closing of the camp to stem the movement of Soviet Jews through Austria, Mrs. Meir replied: "I hope not ... I believe not."

See 3 days of hearings at McArthur

McARTHUR, Ohio (AP) — Hearings for 88 school teachers fired by the Vinton County Board of Education because they refused to work were to begin today.

Kenneth Christopher, the system's superintendent, said hearings are expected to take three days. They were originally scheduled to begin Tuesday.

Teachers have been on strike against the district for two weeks in a contract dispute.

The school board fired the 88 teachers after invoking the state's Ferguson Act which prohibits strikes by public employes.

Christopher said the board agreed to the hearings to determine if the teachers had violated state law.

The Vinton Local Teachers Association, which supports the strike, complained the board isn't interested in a settlement.

Wayne PTO votes 'assist' for middle school issue

GOOD HOPE — After Jerry Hoppes, Steve Yambor, assistant Fayette County school superintendent, and Wayne Baird, a member of the county Board of Education had explained the need for a Miami Trace District middle school and appealed for its support in the Nov. 6 election, the Wayne Parent - Teacher Organization voted Monday night to contribute $25 for the campaign fund.

The meeting, conducted by Mrs. Elaine VanZant, president, followed a potluck supper in Wayne Hall. This was the first meeting of the new school year and introduction of the other P.T.O. officers by Mrs. Van Zant was one of the highlights. They are Mrs. Gwen Walters, vice president; Mrs. Betty Montgomery, secretary, and Mrs. Betty Grubbs, treasurer.

A gift of appreciation was presented to Mrs. Walters, last year's PTO president, and Mrs. Karen Hoppes asked support of the .2-mill levy for the Health Department at the Nov. 6 election.

Mrs. VanZant announced the appointment of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Zimmerman, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Merritt and Mr. and Mrs. Gene White to the ways and means committee.

THE GROUP voted to continue the free milk program for needy children and set Nov. 17 as the date for the annual carnival. Skating parties at Roller Haven were scheduled for Jan. 8, March 5 and April 29.

Roger Zimmerman, the new principal, introduced the school's teaching corps: Mrs. Sue Justisen, kindergarten; Mrs. Linda Hyer, first grade; Mrs. Debbie Taylor, second grade; Mrs. Nancy Johnson, third grade; Mrs. Sue Stewart, fourth grade; Charlers Roark, fifth grade; Mrs. Martha Sollars, sixth grade; Joe Faris, seventh grade; Miss Karen Shook, music; Mrs. Mary Watts, remedial reading; Mrs. Norilee Zimmerman, teacher's aide, and Mrs. Betty Bakenhester, secretary. Principal Zimmerman also teaches the eighth grade.

140 participate in South Side prayer breakfast

A lighted candle symbolized "we are lights for Jesus" during the meditation at the weekly prayer breakfast Tuesday in the South Side Church of Christ. The meditation was led by the pastor, the Rev. Charles J. Richmond, for 140 students and teachers.

Karen Warner and Cindy VanMeter, WSHS juniors, led the group singing, and 12 MTHS cheerleaders sang "Kum Ba Yah." The devotional on "Let's Go Fishing" was presented by Carmen Frogale, of the WJHS faculty, and Maurice Pfeifer, WSHS head football coach, closed the session with a prayer.

The prayer breakfasts, made possible by donations by individuals, organizations, business firms and church groups, are open to all high school students, grades 9 through 12, in the community. The purpose, said the Rev. Mr. Richmond, is to "help young people in the development of their spiritual lives."

School cafeteria training program to open Thursday

School food service personnel of Washington C.H. and the Miami Trace school systems will attend a three-session training program this month, aimed at increasing the work and management efficiency of the school lunch programs.

The first session will be from 3 to 5 p.m. Thursday, at Chaffin Elementary School. Miss Karen Walters, school food service consultant of the Ohio State University will discuss "How To Improve Nutrition through the School Food service, "How to Make Food Appe-teasing" and "How to Increase Participation in the School Lunch Program".

Miss Hermance will instruct the group the next Thursday evening, Oct. 11, on "Food Safety" and "Keeping the Lid on Food Costs". This second session will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Washington Junior High cafeteria.

One of the highlights of the third session, Oct. 18, will be a work efficiency demonstration by James Marshall, school food service consultant for the Ohio Department of Education. This final session, starting, 3 p.m. at Washington Senior High, will close with a recognition dinner for participants in the workshop. The menu will include ideas using soy products being developed by food supply companies.

Certificates from Ohio State University and the Ohio Department of Education will be presented to those completing the course, planned by school lunch supervisors Mrs. Elizabeth Knedler, Mrs. Becky Cordes and Mrs. Phyrne Coil,,and by Mrs. Gladys Kirk and Miss Hermance of the Ohio Extension Service. Anyone interested is welcome to attend.

Van Wert auto plant accord set

VAN WERT, Ohio (AP)—Officials of United Auto Workers and Chrysler Corporation's Amplex plant have reached tentative agreement on a new contract, averting a strike set for 10 a.m. today.

Agreement came at 4:30 a.m. Tuesday, after more than 15 straight hours of bargaining.

Ron Mefferd said a major part of the new agreement will be termination of seven-day operation of the plant's ferride division.

Couldn't move home so he moved the hole

LONDON (AP) — Robert Auld, 35-year-old lawyer, couldn't move his home out of the line of the 12th hole of the public golf course at Moor Park, near London.

So the local council have agreed to close the hole until it is realigned so that golfers tee off in the opposite direction.

Since Auld, his wife and two young children moved into the house a year ago they've been in the front line. When two windows were shattered in five days, Auld threatened to seek an injunction in the courts.

County board OKs sick leave policy

The Fayette County Board of Education Tuesday night adopted an "unused sick leave" resolution for employes upon retirement. The semi-monthly meeting was held at Chaffin Elementary School.

The adoption of the resolution topped a relatively light agenda for board members. The board also took care of personnel matters, entered into an agreement with the Village of Bloomingburg for water service and heard a brief report on the proposed junior high school bond issue at the meeting which lasted just over one hour.

The new policy pertains to payment of unused sick leave upon retirement in accordance with Amended Senate Bill No. 31, effective Aug. 1. In accordance with the new state legislation, the board will pay 25 per cent of an employe's unused sick leave upon retirement. The maximum payment will not exceed 25 per cent of 120 days of accumulated sick leave.

The board clerk will determine the daily rate of payment by dividing the actual number of days of service under the employe's contract into the annual salary. The motion was approved unanimously.

THE BOARD accepted a request for retirement submitted by Mrs. Nancy Melton, a third grade teacher at Wayne School in Good Hope. Mrs. Melton, who has spent 36 years in the teaching profession, was employed for the past 20 years in the Miami Trace School District. She taught at Madison Mills for seven years and the past 13 years at Good Hope.

In other employment matters, the board added six teachers to the substitute list. They were Mrs. Ronald Lett, tutoring; Mrs. Elaine Kunz, elementary teacher, and educational aides Mrs. Meredith Price, Mrs. Jane Campbell, Mrs. Debbie Hagerty and Mrs. Jirdena Waddle.

Board members accepted the resignation of Kenneth Summers, of Milledgeville, as a school bus driver, but placed Summers on the substitute list. Mrs. Betty Cooper was employed as a full-time bus driver in the Madison Mills area. The board also granted Superintendent Guy M. Foster authority to employ a high school librarian for the first semester.

Along the same lines, the board established a substitute pay scale for educational aides at $14 per day.

SUPERINTENDENT FOSTER reported that a three-page fact sheet designed to answer specific questions concerning the proposed junior high school bond issue which will appear on the November ballot has been completed.

Board president Kenneth Payton and Foster will meet with the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors Thursday, Oct. 11, to seek an endorsement from that group for the school bond issue.

The board entered into an agreement with officials of the Village of Bloomingburg for water service at Bloomingburg Elementary School. Superintendent Steve Yambor said an old contract, signed in 1957, provided water service for $750 per year and the village officials wanted a new contract at $1,000 per year. Board members agreed to have the village install a water meter at the school and be charged on a commercial rate. The meter installation will cost $125 and the commercial rate will be $1.35 per 1,000 gallons of water used.

IN OTHER matters:

The board approved an observational checklist to be used as an appraisal form by principals at the recommendation of elementary coordinator Mrs. June Slaughter. Three written appraisals are expected per year;

Made an adjustment in travel expenses for a woman who transports two handicapped children to Columbus daily. The rate was set at 20 cents per mile; Included Mrs. Leslie Jones, the district's speech and hearing therapist, under the single insurance coverage plan which the board provides for its employes.

FIRE PREVENTION — Billie Wilson, chairman of the Washington C.H. City Council, has designated the week of Oct. 7-13 as Fire Prevention Week here. Washington C.H. Fire Department has scheduled a fire extinguisher demonstration at 2:30 p.m. Thursday in the back parking lot of the hospital. The public is invited.

Rob Rodenfels manages paper

HILLSBORO — Robert A. (Rob) Rodenfels, formerly associated with The Record-Herald's circulation and advertising departments, has been named the new manager of the Hillsboro Publishing Co. and its new daily, the Press-Gazette.

Rodenfels, the 26-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rodenfels, 215 Highland Ave., succeeds H.E. Barnes in the managerial capacity, but Barnes will remain as publisher of the Press-Gazette.

Rodenfels is a 1965 graduate of Washington High School and attended Purdue University. He spent four years in the U.S. Air Force as a weather observer. He, his wife, Kathy, and daughter, Angie, will reside at 106 Jan Lynn Lane, Hillsboro.

Girl is bitten by rabid bat

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— A 15-year-old West Side girl began a series of rabies treatment shots this week after health authorities confirmed she was bitten by a rabid bat that flew into her bedroom window last week.

Youngstown city health officials said the disease was confirmed by testing at the state Health Department in Columbus Tuesday. The city said it was Youngstown's first human case of rabies in 20 years.

The girl was reported in "stable condition," and the health officials said the outlook was favorable.

The city said the girl was sleeping when the bat flew into her bedroom last Wednesday. Other family members caught the bat in the room and killed it by stamping on it.

Five write-ins file petitions; deadline nears

Five persons, three seeking seats on the Bloomingburg Council, have filed write-in petitions with the Fayette County Board of Elections.

David R. Johnson, Daniel H. Thompson and Michael Simpson, all of Bloomingburg, have declared themselves as write-in candidates for the Bloomingburg Council at the Nov. 6 election.

Marion F. Stockwell, Rt. 3, Washington C.H., has declared himself as a write-in candidate for a seat on the Fayette County Board of Education, and Donald Hendricks, Rt. 3, Washington C. H., is a write-in candidate for a seat on Octa Village Council.

Mrs. Peggy Langen, deputy director of elections, said prospective write-in candidates have until 4 p.m. Oct. 18 to file petitions at the board office.

Man admits to holdup; brother free

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A 21-year-old Cleveland man who confessed to a rapid transit train robbery after his 17-yearold brother was convicted of the crime has been sentenced to 11-28 years.

Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court Judge David T. Matia sentenced Nathan Bozeman Tuesday after Bozeman pleaded guilty to five counts of armed robbery, two counts of firearm possession, assault with intent to rob and aggravated assault.

An 18-year-old youth is scheduled for a pretrial hearing on similar charges before Juvenile Court Judge John F. Corrigan.

Bozeman and the other youth confessed after Bozeman's brother, Ezra, and another 17- year-old were convicted of the robbery by a jury and sentenced to the reformatory. The two youths since have been released on bond, pending a new trial.

Matia said the older Bozeman apologized to court officials Tuesday for not coming forward sooner.

"It was really a remarkable performance by him," the judge said. "He was truly contrite."

Health outlays top $75 million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Public Welfare paid $75,765,851 in health care claims during the first quarter of fiscal year 1974, Welfare Director Charles W. Bates said today.

Bates said the money went out for 3,143,758 claims submitted by medical vendors for health care provided to recipients of the crippled children and aged, blind, disabled and dependent children program.

Hospitals have received the biggest chunk of the money for the three months, $31.4 million, Bates said.
